

William H. Stallings Chief
Transportation, Energy and Agriculture Section Antitrust Division
United States Department of Justice
450 Fifth Street, NW, Suite 8000 Washington, DC 20530

To whom it certainly should concern,

Gunnison Energy Corp., and Texas-based SG Interests VII Ltd and Tim DeChristopher all violated the Offshore Oil and Gas Leasing Reform Act, and ALL THREE made false statements to the government when they signed up to bid at a BLM oil and gas lease auction.

You in the Justice Department chose to charge Tim with 2 counts of felony, sent him to federal prison for a 2-year sentence, and fined him $10,000—all after refusing to allow his motives to be discussed in court, nor allowing him or his attorneys to mention to the jury that the auction in question was later deemed itself illegal.

What did the Justice Department do—to punish the aforementioned oil companies?

No criminal charges. No jail time. Just a “fine” that amounts to Big Oil pocket change. In effect, you issued a $500,000 “permit” for oil companies to flaunt the law—not for any moral cause—but for their own dirty profit.

This is unfair. These injustices and favoring of big money and corps with “connections” in MY country sicken me daily.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'L. Dombek', with a long horizontal flourish extending to the right.

Lori Dombek
83 South St.,
Gorham, ME 04038