INDICTMENT

The Grand Jury charges:

At all times relevant to this Indictment, unless otherwise specified:

General Allegations

Legal Background

1. The Foreign Corrupt Practices Act of 1977, as amended, 15 U.S.C. §§ 78dd-1, et seq. ("FCPA"), prohibited certain classes of persons and entities from corruptly making payments to foreign government officials to assist in obtaining or retaining business. Specifically, the FCPA prohibited any domestic concern, as well as any officer, director, employee and agent of a domestic concern, from willfully making use of any means or instrumentality of interstate commerce corruptly in furtherance of an offer, payment, promise to pay, or authorization of the payment of money or anything of value to a foreign official, or to any person, while knowing that all or a portion of such money or thing of value would be offered, given, or promised, directly or indirectly, to a foreign official, to influence the foreign official in his or her official capacity, induce the foreign official to do or omit to do an act in violation of his or her lawful duty, or to secure any improper advantage in order to assist in obtaining or retaining business for or with, or directing business to, any person.

Entities and Individuals

2. Latin Node, Inc. ("LatiNode"), headquartered in Miami, Florida, was incorporated in Florida in or around 1999, and thus was a "domestic concern" as that term is used in the FCPA, 15 U.S.C. § 78dd-2(h)(1)(B). LatiNode was a privately held company that provided wholesale telecommunications services using internet protocol technology in a number of countries throughout the world, including Honduras. LatiNode provided these services both directly and through its subsidiaries.

3. LN Comunicaciones, a Guatemalan company headquartered in Guatemala City, Guatemala, was a wholly owned subsidiary of LatiNode that maintained an international call center for LatiNode customers and carried out LatiNode business in Honduras, Guatemala, El Salvador, Nicaragua, and various locations in the Caribbean. LN Comunicaciones maintained its own bank account in Guatemala City, Guatemala, but that account was fully funded by LatiNode from its Miami-Dade County, Florida, bank account.

4. Servicios IP, S.A. ("Servicios IP") was a Guatemalan company nominally owned by two LN Comunicaciones employees that was created at the direction of LatiNode and LN Comunicaciones in or around 2005.

5. Defendant JORGE GRANADOS was the founder, Chief Executive Officer ("CEO"), and Chairman of the Board of LatiNode from in or around 1999 to in or around 2007. Throughout that time period, GRANADOS had authority to set company policy, contract with telecommunications companies, hire and fire employees, set sales prices, and approve sales practices in foreign countries. GRANADOS was a citizen of the United States. GRANADOS was a "domestic concern" and an officer, director, employee and agent of a domestic concern, as these terms are defined in the FCPA, 15 U.S.C. § 78dd-2(h)(1).

6. Defendant MÁNUEL CACERES was a senior executive of LatiNode, holding such titles as Vice President Business Development, from in or around September 2004 to in or around 2007. Throughout that time period, CACERES was responsible for, among other things, developing LatiNode's business in Honduras. CACERES was a citizen of Honduras but resided in and was a lawful permanent resident of the United States. CACERES was a "domestic concern" and an officer, employee, and agent of a domestic concern, as these terms are defined in the FCPA, 15 U.S.C. § 78dd-2(h)(1).

7. Co-conspirator A was a senior commercial executive for LatiNode, holding such titles as Vice President of Sales, Vice President Wholesale Division, and Chief Commercial Officer ("CCO"), from in or around November 2000 to in or around 2007. Throughout that time period, Co-conspirator A was responsible for, among other things, LatiNode's commercial and sales relationships with long distance carriers.

8. Co-conspirator B was the Chief Financial Officer (“CFO”) of LatiNode from in or around March 2005 to in or around 2007. Throughout that time period, Co-conspirator B was responsible for, among other things, approving payments and wire transfers by LatiNode.

9. Co-conspirator C was a senior executive of LatiNode, holding such titles as Vice President Network Operations and Quality Assurance, and managed LN Comunicaciones in Guatemala from in or around early 2000 to in or around 2007. As part of his responsibilities throughout this time period, Co-conspirator C would authorize transactions from the bank accounts of LN Comunicaciones and Servicios IP.

