RECEIVED

INTERIOR DEFENDANTS' MOTION TO DISQUALIFY JOSEPH CHRISTIE AS EXPERT WITNESS FOR PLAINTIFFS AND TO DISQUALIFY DENNIS GINGOLD AS COUNSEL FOR JOSEPH CHRISTIE

Pursuant to Local Rule 7.1, Interior Defendants respectfully move to disqualify Joseph Christie – a retired Department of the Interior employee and a paid consultant to the Special Master in this matter – from testifying as an expert witness on behalf of the plaintiff class. In addition, Interior Defendants move to disqualify Dennis Gingold from serving as Mr. Christie’s counsel in these proceedings.¹

As is more fully explained below, Mr. Christie’s service as a testifying expert for Plaintiffs and as a consulting expert for the Special Master creates at least the appearance of impropriety with regard to Mr. Christie’s, and, derivatively, the Special Master’s, impartiality in this matter. Permitting Mr. Christie to serve as Plaintiffs’ expert would create prejudice and unfairness for Interior Defendants, who have provided confidential and privileged information to the Special Master. To remedy this appearance of impropriety and to preserve the integrity of these proceedings, the Court should disqualify Mr. Christie as an expert for the plaintiff class.

In addition, to avoid (1) the appearance of impropriety created by counsel for Plaintiffs also representing the Court's consultant and (2) the conflict of interest resulting from Mr. Gingold's dual representation of Plaintiffs and of a witness in the proceeding, the Court should disqualify Mr. Gingold from serving as Mr. Christie's counsel.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Mr. Christie is a former employee of the Department of the Interior ("Interior"). This Court described Mr. Christie's tenure at Interior as follows:

Joseph Christie is a former employee of the Department of the Interior . . . whose twenty-eight years of tenure with the Department include services as an agency superintendent where he "[m]anaged trust programs on an Agency level," and "[w]orked on Trust Litigation," as Deputy Director of Education for the Bureau of Indian Affairs, as a member of the Tribal Reconciliation Project and as the Director of the Office of Trust Litigation Support and Records—the office that later became known as OTR. These positions have required him to collect and image documents, publish reports, meet with tribes, draft settlement legislation and provide planning and budget information to the Department of the Interior, Congressional Offices and the Office of Management and Budget.

Memorandum and Order at 2 (Mar. 29, 2002).

In February, 2001, Special Master Balaran retained Mr. Christie as an "advisor to the Special Master in his investigation of the Office of Trust Records." Id. at 1. "Specifically, [Mr.] Christie was retained to 'assist the Special Master in his review and analysis of the thousands of documents presented by the Defendant[s] and . . . accompany[] the Special Master to facilities which store trust records and during his interviews with Interior employees.'" Id. at 4-5 (quoting Order of the Special Master, at 13 (July 23, 2001)). On May 29, 2001, Defendants filed a motion to rescind the Special Master's hiring of Mr. Christie; this Court denied the motion on March 29, 2002. Billing records for Mr. Christie suggest he has rendered services to the Special Master as recently as February, 2003.

The "Phase 1.5" trial is scheduled to commence on May 1, 2003. Plaintiffs' witness list for the trial identifies Mr. Christie as an expert witness and describes his expected testimony as follows: "Matters concerning the parties' compliance plans, including the effectiveness and credibility of DOI fiduciary management regarding records management and the need for central records facility; consequences of inadequate records management and compliance; and [the] need for [a] remedial order in the nature and scope of plaintiffs' proposed order." Plaintiffs' Witness List at 2.

On March 19, 2003, Defendants served a subpoena duces tecum on Mr. Christie, requiring him to appear for deposition on April 3, 2003. Plaintiffs responded by moving for a protective order that would, among other things, limit the scope of documents Mr. Christie must produce and the range of questions Interior Defendants can pose to Mr. Christie. See Plaintiffs' Motion For Protective Order (April 1, 2003). Plaintiffs' motion for a protective order contained a footnote stating that "Dennis M. Gingold, one of plaintiffs' counsel, also represents Mr. Christie in this matter and joins in the motion with respect to his subpoena." Id. n.4.

