Good day, and welcome to the DOJ Briefing for U.S. House of Representatives. All participants will be in a listen-only mode. Should you need assistance, please signal a conference specialist by pressing star, then zero. After today's presentation, there will be an opportunity to ask questions. To ask a question, you may press star, then one on a touchtone phone. To withdraw your question, please press star, then two. Please note this event is being recorded. I would like now to turn the conference over to Chad Thorley from the Department of Justice. Please go ahead.

Chad Thorley

Good morning, everyone. Again, my name is Chad Thorley from the Department of Justice, and I thank you for joining today's call. For the next hour, we are also joined by Assistant Director Jill Sanborn from the FBI's Counterterrorism Division, Assistant Director in Charge Steve D'Antuono from the FBI's Washington Field Office, and Michael Sherwin, Acting U.S. Attorney, and Ken Cole, Principal Assistant U.S. Attorney from the U.S. Attorney's Office for the District of Columbia, who will be providing a briefing on the events at the Capitol on January 6th, and investigative and law enforcement actions taken as a result.

As you are aware, this is a very fluid situation, with many moving parts, and new information is consistently being gathered and analyzed. At the conclusion of the briefer's remarks, members will be able to ask questions. The moderator will call on those wishing to ask questions at that time. I will now turn it over to Assistant Director Jill Sanborn from the FBI's Counterterrorism Division, who will begin the briefing.

Jill Sanborn

Chad, do you have me?

Chad Thorley

Yes, Jill.

Jill Sanborn

Good morning. Thank you for the opportunity to speak with you all today. It's always an honor to speak with members of the Hill. For many of you that don't know, I actually started my public service as a senate page in 1987. I'll start my briefing by noting that the content of my remarks are unclassified but law enforcement sensitive, so we ask that you utilize caution when discussing any of the following information outside of this call.

We know you have a number of questions and concerns, and rightly so, about the events of January 6th. We hope that during our time together today, we will be able to answer some of those questions and provide you with more insights into the FBI's posture leading up to January 6th, our whole-of-FBI response, and investigation into the siege on the Capitol complex, the overall threat picture we are tracking leading up to the inaugural activities, to include a few potential flash points for violence, and areas of heightened interest we will be closely following in the coming weeks, and lastly, our operational and investigative posture in the days and weeks ahead as we prepare for inauguration on January 20th.

So the posture ahead of the electoral certification. I know you are interested in our preparation and posture leading up to the events on January 6th, so I'll start there, with both an overview of the standard investigative steps we take ahead of events like these, and with notes regarding specific actions taken to prepare for the electoral certification and upcoming presidential inauguration.

Leading up to major large-scale events, such as the State of Union, the Super Bowl, and presidential elections, the FBI reviews potential threats to public safety, and follows all leads and threat information to the point of mitigation or conclusion. Among the standard comprehensive investigative activities, we perform ahead of events of this nature, we analyze intelligence to proactively inform and prepare our partners at the federal, state, and local levels for potential threats of violence and criminal activity. Our goal is to identify any potential threats to these large-scale events and mitigate them before they become violent acts and federal crimes.

To assist our partners in mitigating potential threats to the electoral certification on January 6th, 2021, and on the inauguration on January 20th, 2021, specifically, the FBI's Counterterrorism Division (b)(7)(E) per FBI [REDACTED]

Leading up to January 6th, we were (b)(6), (b)(7)(A), (b)(7)(C), (b)(7)(E) per FBI [REDACTED]

We share and disseminate intelligence through the presence of task force officers on our joint terrorism task forces. Other government agency employees embedded throughout the (INAUDIBLE) community are robust relationships across the organizations. Further, the FBI holds quarterly and sometimes DHS executive board meetings to ensure there is complete transparency in coordination with our partners. The FBI and Washington field in particular also work closely with partners such as U.S. Capitol Police, which has multiple officers on the Washington field office terrorism and criminal task forces, and has senior U.S. Capitol representation on our National Joint Terrorism Task Force.

In addition to our day-to-day sharing of operational information, one of the methods for formally disseminating intelligence assessments is the Joint Intelligence Bulletin, a product we co-author with the Department of Homeland Security, and/or the National Counterterrorism Center. This product serves as a method for notifying our partners of significant disruptions, but also is used to notify state and local law enforcement of potential trends we are seeing in threat reporting and criminal activity.