10. Empresa Hondureña de Telecomunicaciones (“Hondutel”) was the wholly state-owned telecommunications authority in Honduras, established under Honduran law and headquartered in Tegucigalpa, Honduras. Hondutel was responsible for providing telecommunications services in Honduras, and its operations were overseen by another Honduran government entity, Comisión Nacional de Telecomunicaciones. Hondutel was an “agency” and “instrumentality” of the Honduran government, and its officers, employees and directors were “foreign officials,” as these terms are defined in the FCPA, 15 U.S.C. § 78dd-2(h)(2)(A).

11. Official 1 was a senior executive of Hondutel from in or around February 2006 to in or around December 2007. Official 1 had broad decision-making authority and influence over telecommunications contracts with private service providers and their accompanying rates.

12. Official 2 was an attorney in the Hondutel legal department who worked directly for Official 1.

13. Official 3 was a Minister in the Honduran Government and was a member of Hondutel’s Board of Directors.

The Interconnection Agreement with Hondutel

14. Beginning in or around 2003, the Honduran Legislature passed legislation that permitted Hondutel to enter into contracts with private telecommunications companies.

15. From at least as early as November 2003 through in or around December 2005, LatiNode sought to win an interconnection agreement with Hondutel, which would permit LatiNode to use Hondutel's telecommunications lines. LatiNode sought to establish a network between Honduras and the United States to provide long distance services between the two countries. LatiNode sought to provide a service in which callers could "originate" calls in the United States that would "terminate"— meaning be received—in Honduras, and vice versa. LatiNode executives saw the interconnection agreement with Hondutel as a key component to developing LatiNode's telecommunications business in Honduras.

16. On or about December 5, 2005, LatiNode learned that it was the sole winner of the interconnection agreement with Hondutel. Under the agreement, LatiNode was required to pay Hondutel the following rates for calls terminating to Honduras ("Termination Rates"): $0.21 per minute for fixed calls and $0.23 for mobile calls. The agreement also required LatiNode to prepare "Monthly Accounts," which were to include, among other things, the number of minutes used by LatiNode and the applicable Termination Rate.

17. Almost immediately after winning the interconnection agreement with Hondutel, LatiNode executives realized that LatiNode needed to obtain a reduction in the Termination Rates in order to be more competitive in the Honduran telecommunications market. LatiNode executives also learned that Official 1 was considering whether to rescind Hondutel's interconnection agreement with LatiNode.

Conspiracy
(18 U.S.C. § 371)

1. Paragraphs 1 through 17 of the General Allegations are re-alleged and incorporated by reference as though set forth herein.

2. From in or around April 2006, and continuing through in or around October 2007, the exact dates being unknown to the Grand Jury, at Miami-Dade County, in the Southern District of Florida, and elsewhere, the defendants,

JORGE GRANADOS
and MANUEL CACERES,

did willfully, that is, with the intent to further the objects of the conspiracy, and knowingly conspire, confederate and agree with each other, and with other persons, known and unknown to the Grand Jury, to commit offenses against the United States, that is, to willfully make use of the mails and means and instrumentalities of interstate commerce corruptly in furtherance of an offer, payment, promise to pay, and authorization of the payment of any money, offer, gift, promise to give, and authorization of the giving of anything of value, to a foreign official, and to a person, while knowing that all or a portion of such money and thing of value would be and had been offered, given, and promised, to a foreign official, for purposes of: (i) influencing acts and decisions of such foreign official in his or her official capacity; (ii) inducing such foreign official to do and omit to do acts in violation of the lawful duty of such official; (iii) securing an improper advantage; and (iv) inducing such foreign official to use his or her influence with a foreign government and agencies and instrumentalities thereof to affect and influence acts and decisions of such government and agencies and instrumentalities, in order to assist defendants JORGE GRANADOS and MANUEL CACERES, LatiNode; and others, known and unknown to the Grand Jury, in obtaining and retaining business for and with, and directing business to, LatiNode, in violation of Title 15, United States Code, Section 78dd-2(a).

PURPOSE OF THE CONSPIRACY

3. A purpose of the conspiracy was to obtain from Hondutel business advantages for LatiNode including, but not limited to, preferred telecommunications rates, retaining the interconnection agreement, and continued operation in Honduras despite late payments to Hondutel, by paying bribes to Honduran government officials, including to officers and employees of the Government of Honduras and of Hondutel, a telecommunications company that was an agency and instrumentality of the Government of Honduras.

