DEPARTMENTAL FUNCTIONS

The Office of The Attorney General

The Attorney General supervises all matters relating to:

- (1) Direction and control of the Department of Justice.
- (2) Opinions to the President and heads of departments.
- (3) Other duties required by statute.

The Executive Assistant to the Attorney General and the Director of Public Information are attached to and report directly to the Attorney General.

The Office of the Deputy Attorney General

The Deputy Attorney General is charged with:

(1) Assisting the Attorney General in the over-all supervision and administrative management of the Department.

(2) Assisting the Attorney General in the consulation of departmental policies and programs and in the development of improved ways and means of effectuating such departmental policies and programs. The Deputy Attorney General keeps currently informed concerning the operations of the Department and brings to the consideration of the Attorney General those problems and situations requiring his personal direction and action.

(3) Supervising, under the direction of the Attorney General, the formulation and execution of personnel policies, and the performance of appointment, pronotion and other personnel management activities.

(4) Exercising, through the Executive Office for United States Attorneys and the Executive Office for United States Marshals, general executive assistance to and supervision of United States Attorneys' and Marshals' offices; coordinating and directing their relationships with other departmental units, including other United States Attorneys' and Marshals' offices.

(5) Preparing recommendations for Presidential appointments affecting the administration of justice, including those for judges of the federal courts, United States Attorneys, and United States Marshals.

(6) Maintaining liaison between the Department and the Congress. The Deputy Attorney General supervises and directs the Department's activities relating to legislation, including the preparation and review of new legislation to be recommended by the Attorney General, preparation of the Department's comments on pending legislation at the request of committees of Congress, the Bureau of the Budget and other executive agencies, furnishing advice to the Executive Office of the President on the matter of approval of enrolled bills, and the review of the proposed testimony of Department witnesses at Congressional hearings.

(7) Exercising administrative supervision over the Board of Immigration Appeals.

The Office of The Solicitor General

The Solicitor General has supervision of:

(1) Supreme Court cases, including their appeals, petitions for and oppositions to certiorari, briefs and assignment of arguments on the merits.

(2) Authorization of appeals to appellate courts, inc. doing Court of Customs and Patent Appeals.

(3) Authorization of intervention in cases involving constitutionality of acts of Congress.

The Office of Legal Coursel

The Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Office of Legal Counsel is responsible for:

(1) Preparing the formal opinions of the Attorney General, rendering informal opinion, and legal advice to the various governmental agencies, and assisting the Attorney General in the performance of his functions as legal adviser to the President and as a member of and legal adviser to the Cabinet.

(2) Preparing or making necessary revisions of Executive Orders and proclamations and advising the Attorney General with respect to their form and legality.

(3) Itandling matters arising out of trusts, bequests, gifts and similar b nefits to the United States.

September 1, 1963

The Federal Bureau of Investigation

Organization of Federal Bureau of Investigation

The Federal Bureau of Investigation was first established in 1908. The Director of the FBI is appointed by the Attorney General and he reports directly to the Attorney General. Director John Edgar Hoover has held this position since 1924.

Organization at the Seat of Government

In addition to the Director there are an Associate Director, Assistants to the Director, Assistant Directors, and Inspectors. Also, Special Agents are assigned to temporary duty at the seat of Government offices of the FBI to aid in the supervision of specific types of work as assigned.

In order to facilitate the her dling of work at the seat of Government the FBI is organized into 10 divisions as follows:

Administrative Division Crimes Records Division Domestic Intelligence Division FBI Laboratory Files and Communications Division General Investigative Division Inspection Division Special Investigative Division Training Division

Reports of investigations are supervised at the seat of Government in Washington, D. C., for the specific purpose of effecting coordination on a nation-wide basis, disseminating reports to the Government agencies having an appropriate official interest, and aiding in giving direction to the investigative activities in the field service.

ment offices of the FBI to aid in the supervision of specific types of work as assigned.

In order to facilitate the handling of work at the seat of Government the FBI is organized into seven divisions as follows:

Identification Division Training and Inspection Division Administrative Division Records and Communications Division Domestic Intelligence Division General Investigative Division FBI Laboratory

Reports of investigations are supervised at the seat of Government in Washington, D. Organization in the Field

There are 56 field offices of the FBI located throughout the United States and including field offices at San Juan, Puerto Rico; Anchorage, Alaska, and Honolulu, Hawaii. These offices are established at locations depending upon the volume of work and the requirements for supervision.

In charge of each of the field offices is an experienced Special Ag at with the title of Special Agent in Charge. He is responsible for all FBI operations in the field division in which his office is includ. There is also an Assistant Special Agent in Charge of each field office, and when the volume of work justifies, there are one or more field supervisors to assist in the handling of the administrative duties within each field division.

Investigative Jurisdiction of the FBA

The FBI is charged with investigating victors of the laws of the United States and collecting evidence in cases in which the United States is or may be a party in interest. Although this gives broad jurisdiction in matters of federal interest by administrative order of the Attorney General, the FPI does not investigate those matters which are specifically assigned by Congress to other federal investigating agencies. Thus, the FDI does not investigate internal revenue matters, narcotics violations, counterfeiting and forgery of Government obligations, alcohol unx and other revenue violations, immigration and naturalization matters or other matters not within the jurisdiction of the Department. Such matters are the specific obligation of other federal investigating and enforcement agencies.

In case c. doubt as to whether the FBI has investigative jurisdiction over a jending matter, the United States Attorneys are invited to confer with the Special Agent in Charge of the local office of the FBI.

For rurther information concerning the FBI, see Title 7, Miscellaneous Legal Matters.

Bureau of Prisons

The Director of the Bureau of Prisons reports directly to the Attorney General and has general supervision and direction of federal penal institutions and prisoners, including prison industries and control of federal prisoners in nonfederal institutions.

The powers and authorities delegated to the Director of the Bureau of Prisons for that Bureau are extended to the Commissioner of the Federal Prisons Industries, Inc., for that corporation.

Immigration and Naturalization Service

Under the general direction of the Attorney General, the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization supervises and directs the administration of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, and, subject to the limitations contained in section 103 of the Immigration and Nationality Act and 8 CFR 6, the Commissioner is charged with the administration and enforcement of the Immigration and Nationality Act and all other laws relating to immigration and naturalization. He has the authority to exercise and perform concurrently with the Attorney General any of the powers, privileges, or duties conferred upon the Attorney General (section 103, Immigration and Nationality Act, 66 Stat. 173, 8 U. S. C. 1103; 8 CFR 9.1 (a)).

Board of Immigration Appeals

The Board of Immigration Appeals is a quasi-ju lieul body vested with power to exercise the authority and the discretion of the Attorney General under the immigration and nationaling raws, with appellate jurisdiction to review orders in deportation and exclusion of aliens, and orders imposing administrative fines for violation of immigration laws by steamship companies and others.

Parole Board

The Parole Board report. directly to the Attorney General and, from an administrative scale oint, is under the supervision of the Administrative Assistant Attorney General. Its function is to grant and revoke paroles of federal prisoners.