U.S. Department of Justice
Tuesday, January 12, 2021, 11:30 AM Eastern

During the summer of 2020, we observed activity that led us to assess there was potential for increased violent extremist activity at lawful protests taking place in communities across the United States. To that end, in June of 2020, we issued two separate Joint Intelligence Bulletins, highlighting the potential for increased violent extremist activity. One of these bulletins advised our partners to remain vigilant in light of the persistent threat posed by domestic violent extremists and their unpredictable target selection, in order to effectively detect, prevent, preempt, and respond to incidents.

(b)(7)(E) per FBI

When it became clear that some individuals had breached the Capitol grounds and were entering the U.S. Capitol, the U.S. Capitol Police requested assistance, and (b)(7)(E) per FBI

Along with our partners, the FBI surged and continues to dedicate substantial resources to ensure the safety and security of the Capitol. To identify those individuals involved in the breach and disruption of congressional activities, and to hold accountable those responsible for the acts of that day.

U.S. Department of Justice
Tuesday, January 12, 2021, 11:30 AM Eastern

So, a little bit about the current strategy and operations. I'll move into talking about two major lines of efforts we are currently tracking. We're still actively and aggressively tracking the investigation into the siege at the U.S. Capitol on Wednesday, January 6th. We're also tracking potential upcoming threats or violent activity leading up to the inauguration. I'll start with our investigation into the siege of the Capitol complex.

(b)(7)(A), (b)(7)(E) per FBI

As of today, the FBI continues to exploit over 60,000 digital media tips received from the public. Also, as of today, we have received more than 8,000 leads via our National Threat Operations Center, which we continue to process and investigate (b)(7)(A), (b)(7)(E) per FBI

[REDACTED] [REDACTED] [REDACTED] [REDACTED] The FBI has also issued eight Wanted posters for approximately 72 individuals in the Capitol who were captured on camera. As I speak, the investigation is ongoing, and we are aggressively working to identify those involved, their motivations, and whether any individuals or group planned and organized the violent and criminal activity.

To date, the Department of Justice has charged more than 20 individuals leading up to and since the protest at the Capitol, and is currently--and the FBI currently has more than [REDACTED] pending criminal complaints awaiting DOJ approval. I want to highlight just a few of those for you. (b)(6), (b)(7)(A), (b)(7)(C), (b)(7)(E) per FBI

[REDACTED] Richard Barnett, who was identified through social media when he provided an interview to the press wherein he admitted to being in the U.S. Capitol building on January 6th, 2021, and specifically, inside Nancy Pelosi's office, and taking official correspondence from her desk.

(b)(6), (b)(7)(A), (b)(7)(C) per FBI

[REDACTED] Jacob Anthony Chancilly was charged with knowingly entering or remaining in a restricted building on the grounds without logged authority, and with violent entry and disorderly conduct on Capitol grounds. He was taken into custody on January

9th. It is alleged that Chancily was identified as the man seen in social media coverage who entered the complex building dressed in horns, a bear skin headdress, and carrying a spear.

Local arrests. We are currently tracking slightly more than a hundred arrests by Washington's Metro PD and U.S. Capitol Police. As of particular significance i (b)(7)(E) per FBI [REDACTED]

(b)(3), (b)(7)(E) per FBI [REDACTED]

So now that I've talked a little bit about the general threat posed by violent extremist actors to the national capital region--and again, I will emphasize that we're (b)(7)(E) per FBI [REDACTED], I want to speak briefly about some potential flash points for violence that we are monitoring at this time. We remain concerned about the potential for violence at multiple protests and rallies planned at the U.S. capital, here in

U.S. Department of Justice
Tuesday, January 12, 2021, 11:30 AM Eastern

Washington DC, and potentially at state capitals across the country, starting as early as 16 January and through at least 20 January.

This could bring armed individuals within close proximity to government buildings and officials across the United States. (b)(7)(E) per FBI

Additional threats related to the Capitol siege and ongoing threats. Now I'll move into a discussion about a few additional threats related to the siege on the Capitol complex and some ongoing events. We are aware of some individuals involved in the breach on the Capitol complex stole items from members' offices, to include personally-identifying addresses and information. For example, reporting indicates that personal phone number of one member of Congress was obtained during the breach and later released online.