MANNER AND MEANS OF THE CONSPIRACY

The manner and means by which JORGE GRANADOS and MANUEL CACERES and their co-conspirators sought to accomplish the objects and purposes of the conspiracy included, among other things, the following:

4. Defendants JORGE GRANADOS and MANUEL CACERES, together with others, would and did discuss the competitive need to obtain lower Termination Rates paid by LatiNode under the interconnection agreement with Hondutel.

5. Defendants JORGE GRANADOS and MANUEL CACERES, together with others, would and did identify officers and employees of the Government of Honduras and of Hondutel whom they believed could and would help LatiNode obtain such lower rates.

6. Defendants JORGE GRANADOS and MANUEL CACERES, together with others, would and did discuss making bribe payments to such Honduran foreign officials in order to obtain such lower rates.

7. Defendant MANUEL CACERES would and did discuss with Official 1, Official 2 and Official 3, or a subset thereof, obtaining lower rates for LatiNode under the interconnection agreement with Hondutel.

8. Defendants JORGE GRANADOS and MANUEL CACERES, together with others, would and did offer to pay, promise to pay, and authorize the payment of bribes, directly and indirectly, to and for the benefit of Official 1, Official 2 and Official 3, in exchange for these Officials' agreements to secure lower rates and other benefits for LatiNode under the interconnection agreement with Hondutel.

9. Defendant MANUEL CACERES would and did discuss with Official 1, Official 2 and Official 3, or a subset thereof, the amount of the bribe payments.

10. Defendant MANUEL CACERES would and did receive instructions from Official 1, Official 2 and Official 3 as to the manner by which the bribe payments were to be paid—for example, the names and locations of the bank accounts to which the bribe payments should be transferred—and would and did forward these instructions to relevant LatiNode employees.

11. Defendants JORGE GRANADOS and MANUEL CACERES, together with others, would and did wire and cause to be wired certain bribe payments from LatiNode's bank accounts in Miami-Dade County, Florida, to the bank accounts designated by Official 1, Official 2 and Official 3.

12. Defendants JORGE GRANADOS and MANUEL CACERES, together with others, would and did make certain bribe payments and cause certain bribe payments to be made from LatiNode's foreign subsidiaries to Official 1, Official 2 and Official 3 in the manner designated by Official 1, Official 2 and Official 3.

13. Defendants JORGE GRANADOS and MANUEL CACERES, together with others, would and did discuss the need to obtain a written agreement by Hondutel to lower the Termination Rates under the interconnection agreement. Among other things, these defendants and co-conspirators discussed the "discrepancy notices" that LatiNode was receiving because certain employees from the Hondutel Collections Department were unaware that Official 1, Official 2 and Official 3 had agreed to lower Termination Rates and that the lack of a formal agreement could complicate LatiNode's acquisition by eLandia, Inc. ("eLandia").

14. Defendant MANUEL CACERES, together with others, would and did discuss making bribe payments to certain employees of Hondutel's Collections Department in order to resolve the billing disputes created by these "discrepancy notices."

15. Defendant MANUEL CACERES would and did communicate with Official 1, Official 2 and Official 3, or a subset thereof, about the need to obtain a written agreement by Hondutel to lower the Termination Rates under the interconnection agreement.

16. Prior to the execution of a written agreement reducing the Termination Rates under the interconnection agreement, defendants JORGE GRANADOS and MANUEL CACERES would and did instruct LatiNode employees to submit billing statements to Hondutel that falsely and fraudulently reflected a lower number of minutes than were actually used by LatiNode. The purpose of such false and fraudulent billing statements was to obtain the reduced rate to which Official 1, Official 2 and Official 3, or a subset thereof, had orally agreed.

17. In anticipation of eLandia's acquisition of LatiNode, defendants JORGE GRANADOS and MANUEL CACERES, together with others, would and did discuss the need to create sham consulting agreements to disguise the fact that LatiNode was paying bribes to Official 1, Official 2 and Official 3.

OVERT ACTS

In furtherance of the conspiracy and to achieve the objects thereof, at least one of the conspirators committed, or caused to be committed, in the Southern District of Florida, and elsewhere, at least one of the following overt acts, among others:

1. On or about April 24, 2006, an employee of LatiNode sent an email to defendant MANUEL CACERES describing a meeting with the general manager of Hondutel. The LatiNode employee wrote, in Spanish and in sum and substance, that Latinode's business strategy with Hondutel would be difficult because "we know they [Hondutel] expect something under the table."

