UNITED STATES' THIRD REPORT
ON EXTENSIONS OF TIME FOR DIVESTITURES

Plaintiff, United States of America, hereby informs the Court of certain extensions of time that it has agreed to grant to the Defendants in this matter to complete the divestitures of Parking Facilities required by the Final Judgment. The most recent information provided to the United States by Defendants shows that the divestiture process under the Final Judgment is nearly complete, with few Parking Facilities remaining to be divested. No action on the part of the Court is necessary at this time.

The Court entered and filed the Final Judgment as of January 3, 2013, and notice of entry to Plaintiff and Defendants was given on the same date. Under Paragraph IV.A of the Final Judgment, Defendants were then required to divest all their interests in the Parking Facilities listed in Schedule A within five days after notice of entry of the Final Judgment, that is, by January 8, 2013.

Paragraph IV.D of the Final Judgment permits the United States, in its sole discretion, to agree to one or more extensions of the time period for divestiture, not to exceed ninety calendar days in total. The same provision also requires the United States to inform the Court of any such extensions granted.

As explained in the United States' Report on Extensions of Time for Divestitures filed on January 11, 2013, Defendants advised the United States that 50 of the 107 divestitures of Parking Facilities required by the Final Judgment were completed prior to the January 8, 2013 deadline. On January 8, the United States agreed to limited extensions of time for the 57 remaining Parking Facilities that had not been divested, allowing until February 7, 2013 for 39 of the divestitures, until March 9, 2013 for 17 of the divestitures, and until April 8, 2013 for one of the divestitures. Subsequently, Defendants advised the United States that an additional 25 divestitures had been completed prior to February 7, 2013. Of these facilities, 21 were in the group that had been scheduled to be divested by February 7, while four were in the group that had been scheduled to be divested by March 9. On February 7, 2013, the United States agreed to limited extensions of time for completion of the remaining 18 divestitures of Parking Facilities in the first group that had originally been scheduled for divestiture on February 7, providing an additional 30 days for completion of these divestitures, until March 9.

Defendants have now advised the United States that another 25 divestitures have been completed prior to March 9, 2013, bringing the total of Parking Facilities divested to 100. Only seven Parking Facilities required to be divested by the Final Judgment remain. On March 8, the United States agreed to limited extensions of time for completion of six of the remaining Parking Facilities, until April 8, 2013. The seventh Parking Facility had already been granted an extension until April 8, 2013 on January 8. These additional extensions were based on the representations of Defendants that additional time would be needed to complete those divestitures and Defendants' explanations of the need for additional time.

In granting these extensions, the United States has considered the substantial progress that Defendants have already made, with nearly all of the required divestitures completed. The United States has also taken into account Defendants' representations that they anticipate they can complete the seven divestitures for which the additional time has been granted by the end of March 2013. This is, however, the final extension of time for divestiture that the United States can grant under the terms of Paragraph IV.D of the Final Judgment, and if any Parking Facilities have not been divested by April 8, 2013, the Court will have the power to issue such orders as it considers appropriate to carry out the purposes of the Final Judgment, including appointment of a trustee upon application of the United States.

Defendants have represented that the additional time needed to divest the remaining parking facilities is attributable to several factors. Two of these seven facilities, Bronx C4 and Columbus C5, are expected to be divested through assignment of Standard's rights to new parking operators, requiring Standard to negotiate the assignments and select a new operator that will be acceptable both to the owner of the facility and to the United States. Standard has informed the United States that it has identified a new operator in principle for the Bronx C4 facility, but the definitive agreement for assignment still needs to be submitted for the approval of the United States and consent of the owner also is still being obtained. For Columbus C5, the United States has already approved the divestiture to a new operator, but the owner's consent is still being obtained.

Three of the seven facilities not yet divested, Denver C14 and Fort Worth C22 and C23, are expected to be divested through terminations of the agreements with the owners pursuant to Paragraph IV.K of the Final Judgment. For all three of these facilities, the owners still need to select new operators. In the case of the Fort Worth parking facilities, the owner is the local transportation authority, which has had to conduct a formal Request for Proposal procedure to select a new operator and then approve the replacement of Standard with the new operator by vote of the authority's board. This process was delayed by the recent appointment of a new board, but Standard has informed the United States that this vote is scheduled to take place on March 18, 2013 and the terms of the RFP would then provide for the new operator to replace Standard by the end of March 2013. Standard has also represented that the owner of the Denver C14 facility is also expected to complete the transition to a new operator by March 31. Defendants have represented that they have continued to operate these facilities even though the 60 day notice period required by the Final Judgment before termination of an agreement has been completed, pending the selection of new operators.¹

Finally, two of the seven facilities not yet divested, Cleveland C1 and Los Angeles C22, Standard had originally planned to divest through assignments to new operators. Due to the unexpected difficulty of obtaining consent from the owners to the assignments, however, Standard has informed the United States that it now plans to divest these facilities through mutually agreed terminations of the existing parking facility agreements instead, and under the negotiated terms the transitions from Standard to a new operator for these facilities are due to be completed by March 31.²

The time extensions to complete the divestitures of individual Parking Facilities agreed to by the United States are as follows:

1. For the following six Parking Facilities not yet divested, the United States has now agreed to extensions of the time for divestiture for an additional 30 days, so that, together with the 60 days previously granted, divestiture is now required by April 8, 2013: Bronx C4, Cleveland C1, Columbus C5, Fort Worth C22, and C23, and Los Angeles C22;
2. For the following Parking Facility, the United States has previously agreed to an extension of the time for divestiture for a total of 90 days, that is, until April 8, 2013: Denver C14.

For the convenience of the Court, the United States has also included with this report a modified version of Schedule A to the Final Judgment. The modified Schedule A shows the divestiture status and extensions of time for divestiture now applicable to each of the Parking Facilities. It also shows the three substitutions of other Parking Facilities for ones originally listed in Schedule A that the United States has approved, and about which it informed the Court in its Certificate of Compliance and Report on Facilities Substitution filed on December 21, 2012.

² For Los Angeles C22, Standard provided notice of termination to the owner on February 21, 2013, but the owner has agreed in writing to allow Standard to vacate the parking facility before the end of the normal 60 day notice period, on March 31. For Cleveland C1, the United States understands that no notice of termination was given as the parking facility agreement had no provision for unilateral termination, but the owner and Standard similarly are entering into a Termination Agreement to provide for the ending of Standard's contract on March 31.