We are working closely with our Washington field office and U.S. Capitol Police t (b)(7)(E) per FBI

(b)(7)(E) per FBI

So, a little bit about our operational posture looking ahead. So, what are we doing about this? In addition to (b)(7)(E) per FBI [REDACTED] that I mentioned earlier, it's important for you to know that we have been working over the last month to prepare for any and all threats to the inaugural activities. As I mentioned previously, (b)(7)(E) per FBI

As I also mentioned, the joint multiagency command post activated on the fifth will continue through the inauguration and in the days that follow. While we also host a daily data call to all field offices through a Preventing Violence and Criminal Activity Survey, which asks our field offices to report significant investigative updates and threat reporting from their areas of responsibility.

(b)(7)(E) per FBI

All of our field offices will have command posts active in their areas of responsibility by January 15th. And we will remain closely linked up with our federal, state, and local private sector partners to mitigate any and all potential threats leading up to the 59th Presidential Inauguration that may come in from those partners. In this name, we are hosting a call with all state and local law enforcement, tomorrow, January 13th.

Michael Sherwin

Hello, everyone. This is Michael R. Sherwin, the Acting U.S. Attorney in DC. I think it's my turn here. I'll be relatively brief so we have time for questions, of course. So, let me just start off with a few things I just want to highlight for you ladies and gentlemen. So, first of all, as we sit here

U.S. Department of Justice
Tuesday, January 12, 2021, 11:30 AM Eastern

right now, in conjunction with the WFO, we've (b)(7)(A), (b)(7)(E) per FBI
[REDACTED]

So, again, (b)(7)(A), (b)(7)(E) per FBI
[REDACTED]

So, how are we doing that? (b)(7)(A), (b)(7)(E) per FBI
[REDACTED]

are looking at all the local charges. For example, some of the individuals outside of the Capitol that may have had firearms, ammunition, high-capacity magazines. So the whole gamut of cases are being looked at by the office, and the whole gamut of cases are being charged. We're going at a very fast pace, and again, I anticipate hundreds of cases charged within the next couple weeks.

We will now begin the question-and-answer session. To ask a question, you may press star then one on your touchtone phone. If you are using a speakerphone, please pick up your handset before pressing the keys. If at any time your question has been addressed and you would like to withdraw your question, please press star then two. Please limit your inquiries to one question. If you have additional questions, you may rejoin the question queue by again pressing star, then one. At this time, we will pause momentarily to assemble our roster. Our first question comes from Carolyn Maloney with Oversight and Reform. Please go ahead.

Carolyn Maloney

First, I want to thank all of you and all of my colleagues that are on the phone. You mentioned all of the planning protests that you're tracking. My question is, what step is the FBI taking-- hello? Can you hear me? Hello?

Operator

Yes, we're able to hear you. Please continue with your question--.

Carolyn Maloney

--Okay. Okay, my question is, what are the steps that the FBI is taking to disrupt these armed gatherings that you're tracking, aimed at the White House and all 50 state capitals? And the Russian connection to Parler that is being alleged, or the communication system that was taken down by Twitter?

Steve D'Antuono

This is the Assistant Director in Charge Steve D'Antuono. So (INAUDIBLE)—

U.S. Department of Justice

Steve D'Antuono

Alright, thank you so much. So, again, ma'am, this is Steve D'Antuono. I'm the Assistant Director in Charge for the Washington field office here in the district, off of the FBI. So, just to answer your first question, like we always do, we're (b)(7)(E) per FBI [REDACTED]

So, that's what we're actively doing. We're (b)(7)(E) per FBI [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] To answer your question about the--can you repeat the question for the second part with the--I think you said the Russia involvement in the Parler--?

Carolyn Maloney

--The Parler question, the communication system that Twitter took off the internet, claiming it was dangerous. They're alleged--people on the internet and others saying that there's a Russian connection. Have you seen anything like that? And what else do you know about Parler, which played such a prominent role in helping to organize the disruptions?

Steve D'Antuono

So, ma'am, I can tell you this, we are (b)(3), (b)(7)(E) per FBI [REDACTED]

Operator

Our next question will come from Congressman Matt Cartwright with Appropriations. Please go ahead.

Matt Cartwright

Thank you. Can you hear me?

Steve D'Antuono

Yes, sir.