2. On or about April 24, 2006, defendant MANUEL CACERES replied to the email described in Overt Act 1, stating, in Spanish and in sum and substance, that it was important for a certain Latinode consultant to arrange a meeting with Official 1 and the Hondutel general manager "so they know we are friends of the party."

3. On or about May 16, 2006, defendant MANUEL CACERES sent an email to Co-conspirator A, copying defendant JORGE GRANADOS, in which CACERES stated, in Spanish and in sum and substance:

At the GTM the international manager informed me he couldn't resolve that situation and that it would be necessary to 'give' something to the [Hondutel] general manager []. I'll try this with [Official 1]. I'm returning Thursday to Miami and I'll plan a trip Sunday to meet next Monday or the same Sunday with these criminals. But I will solve this problem for you, I promise. Not only will we get a PP rate (Preferential of preferentials) but the capacity we need. I have some things to reveal to them in exchange for what I'm going to ask of them.

4. In or about August 2006, defendants MANUEL CACERES and JORGE GRANADOS determined that they would make bribe payments to Hondutel officials, including Official 1, at a rate of $0.01 per minute of telephone traffic that LatiNode generated through the Hondutel interconnection agreement.

5. On or about September 2, 2006, defendant MANUEL CACERES sent an email to Official 2 in which he requested, in Spanish and in sum and substance, that Official 2 "confirm the data for the bank account where the deposit should be made," and stated that LatiNode urgently needed the Hondutel Board of Directors to approve the lowest rate for LatiNode so that LatiNode could be competitive in the market and generate an important volume of traffic.

6. On or about September 5, 2006, defendant MANUEL CACERES forwarded to Co-conspirator A an email from Official 2 containing the account information requested in Overt Act 5. In the forwarding email, CACERES explained to Co-conspirator A, in Spanish and in sum and substance, that Official 2 was Hondutel's corporate lawyer and Official 1's "straw man," that there was a favorable atmosphere at Hondutel to giving LatiNode a reduction in the Termination Rates, and that "it is important to send $60,000 for June and July."

7. On or about September 11, 2006, Co-conspirator A forwarded to Co-conspirator B, and copied to defendants JORGE GRANADOS and MANUEL CACERES, the email described in Overt Act 6. Co-conspirator A wrote to Co-conspirator B, in Spanish and in sum and substance, that “we must make this payment,” and that the payment would result in a decrease in LatiNode’s rates to $0.13 and $0.14. Co-conspirator A further wrote that, based on his calculations, the payment due was $36,705 for June and $24,404 for July, totaling $61,109.

8. On or about September 13, 2006, defendant MANUEL CACERES sent an email to Co-conspirator C, copied to Co-conspirator A and Co-conspirator B, in which he explained, in Spanish and in sum and substance, that he was providing “the instructions for the transfer of the commission to [Official 1],” and forwarding information for a Bank Atlantida account in the name of “Grupo de Inversiones Chicas.”

On or about September 14, 2006, defendant MANUEL CACERES and Co-conspirator C caused the following wire transfers to be made:

Overt Act	Amount of Transfer	Transferred From	Transferred To
9	$61,149	LN Comunicaciones	Servicios IP
10	$61,109	Servicios IP	Grupo de Inversiones Chicas

11. On or about October 27, 2006, defendant JORGE GRANADOS caused LatiNode to issue a $30,251 check made payable to Official 1. This amount equaled the sum of $7,792 due to Official 1 for August 2006 and $22,459 due to Official 1 for September 2006.

12. On or about November 15, 2006, defendant MANUEL CACERES sent an email to a LatiNode employee, copying Co-conspirator C and defendant JORGE GRANADOS, and instructing Co-Conspirator C, in Spanish and in sum and substance, to travel to Tegucigalpa, Honduras on November 16, 2006, pick up Official 2, and take Official 2 to San Pedro, Honduras.

13. On or about November 16, 2006, Co-conspirator C withdrew $100,000 from a LN Comunicaciones bank account in Guatemala by issuing a check from the account payable to himself.

