hi boss, the house looks great, everything is coming together in a hurry. the hardwood floors are finished, the fireplace is finished as well as the cabinets and counters in the kitchen. the dishwasher and the refrigerator are in place as is the kitchen sink. the tile and linoleum will be put in today. the shower door is too small and is being returned. you and cas and lily are gonna love it. spoke to brookstone and the store where we bought the chair has closed, got another store on conneticutt ave. and tracked the chair down, seems they are back ordered and the chair will be built and delivered near the end of march. what can i say, nothing ever seems to go just right. the weather is still bad, warm and raining. have a good day, bob