Matt Cartwright

Okay. This is for Assistant Director Jill Sanborn, and also, Michael Sherwin. Thank you both and thank you all for being on this call. My question is about the entering restricted areas, section 1752 prosecutions. I walked to the Capitol on January 6th, and I saw that there were cornered off areas that people were breaking through. So, there was an awful lot of people who didn't go inside the Capitol, but were clearly in something that was supposed to be a restricted area. I would--I hope we are planning to prosecute those people too as a deterrent for future events like this.

Michael Sherwin

Yeah--yes, sir. This is Michael Sherwin, and you raised a great point. We are doing that, we are charging persons with unauthorized access that were not only in the Capitol, sir, but also outside. And I'm sorry I didn't clarify that on the front end, sir.

Steve D'Antuono

And sir, for AD Sanborn, we're having a problem with the connection, getting them back up. So, I can answer for the FBI for the same question. We are working with our partners--our state and local partners in this investigation and the U.S. Attorney's Office. We're pouring through all the video, every single angle that we possibly can get and every single video that we can get from all across the Capitol area. I have teams working on that 24/7, identifying individuals.

And then we put out--you've seen the Wanted posters--I hope you've seen the Wanted posters, I hope you see the proactive social media that we've put out there to the American public, and they have stepped forward. I'm going to tell you; I think AD Sanborn had a very low figure for the tips. I think she either said 16, or I couldn't hear, maybe she said 60,000. We have over 100,000 social media tips to the FBI, from the American people. We are pouring through that, and we are--with Mike and his office, we're aggressively going to prosecute everyone that we possibly can.

Operator

Our next question will come from Adam Schiff. Congressman, please go ahead.

Adam Schiff

Thank you very much, I appreciate all your work on this. I really wanted to ask you for your sense at this point of what went wrong? And I'm looking at this from an intelligence point of view, it doesn't seem like it requires any great sleuthing to have foreseen that the possibility of this assault on the Capitol. Can you share with us what intelligence that the Bureau shared with Capitol Police, or DC police? Was this a situation where we didn't have the intelligence we should, or we had the intelligence but didn't share it, or we shared it and law enforcement agencies didn't act on it? How do you assess what went wrong here?

Steve D'Antuono

So, sir, the--so this is Steve D'Antuono, the Assistant Director for the Washington field office. So, in the weeks leading up to the sixth, as I'm referring it to, you know, we worked internally with every field office to gather intelligence for any threats that were coming through the district, and for the events that we were seeing as people--so the aspirational as well as operational rhetoric and (b)(7)(E) per FBI [REDACTED]. We tracked a lead down, with our partners, of course, 56 field offices, that may have developed potential violence during that rally. We are in constant sharing mode with our partners, state and local.

We held several meetings well up before the sixth. And you also know as well that there were also planned protests within the district a few weekends prior to. So, all this stuff was going on; it was a constant flow of information sharing back and forth. We shared with our partners, they shared with us (b)(7)(E) per FBI [REDACTED], and we're sharing that information with everyone. We had a lot of different types of meetings and such, so, that stuff was going on. And like I said, to the last question (b)(7)(E) per FBI

Operator

Our next question will come from Stephen Lynch with Oversight and Subnational Security. Please go ahead. I'm sorry, Stephen, your line might be muted—

Stephen Lynch

—I'm sorry, can you hear me?

Operator

We can hear you. Please proceed with your question.

Stephen Lynch

Okay. Alright, thank you. So, our Subcommittee on National Security has been involved in a number of the investigations of breaches at the White House, both during the Trump administration and also a few during the Obama administration, as well as some of the breaches at our embassies overseas, including the station at Benghazi and Sena'a in Yemen. One of the things I'm worried about here is that we found that the videotape (b)(7)(E)

And I'm just concerned that we need to make sure that we get custody of the tapes that had eyes on this whole protest.

(b)(7)(E) per FBI

So, if we really—I would just encourage—and I know Chairwoman Maloney's on the call, I just heard from her, but we should issue a subpoena to those other institutions that had eyes on this, to make sure we get custody of their videotape sequences. And we can—I know we have a lot on social media, but I'm very concerned about losing the videotape that has been acquired thus far by those systems.

(b)(7)(E) per FBI

. Thank you, I yield back.

Steve D'Antuono

So, sir, this is Steve D'Antuono, again, AD to WFO. So, we are actively working with our partners (b)(7)(E) per FBI

FBI evidentiary systems. So, my (INAUDIBLE) agents and everyone else I have working these things can review that for not only criminal but also for intelligence value as well leading up to this next couple days. Hope that answers your question.