14. On or about November 16, 2006, defendant JORGE GRANADOS sent an email to himself, copied to numerous LatiNode employees, including defendant MANUEL CACERES, Co-conspirator A, Co-conspirator B and Co-conspirator C, in which he announced, in Spanish and in sum and substance, that, "As of today, a new termination price in Honduras has been negotiated with Hondutel's management. [] The rate for cell and fixed phones is valid at $0.12."

15. On or about November 16, 2006, in a follow-up to the email described in Overt Act 14, defendant JORGE GRANADOS sent an email to Co-conspirator A in which he explained, in Spanish and in sum and substance, that the $0.12 rate was "all inclusive" and included the $0.01 that the Honduran officials were going to be paid. GRANADOS further wrote that "I will tell you the details, but I cannot put it in writing."

16. On or about December 12, 2006, defendant MANUEL CACERES sent an email to defendants JORGE GRANADOS, Co-conspirator A, and Co-conspirator B in which he provided them, in Spanish and in sum and substance, with an update on "the situation," including that Official 3 had informed Hondutel's General Manager about the $0.12 rate. CACERES described Official 3 as the negotiator for LatiNode and the Honduran President's representative on Hondutel's Board of Directors.

17. On or about December 26, 2006, defendant MANUEL CACERES forwarded to defendant JORGE GRANADOS an email from Official 2 that provided, in Spanish and in sum and substance, instructions for wiring $100,000 to four bank accounts: (a) $25,000 to UBS Bank; (b) $30,000 to Wachovia Bank; (c) $30,000 to Banco Grupo el Ahorro Honduren ("BGA Honduras"); and (d) $15,000 to BGA Honduras. In his forwarding email, CACERES stated to GRANADOS, in Spanish and in sum and substance: "I recommend sending [Official 1] $100,000 tomorrow to the bank accounts and in the amounts according to the instructions in [Official 2's] email. We have stretched the rope to the maximum but we are reaching the limit and we don't want to break it. This payment will create tolerance for any late payments to Hondutel, avoiding their removal of capacity; on the contrary, it will help to get them to increase it for us."

18. On or about January 2, 2007, defendants JORGE GRANADOS and MANUEL CACERES and Co-conspirator B caused a wire transfer of $30,000 to be made from LatiNode's Citibank account in Miami-Dade County, Florida, to a Wachovia Bank NA of Florida account in Florida.

19. On or about January 3, 2007, defendant MANUEL CACERES forwarded to Official 1 and Official 2 an email from Co-conspirator B to defendant JORGE GRANADOS, copying CACERES, in which Co-Conspirator B explained, in Spanish and in sum and substance, that LatiNode could not make two of the four transfers described in Overt Act 17 because of incorrect wire transfer instructions. In the forwarding email, CACERES requested, in Spanish and in sum and substance, that they verify the correct account information or provide new instructions.

On or about the following dates, defendants JORGE GRANADOS and MANUEL CACERES and Co-conspirator B caused the following wire transfers to be made from

LatiNode's Citibank account in Miami-Dade County, Florida:

Overt Act	Date	Amount of Transfer	Recipient Bank
20	January 4, 2007	$30,000	BGA Honduras, to account in the name of SONE S.A. de C.V.
21	January 4, 2007	$15,000	BGA Honduras, to account in the name of Official 2

22. On or about January 15, 2007, defendant MANUEL CACERES sent an email to Official 2 explaining, in Spanish and in sum and substance, that “[Official 3’s] bank has rejected the transfer three times.” CACERES suggested to Official 2 that LatiNode could either send the money to Official 2 to give to Official 3, or send the money to another account. Official 2 replied to the email on or about the next day, January 16, stating, in Spanish and in sum and substance, that Official 3 had advised LatiNode to “bring” a check in the name of Official 3.

23. On or about January 25, 2007, Co-conspirator C caused LN Comunicaciones to issue a $50,000 check for the benefit of Official 3.

24. On or about January 29, 2007, defendant MANUEL CACERES forwarded to Co-conspirator B, and copied defendant JORGE GRANADOS and another LatiNode employee, an email from Official 2, in which Official 2 had instructed, in Spanish and in sum and substance, that $37,500 be wired to “SONE” and $22,500 be wired to Official 2 to the same accounts that had been provided in the past.

25. On or about January 30, 2007, defendant MANUEL CACERES sent an email to another LatiNode employee in which he directed that the $37,500 be wired to a BGA Honduras account in the name of SONE and $22,500 be wired to a BGA Honduras account in the name of Official 2.