ARGUMENT

I. Mr. Christie Should Be Disqualified From Serving As Plaintiffs' Expert.

Federal courts have the inherent power to disqualify expert witnesses. Koch Ref. Co. v. Boudreaux MV, 85 F.3d 1178, 1181 (5th Cir. 1996) (citing Campbell Indus. v. M/V Gemini, 619

F.2d 24, 27 (9th Cir. 1980)). The exercise of this power serves to prevent conflicts of interest and maintain the integrity of the judicial process. Id. at 1182; see also United States v. Salamanca, 244 F. Supp. 2d 1023, 1026 (D.S.D. 2003).

Mr. Christie's service as Plaintiffs' expert endangers his neutrality and imperils the integrity of, and public confidence in, the Special Master's activities. The Court appointed the Special Master; the Special Master, in turn, retained Mr. Christie as an advisor to assist him. The Special Master is an officer of this Court, duty bound both to maintain impartiality in his activities and to avoid the appearance of impropriety.² Likewise, Mr. Christie's role requires him to maintain neutrality with regard to the work he has performed for the Special Master. In re Edgar, 93 F.3d 256, 262 (7th Cir. 1996) ("Experts appointed and supervised by a court carry special weight because of their presumed neutrality.").

Certainly the Special Master could not serve as an expert witness for Plaintiffs without compromising his impartiality and raising the appearance of impropriety. To permit the Special Master's retained consultant to serve as an expert witness for Plaintiffs with regard to the very matters on which he advises the Special Master will create the appearance of impropriety by Mr. Christie, and, derivatively, by the Special Master. Permitting Mr. Christie to testify regarding information he obtained as an advisor to the Special Master would also circumvent Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 53, which requires a special master to make written reports and recommendations concerning findings of fact and conclusions of law to the court, which must ultimately decide to adopt or reject such findings and conclusions after considering written responses and objections by the parties.

Furthermore, disqualification of an expert witness is required when the expert has had a confidential relationship with the objecting party. Wang Labs., Inc. v. Toshiba Corp., 762 F. Supp. 1246, 1248 (E.D. Va. 1991)). In making such disqualification determinations, courts assess: (1) whether it is objectively reasonable for the objecting party to conclude that a confidential relationship existed with the expert; and (2) whether the objecting party disclosed any confidential or privileged information to the expert. Mayer v. Dell, 139 F.R.D. 1, 3 (D.D.C. 1991) (quoting Wang Labs., Inc., 762 F. Supp. at 1248). By analogy, in this case, it is objectively reasonable to conclude that Defendants have a confidential relationship with the Special Master in the sense that they have provided a significant volume of confidential and privileged information to him. Interior Defendants have no way of knowing how much of their confidential or privileged information has been shared with Mr. Christie; indeed, as noted above, both Mr. Christie and Plaintiffs have attempted to limit Interior Defendants' discovery. But Mr. Christie's billing records (attached for reference at Exhibit A) are filed in this Court and demonstrate that he has gathered information on a number of sensitive matters, spoken with numerous unidentified individuals, and engaged in extensive consultations with the Special Master. Plaintiffs cannot now use Mr. Christie to testify on their behalf on the same subject matters for which he has been retained to assist the Special Master.³ Under these circumstances, Mr.

Christie cannot serve as an expert witness for Plaintiffs. Cf. Paul v. Rawlings Sporting Goods, Inc., 123 F.R.D. 271, 277 (S.D. Ohio 1988) (“The law will imply a relationship of confidence when it is just to do so.”) (quoting Conforti & Eiselle, Inc. v. Div. of Bldg. and Constr., 405 A.2d 487, 492 (N.J. Super. Ct. App. Div. 1979)).