Operator

Our next question comes from—

Steve D'Antuono

(b)(7)(E) per FBI

Stephen Lynch

Right.

Operator

Our next question will come from Rodney Davis with House Administration. Please go ahead.

Rodney Davis

Hey, everyone. Thanks for the briefing. With the planned vote on impeachment happening tomorrow, are you noticing an uptick in any of activity in the security problems that you've just mentioned before? And do you believe that the House campus has been hardened enough with one complete set of fencing around the House campus, while the construction of the second set around the entire office campus is still being constructed?

Steve D'Antuono

So, I believe as my Director--Director Wray has spoken to some of your leadership the other day, you know, he said that the Capitol is probably the hardest target in the country right now. You know, that's why we're concerned about where we're--spill over into other states and such. We're in cooperation with the Secret Service. I think you know that NSFB, that they have primary authority over, right, once the current gets turned on. It's supposed to be turned on; my understanding is tomorrow.

So, that's really got hardened, not just the Capitol but the hardened--sorry, I'm a Rhode Islander so I have an accent, hardened the overall structure of the district, right? So, we always had great cooperation with the Secret Service with that. But also, to answer your question about planning upon the physical security. As our Director I think also said to the leaders as well, you know, our role in federal--for the FBI is the law enforcement of (INAUDIBLE) agency, and it's not like physical security or crowd control, so we are not the experts in determining if the Capitol was hardened enough.

Operator

Our next question will come from Denny Thompson with the FBI. Please go ahead.

Denny Thompson

It's Denny Thompson with the Homeland Security Committee. So, I'd like to know what kind of intelligence did you share with the Capitol Police? And I heard the presentation. But I want to know, did your intelligence say that these people were coming to the Capitol, had the potential for violence, or they talked about it? And I'm just kind of interested in what happened. It just looked--from somebody who was in the Capitol at the time, that the crowd was just woefully too big for the security personnel there.

I'm just trying to see if your intelligence said that that was a potential for violent crowd there. And I guess the last thing is, you know, I'm from Mississippi. And when I was a young kid, and every time there was a demonstration, in my area, there was always somebody there to arrest us. I'm just trying to figure out, were you part of the decision-making not to arrest anybody who had breached the Capitol, or was that a decision made by the Capitol Police?

Michael Sherwin

You know, I think AD Sanborn's back on the line, I believe. I think we've reaffirmed the connection with her. Jill, are you there? Do you want to take that?

Jill Sanborn

Do you guys have me?

Michael Sherwin

Yep.

Jill Sanborn

Alright. I'm having to do the star one as well, so there's no way--it's not keeping me on as a speaker, so I apologize to all of you on the line. I'll take the first question first on what did we share. It's a great question, and I tried to get to it a little bit in the presentation. Despite the information that we were seeing, whether it was aspirational or intelligence, we were constantly, via the JTTF construct, trying to flag information that we thought would be valuable to our partners. And so again, our biggest challenge is really trying to find out and ferret that intentional (b)(7)(E) per FBI [REDACTED]

(b)(7)(E) per FBI [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

And so, through the JTTF construct, we were constantly sharing that kind of information, both at Washington field and then here in our command post. I don't have much to add to the second question, and Steve might have more, but I do not believe that we were involved at all in decisions at the time of who to arrest. And keep in mind that the FBI mission is really dual-hatted, right? Like our role is to protect people's right to do just what you said, sir, which is assemble and have their free speech and peaceful assembly. So, we take that part of our mission very seriously as well. But Steve, feel free to chime in.

Steve D'Antuono

Yeah. And sir, this is Steve D'Antuono, again. So, we weren't involved with any decisions for arrest or anything like that with Capitol Police. That's not our role. Our role in this was a support role to them. Once we were asked for assistance, within I believe (b)(7)(E) per FBI [REDACTED]

(b)(7)(E) per FBI
[REDACTED]

So--and then, after that, we had [REDACTED] (b)(7)(E) per FBI

[REDACTED] But we did not have a role in decision-making of arrests. Also, you have to realize, too, that there are work permits pulled for protests. And there was a lot of protests being planned which we were aware of, but under protected First Amendment rights, it was peaceful protests that were being planned. So those were all planned for the Capitol grounds, so people were going there. And then, obviously, you know what happened, so I'm not going to speculate.