28. On or about February 7, 2007, defendant MANUEL CACERES sent an email to Co-conspirator B and another LatiNode employee in which he instructed, in Spanish and in sum and substance, that $15,000 be wired to a BGA Honduras account in the name of Official 2.

30. On or about February 11, 2007, defendant JORGE GRANADOS sent an email to defendant MANUEL CACERES and Co-conspirator B in which he asked, in Spanish and in sum and substance, for an update on an earlier request to obtain "official and retroactive confirmation" of the $0.12 rate from Hondutel because this issue could cause a "HUGE" problem during the due diligence process with eLandia.

31. On or about April 10, 2007, defendant MANUEL CACERES sent an email to Official 1, Official 2 and Official 3 in which he wrote, in Spanish and in sum and substance, that because LatiNode was going to be acquired by eLandia, they would have to enter into formal consulting contracts, that “[n]o government official (from Hondutel or from the government) can appear” on the consulting contract, and that he would continue to authorize payments to them, “but the transfers will come from eLandia through Servicios IP, a firm of ours in Guatemala.”

32. On or about April 11, 2007, defendant MANUEL CACERES sent an email to defendant JORGE GRANADOS and Co-conspirator A in which he wrote, in Spanish and in sum and substance, that Official 1 and Official 3 would sign consulting agreements in which neither Official would appear as a representative and explained that Official 3 had control over the Board of Directors, Official 1 managed Hondutel, and both were friends with the President of Honduras.

33. On or about April 23, 2007, defendant MANUEL CACERES sent an email to Co-conspirator C in which he provided instructions regarding the delivery of a $38,409.73 check to Official 3 and explained, in Spanish and in sum and substance, that Co-conspirator B would deposit $40,000 into the LN Comunicaciones account “so you can write the check.” CACERES explained that this figure represented 25% of the pending total commission figure. A spreadsheet attached to the email listed both the $38,409.73 figure and an additional $115,229.18 payment due to “SONE.”

34. On or about April 24, 2007, defendant MANUEL CACERES sent an email to Co-conspirator B stating, in Spanish and in sum and substance, that the transfer to SONE was for $115,229.18.

36. On or about April 26, 2007, Co-conspirator C caused $120,000 to be transferred from LN Comunicaciones to Servicios IP.

37. On or about June 24, 2007, defendant MANUEL CACERES sent an email to defendant JORGE GRANADOS in which he included a request from Official 1 for $5,000 and recommended, in Spanish and in sum and substance, that "we have to do the favor for the friend."

38. On or about June 24, 2007, in response to the email described in Overt Act 37, defendant JORGE GRANADOS sent an email to defendant MANUEL CACERES in which he agreed with CACERES's recommendation and, in Spanish and in sum and substance, instructed him to remind Official 1 of the subject of their upcoming meeting at Hondutel.

39. On or about June 25, 2007, defendant JORGE GRANADOS sent an email to defendant MANUEL CACERES, Co-conspirator B, and another LatiNode employee in which he wrote, in Spanish and in sum and substance, that "We need to draw a check for $5,000 in the name of [Official 1], as an advance for services rendered."

40. On or about June 25, 2007, Co-conspirator C caused LN Comunicaciones to issue a $5,040 check to Servicios IP.

41. On or about August 7, 2007, defendant MANUEL CACERES sent an email to several LatiNode employees, including defendant JORGE GRANADOS and Co-conspirator B, in which he explained, in Spanish and in sum and substance, the formula to be used in sending invoices to Hondutel: "Actual Minutes X verbally agreed rate = discounted Minutes X rate per the contract. The last part of the equation is what should be sent to Hondutel."

42. On or about August 15, 2007, defendant MANUEL CACERES sent an email to an employee of Hondutel's Collections Department in which he confirmed, in Spanish and in sum and substance, that a transfer would be made to the employee's daughter's account for "consulting services" and stated that he would need to get a receipt for the records of eLandia's auditors. CACERES reminded the billing employee that "we are now a public company and everything has to be done in a transparent manner," and told her that neither the employee nor another woman, also employed by Hondutel's Collections Department, "can appear in the transaction at all."

43. In or about October 2007, defendant JORGE GRANADOS ordered another LatiNode employee to delete emails related to Hondutel from LatiNode's computer servers.

All in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 371.