Mr. Christie is “simply too close and too intimately involved on the part of [the Special Master] in the very process which will be examined in this case for the Court [to] allow him to testify as an expert for the [P]laintiffs.” Theriot v. Parish of Jefferson, Case No. 95-2453, 1996 WL 392149, *2 (E.D. La. July 8, 1996).⁴ The Court should act to protect public confidence in this case and preclude Mr. Christie from serving as an expert witness for Plaintiffs in the Phase 1.5 trial. See Sells v. Wamser, 158 F.R.D. 390, 393 (S.D. Ohio 1994) (“[T]he overall guiding principle is to preserve the integrity of court proceedings, and [] any remedy imposed in a case where an expert witness has a conflict of interest should promote fundamental fairness in the litigation process.”).

II. Mr. Gingold Should Be Disqualified From Serving As Mr. Christie's Counsel

Disqualification of counsel rests within the sound discretion of the Court, and arises from the Court’s inherent supervisory power over the professionalism of lawyers practicing before it. Groper v. Taff, 717 F.2d 1415, 1418 (D.C. Cir. 1983); Palumbo v. Tele-Communications, Inc., in [18 U.S.C. § 207(a)(1)] with respect to a particular matter may not, except pursuant to court order, serve as an expert witness for any other person (except the United States) in that matter.”)

157 F.R.D. 129, 131 (D.D.C. 1994). Counsel's violation of applicable ethical rules supplies a basis for disqualification. Palumbo, 157 F.R.D. at 132.

Although courts treat motions to disqualify with caution, "any doubt is to be resolved in favor of disqualification." Derrickson v. Derrickson, 541 A.2d 149, 152 (D.C. 1988) (citing Mondello v. Mondello, 499 N.Y.S.2d 9, 10 (N.Y. App. Div. 1986)); see also Rentclub, Inc. v. Transamerica Rental Finance Corp., 811 F. Supp. 651, 654 (M.D. Fla. 1992), aff'd, 43 F.3d 1439 (11th Cir. 1995). In this circuit, counsel may be disqualified even where no present impropriety exists, particularly where important societal interests are at stake. E.g., Kessenich v. CFTC, 684 F.2d 88, 98 (D.C. Cir. 1982) (citing Yablonski v. United Mine Workers, 448 F.2d 1175, 1177-82 (D.C. Cir. 1971)). As this Court observed in Palumbo, the class action setting imposes a particularly "heightened" professional standard upon class counsel due in part to his obligations to absent class members. Palumbo, 157 F.R.D. at 132 -33 (disqualifying class counsel) (citing Smith v. Josten's American Yearbook Co., 78 F.R.D. 154, 163 (D. Kan. 1978), aff'd, 624 F.2d 125 (10th Cir. 1980)). These standards require the Court to disqualify Mr. Gingold from representing Mr. Christie in this case.

The D.C. Circuit has held that the Code of Conduct for United States Judges applies to special masters.⁵ Jenkins v. Sterlacci, 849 F.2d 627, 632 (D.C. Cir. 1988) (A "special master must hold himself to the same high standards applicable to the conduct of judges."); see also Belfiore v. New York Times Co., 826 F.2d 177, 185 (2d Cir. 1987); In re Joint E. & S. Dist.

Asbestos Litig., 737 F. Supp. 735, 739 (E.& S.D.N.Y. 1990). The Code of Conduct for United States Judges (“Code of Conduct”) requires judges to “act at all times in a manner that promotes public confidence in the integrity and impartiality of the judiciary.” Code of Conduct, Canon 2A. “The test for appearance of impropriety is whether the conduct would create in reasonable minds, with knowledge of all the relevant circumstances that a reasonable inquiry would disclose, a perception that the judge’s ability to carry out judicial responsibilities with integrity, impartiality, and competence is impaired. Id., cmt. The Code of Conduct imposes a duty of impartiality and further requires judicial officers to take reasonable steps to ensure impartiality by law clerks and other court personnel. See Code of Conduct, Canon 3 & cmt.⁶