Operator

This concludes our question-and-answer session, which also concludes our conference for today. Thank you for attending today's presentation. You may now disconnect.

All –

As you are aware, FBI and USAO conducted briefs for FBI/DOJ oversight committee leadership (House and Senate) today. Both calls went well and concluded with Q&A. General themes were as follows:

Prevention of Future Actions: The Members' primary concern was future criminal activity. They had questions about the safety of the Capitol now, whether there was any uptick in threats related to impeachment, (b)(7)(E) per FBI [REDACTED] and specifically asked the Department publicize the potential criminal sentences as a method of deterrence. A few expressed concern that (b)(7)(E) per FBI [REDACTED]

Intelligence Failure / Capitol Police Failure: Members wanted to know whether the FBI had the intelligence in advance of the attack on the Capitol, (b)(7)(A), (b)(7)(E) per FBI, and whether they shared the intelligence with the Capitol Police. One Member asked why no arrests were made on January 6th. Upon being specifically asked, FBI stated all issues will be examined for investigation and prosecution and including (b)(7)(A), (b)(7)(E) per FBI [REDACTED]

Miscellaneous Investigative topics: Members did not question the aggressiveness or pace of investigations and prosecutions but had a few questions including (b)(7)(E) per FBI [REDACTED]

Additionally, this afternoon's brief to Senate Members regarding the upcoming inauguration included briefs from USSS and FBI (DD Bowdich). Q&A themes included:

Drones: Several members asked what was being done to keep the Capitol and inauguration attendees safe from drones and whether law enforcement has the capacity and capability to intercept any drones that may be detected.

Foreign Amplification of Threats: Members asked whether threatening messages from US-based groups targeting the Capitol or inauguration were being amplified by foreign actors and if so, what was being done to track and disrupt such action.

Law Enforcement Authorities: Several members asked whether both law enforcement agencies had been granted all the necessary authorities to be able to respond to threat against the Capitol and the inauguration in a timely manner.

Thank you.

Plus Kristina.

Kristina, please send this group the releases at least 15 minutes prior to sending to the media. Longer lead time if possible. Please also give this group a heads up on what to expect today release wise and what time to expect it so they can be ready to provide to the Hill expeditiously.

I'll also send out a schedule of expected information releases to supplement this once I lock down some things.

OLA, please do the same regarding your events and timing.

My understanding is that it is closed to media and by phone (I'll advise if I hear differently) but with such a large numbers of attendees, we can assume it will be functionally open. That said, these briefings are Inauguration-focused so I don't think it is critical to move the press call. It would be helpful to coordinate with your office as we did last time to get the release and charging documents out to the Hill a few minutes before they hit the street.

Will this briefing be open or closed? Televised?

We were planning a press call at 3 to brief on new cases. Would it be helpful to move that up in the day (if operationally possible) ahead of our Hill briefings?

Good morning,

The Joint Congressional Committee on Inaugural Ceremonies (JCCIC) contacted USSS and insisted on an interagency all-member briefing on Inauguration security. USSS agreed (on behalf of all agencies) to the briefing for the Senate today (3pm - 4pm ET) and House on Wed (TBD) at the Unclassified level. Agencies will provide a five minute overview of their roles and preparation for the Inauguration. Q&A to follow.

Agency Briefers:

USSS – NSSE Lead, Coordination

FBI – NSSE Lead, Intelligence + Crisis Response

FEMA – NSSE Lead, Consequence Management

DoD – Recommended is National Guard Bureau

USCP – Inaugural Security Plans

FBI feels they must participate given the other agency's participation. DD Bowdich +1 will act as the FBI briefers but they are scrambling given the briefings on the events of January 6 today.

An additional set of inquiries from Senate CJS Minority staff, now shifting toward interactions with Capitol Hill Police:

Did the Capitol Police reach out to DOJ for any assistance before January 6 (possibility of backup if needed, advance intel, etc)? Did DOJ offer any assistance before Wednesday to Capitol Police (as in, there may be a large protest coming, let us know what you need)?

Regarding yesterday, did Capitol Police reach out directly to DOJ for assistance when the situation started spiraling out of control and if so, approximately when? If not, was it MPD or another LEA that called DOJ components for backup?

Thanks Chris. I think our emails crossed. OLA has reached out to FBI on this. As of this morning, FBI OCA represented that they spoke yesterday afternoon as events unfolded with staff for McCarthy, Pelosi, and McConnell. Those conversations were primarily about the FBI response in the moment i.e., the number of FBI personnel on the Hill (footage of whom was broadcast) and their limited supporting role. I was told that FBI is not doing ongoing briefings today. Happy to provide additional details by phone if that would be helpful.

So is it that no one is coordinating at Main? Or that no one wants to give us the full information from Main?

Statement “Yesterday, our Nation watched in disbelief as a mob breached the Capitol Building and required federal and local law enforcement to help restore order. The Department of Justice is committed to ensuring that those responsible for this attack on our Government and the rule of law face the full consequences of their actions under the law. Our criminal prosecutors have been working throughout the night with special agents and investigators from the U.S. Capitol Police, FBI, ATF, Metropolitan Police Department and the public to gather the evidence, identify perpetrators, and charge federal crimes where warranted. Some participants in yesterday’s violence will be charged today, and we will continue to methodically assess evidence, charge crimes and make arrests in the coming days and weeks to ensure that those responsible are held accountable under the law.”

Per the latest NDAA, federal law enforcement officers responding to “civil disturbances” must wear visible identification including the insignia of their agencies – are the uniforms for BOP COs coming to DC in compliance with this regulation?

Were other agents and deputies flown in (like USM b(E)) or are these all local DOJ LEOs? Who is in charge of these teams? One of my colleagues on another committee indicated that while MPD has primary responsibility, that DOJ/FBI has first chair for assistance/aid to local LE and DHS has first chair for assistance with protection of federal property.

Doesn't the FBI have a command post set up as well? Are any DOJ air assets being used?

Sir,

Here is where we are now...

Capitol Building: Order is being restored inside the Capitol Building. Senate and House members are sheltering in place until they can be evacuated to (b)(7)(E). VP Pence is reportedly still in the building. Once the building has been cleared, we are waiting to hear if Congress will reconvene. Outside (b)(7)(E) National Guard personnel have arrived at the grounds and are working with the U.S. Park Police and MPD to establish a perimeter. MPD is actively enforcing the 6pm curfew by ushering folks home and reminding them of imminent metro closures (8pm); as of yet, no arrests have been made for curfew violations. Multiple arrests have been made over the past twenty-four hours for assaults and illegal possession of firearms. It has been confirmed that one female civilian was shot and killed by Capitol Police and one male died of a heart attack inside. Other than minor injuries, law enforcement personnel are otherwise safe.

Resources: Full activation of the DC guard and assistance from the Maryland and Virginia guard has been requested we anticipate that several hundred more troops will arrive shortly. Additional resources across the USG (e.g., tactical response teams) are on standby; DEA is evaluating (b)(5) per DEA [REDACTED].

Investigation and Prosecution: FBI will be (b)(7)(E) per FBI [REDACTED]

DOJ: CTS is working with DDCI and (b)(7)(E) per FBI [REDACTED]

Summary of activity in state capitals:

Kansas: Local news reported that people have breached the statehouse. The United States Attorney has confirmed to CTS that all state and federal facilities are safe. While small protests are going on, they have been peaceful and there has not been any breach.

Georgia: There have been news reports of an evacuation of the State Capitol. CTS has made contact with the United States Attorney's Office. The USAO has reported that the Capitol was evacuated as a precautionary measure. They are reporting small peaceful protests only.

Utah: The State Capitol building staff has reportedly evacuated. CTS has reached out to the office without response. However, news reports indicate that there was no evacuation but instead workers at the State Capitol were given an opportunity for early release and to finish their workday at home.

New Mexico: The New Mexico statehouse has reportedly been evacuated due to a gathering outside. CTS has reached out to the office, which reported a crowd of approximately 300 peaceful protestors. The evacuation was precautionary.

Oregon: There are media reports of violence at the State Capitol and that State Police have declared an unlawful assembly. USAO reports that 250-300 right wing protestors clashed with 50-75 Antifa supporters in front of the Capitol in Salem. State Police and Salem PD declared an unlawful assembly. Antifa left. Protest is now down to about 75 right-wing protestors but no violence or breach reported.