The D.C. Rules of Professional Conduct require Mr. Gingold to “avoid contributing to a violation of” the Code of Conduct. D.C. R. Prof. Conduct 3.5 cmt. 1. Yet his representation of both the plaintiff class and Mr. Christie does precisely this by drawing into question the integrity and impartiality of the Special Master’s investigation. Mr. Gingold’s dual representation gives him undeniable influence over how Mr. Christie will respond to discovery and testify at trial. In effect, Mr. Gingold’s representation of Mr. Christie permits the class to influence Mr. Christie’s participation in this case, thus stripping Mr. Christie of his presumed neutrality and imbuing him with the partisanship of the plaintiff class. The unavoidable consequence of Mr. Gingold’s representation of Mr. Christie will be a perception that the Special Master’s investigation has been compromised. See Rentclub, Inc., 811 F. Supp. at 655 (appearance of impropriety arises from inference that attorney induced another to breach a confidence).

Mr. Gingold's dual representation raises another ethical dilemma in the form of a potential conflict of interest between his clients. Rule 1.7(b) of the D.C. Rules of Professional Conduct states that:

[A] lawyer shall not represent a client with respect to a matter if:

- (1) That matter involves a specific party or parties, and a position to be taken by that client in that matter is adverse to a position taken or to be taken by another client in the same matter....
- (2) Such representation will be or is likely to be adversely affected by representation of another client; [or]
- (3) Representation of another client will be or is likely to be adversely affected by such representation.

D.C. R. Prof. Conduct 1.7(b).

Courts have interpreted this rule as presenting an ethical barrier to a lawyer representing both a party in interest and a witness in the same matter. See In re Cendant Corp. Sec. Litig., 124 F. Supp. 2d 235 (D.N.J. 2000); see also Bobokoski v. Bd. of Educ., No. 90-C-5737, 1991 WL 140150 (N.D. Ill. July 23, 1991). In granting a motion to disqualify under Rule 1.7 in a class action securities fraud case, the court in Cendant Corp. held that a lawyer could not represent the named defendant in a case in which it also represented a former officer of that company who was a critical and potentially adverse witness in the matter. In describing the many hazards of such a dual representation, the court observed:

as a general matter examining one's own client as an adverse witness on behalf of another client, or conducting third party discovery of one client on behalf of another client, is likely (1) to pit the duty of loyalty to each client against the duty of loyalty to the other; (2) to risk breaching the duty of confidentiality to the client-witness; and (3) present a tension between the lawyer's own pecuniary interest in continued employment by the client-witness and the lawyer's ability to effectively represent the litigation client. The first two of these hazards are likely to present a direct adverseness of interest falling within Rule 1.7(a); all three may constitute material limitations on the lawyer's representation, so as to come under Rule 1.7(b).⁷

Cendant Corp., 124 F. Supp. 2d at 241-42 (emphasis omitted) (quoting ABA Formal Opinion No. 92-367 (October 16, 1992)).⁸ The court emphasized that Rule 1.7 is violated where there is a mere "possibility of a breach occurring;" actual improper conduct is not required to establish a violation. Id. at 243, 244. This is because the rule is intended not to prevent actual conflicts but to bolster the public's confidence in the integrity of the legal profession. Id. at 245.

In his dual representation, Mr. Gingold will elicit the testimony of one client (Christie) for the benefit of another (the class). Should Mr. Christie offer views that are unfavorable to the class, Mr. Gingold will have to decide whether to impeach or question the credibility of his individual client or remain silent to the detriment of his class client. Particularly given the heightened standards imposed upon the professionalism of class counsel, disqualification of Mr.

Gingold as counsel for Mr. Christie is warranted for this reason as well.⁹ See Palumbo, 157 F.R.D. at 132-33.

CONCLUSION

For all of the foregoing reasons, the Court should disqualify Mr. Christie from testifying as Plaintiffs' expert in this matter and disqualify Mr. Gingold from serving as counsel of record for Mr. Christie.

⁹ Rule 1.7(c) of the Rules of Professional Conduct permits an adversely affected party to waive any conflict of interest. However, as this Court ruled in Palumbo, absent class members cannot, as a matter of law, waive conflicts of interest. 157 F.R.D. at 133. Moreover, a waiver by Mr. Christie would only increase the appearance of impropriety discussed above.