Good afternoon,

Thanks for your inquiry. With respect to Department of Justice efforts, the Department has prepared to respond as necessary and appropriate to ensure that constitutional liberties and public safety are protected. That preparation has included close coordination with local authorities and federal agency partners, such as the Department of Defense. Given the ongoing and evolving nature of the protests this week and the need to protect operational interests, we are not able to provide additional details at this time. We understand your interest and expect to continue to update you should additional information become available.

Subject: Re: Priority RFI on FBI Activities Related to Tomorrow's Joint Session of Congress

Good evening ?Chad and Joanne,

The FBI deferred the Committee's referenced priority request to DOJ, with respect to any communications between the Bureau and the Department of Defense on interagency coordination and support related to tomorrow's Joint Session of Congress. As set forth below, we are particularly interested in recent discussions at the leadership level, if any, between the Bureau and the Department of Defense. Please find a full copy of our request in the below email thread and the FBI's response.

Specifically, in that context and regarding tomorrow's Joint Session of Congress, please also clarify whether and to what extent Department of Defense leadership, including the Acting Secretary or his staff, have sought information from or are coordinating with FBI regarding activities or support related to tomorrow's Joint Session of Congress and/or any expected protests, rallies, or security events in the city. As you can imagine, given heightened public concern about the role of federal law enforcement and the military during this transition period, the Committee wants to ensure that the Bureau is transparent not only about its own preparations and planned activities, but also is not ensnared in any improper or questionable activities or requests for information by any other component of the government, including DOD.

Because the Joint Session of Congress is tomorrow, we respectfully request your response this evening or early tomorrow morning.

Many thanks in advance for your attention to this matter.

Best,
Lucian

The FBI focuses on criminal acts, threats of violence, and violations of federal law, and does not investigate solely First Amendment-protected activity. Rather, the FBI investigates those activities that threaten the safety of our communities and will use authorized methods and available charging instruments when appropriate.

The FBI prides itself on robust partnership and coordination with local, state and federal law enforcement officials. For information related to DoD communications with the Department of Justice (to include the FBI), we defer you to DOJ.

As always, the FBI will continue to advise the committee on threats consistent with our law enforcement and national security obligations.

Subject: [EXTERNAL EMAIL] - Priority RFI on FBI Activities

Related to Tomorrow's Joint Session of Congress

(b)(6), (b)(7)(C) per FBI,

The Committee requests a quick turn update on the FBI's efforts and preparations concerning tomorrow's Joint Session of Congress, including (1) its assessment of the various threats and (2) its overview of interagency coordination and support. In the latter regard, as set forth below, we are particularly interested in recent discussions at the leadership level, if any, between the Bureau and the Department of Defense.

A brief email should address the request, as the event is tomorrow; we also ask that appropriate personnel also stand ready to speak by telephone later today, and to address any follow up questions from Committee staff.

This matter is of high interest to the Committee, especially in light of recent press reporting suggesting that individuals, possibly with links to violent extremist groups, may be involved with violence or criminal activity in the vicinity of the U.S. Capitol or in relation to the event. The Committee believes it essential to ensure that security and law enforcement measures are lawful and appropriate, especially when there may be a nexus to First Amendment activities at National Special Security Events (NSSEs) or those with similar high profile characteristics.

In that context and regarding tomorrow's Joint Session of Congress, please also clarify whether and to what extent Department of Defense leadership, including the Acting Secretary or his staff, have sought information from or are coordinating with FBI regarding activities or support related to tomorrow's Joint Session of Congress and/or any expected protests, rallies, or security events in the city. As you can imagine, given heightened public concern about the role of federal law enforcement and the military during this transition period, the Committee wants to ensure that the Bureau is transparent not only about its own preparations and planned activities, but also is not ensnared in any improper or questionable activities or requests for information by any other component of the government, including DOD.

Because the Joint Session of Congress is tomorrow, we respectfully request your response by COB today. Many thanks in advance for your attention and help.

Best,

Lucian

Sorry – also meant to ask whether or not the officers will be wearing the same un-identifying uniforms that they did in the District last summer? Or if they will have identifying markers saying they are with the Bureau of Prisons?

Can you confirm that the Acting AG approved the request today in a meeting with the Acting SecDef and the SecArmy? If so, the approval has already been given, and the support can go forward all OLC will need to do tomorrow is prepare paperwork that would memorialize the oral approval.
