FOREWORD

BY DEPUTY ATTORNEY GENERAL JEFFREY ROSEN

The American public has faced many challenges this year due to the COVID-19 pandemic, with those challenges impacting our elderly particularly hard. This disease has not only endangered seniors' physical welfare; it has also led many to a state of increased isolation and vulnerability. Unfortunately, bad actors have used the pandemic as an opportunity to exploit an already vulnerable population. At a time when seniors need to focus on protecting their own health and well-being, scammers now threaten their psychological and financial security. Criminals who capitalize on this pandemic to reap illicit profits or otherwise prey on Americans are reprehensible, and their crimes will not be tolerated.

The Department has taken swift action to combat this misconduct. We directed all U.S. Attorneys to work closely with state and local authorities to detect, investigate, and prosecute offenses related to the pandemic. To that end, I further directed each U.S. Attorney's Office to appoint a Coronavirus Fraud Coordinator to serve as the legal liaison for the district on matters relating to the Coronavirus, to supervise prosecution of Coronavirus-related crimes, and to conduct outreach and awareness. The Coronavirus Fraud Coordinator in each office works closely with the Elder Justice Coordinator to ensure particular consideration and protection of the elderly.

To improve and further the detection of criminal conduct related to the pandemic, the Department urged Americans to report incidents of suspected fraud schemes to the National Center for Disaster Fraud (NCDF), either by calling the hotline (1-866-720-5721) or by emailing the NCDF at disaster@leo.gov. The NCDF receives complaints and forwards them to the appropriate law enforcement agency and U.S. Attorney's Office as well as Justice Department litigating and law enforcement components to identify, investigate, and prosecute fraud schemes.

When the pandemic first hit, the Department began receiving reports of individuals hoarding vital medical supplies in order to make windfall profits at the expense of public safety and the health of fellow citizens. In response, the Department established the COVID-19 Hoarding and Price Gouging Task Force to develop effective enforcement measures and best practices and to coordinate the nationwide investigation and prosecution of these exploiters. Each of the 94 U.S. Attorney's offices and each relevant Department component designated an experienced attorney to serve as a member of the task force.

Despite exceptional challenges, our prosecutors and agents have worked diligently and resourcefully to raise public awareness of the rise of criminal activity related to the coronavirus. U.S. Attorney's offices and law enforcement officers turned to media outlets and virtual mediums to educate seniors and warn them about the escalating trend of coronavirus-related scams.

Unprecedented times such as these truly amplify the significant work of the Department's Elder Justice Initiative. As outlined further in this report, the Department and its allies did not stand idly by but took swift and unparalleled action to identify, investigate, prevent, and prosecute illicit activity and protect older American's peace of mind. In times of crisis, it is even more vital that we work together to protect the vulnerable and preserve justice.

INTRODUCTION

BY ATTORNEY GENERAL WILLIAM BARR

Crimes committed against older Americans have alarmingly increased in recent years. What makes these crimes particularly heinous, is not only the vulnerability of the victims, not only the breach of trust involved but also the victims' stage of life. The financial, physical, and emotional impacts of these crimes are devastating and often irreversible.

As the Internet and other technology play a greater role in Americans' daily lives, seniors are especially vulnerable. We have seen a rise in perpetrators singling out the elderly utilizing cyber fraud schemes and robocalls. These offenders are often overseas, working under the umbrella of transnational criminal organizations.

The Department of Justice remains steadfastly committed to wielding the might of its resources to uncovering and stopping these criminals, both at home and abroad. I have directed the FBI, every U.S. Attorney's office, and the thousands of law enforcement officers they represent, to aggressively prosecute elder fraud and abuse cases.

For the past two years, the Department conducted record-breaking sweeps of fraudsters who targeted the elderly. This year, I am proud to announce that we broke records once again, with 400 defendants from around the globe charged – a 54 percent increase – for causing over one billion dollars in losses.

Unfortunately, it is not just cold-blooded fraudsters who take advantage of the elderly. To address the failure of care seniors have encountered in nursing home facilities, the Department launched the National Nursing Home Initiative this spring. This initiative investigates those entrusted with providing care to our loved ones but who instead put profits before residents.

As outlined further in this report, our efforts do not stop there. We understand that raising awareness is vital to accomplishing our goal. Combined with increased partnerships, outreach, and resources, the Department is devoted to providing direct support to victims and restoring their sense of security.

Protecting senior citizens from exploitation has been and will remain a department priority. With our federal, state, local, tribal, and international partners, we will continue to advance our efforts and escalate the fight against those who target our elderly. Collaboration is paramount, and together we are bringing justice and peace of mind to America's seniors.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

BY EOUSA ELDER JUSTICE COORDINATOR SHERI H. MECKLENBURG

In 2020, the Elder Justice Initiative continued its mission, stronger than ever, to prosecute and protect against elder fraud and abuse. For the last 15 months of my almost 14 year tenure as a federal prosecutor, I have had the privilege of serving as the Elder Justice Coordinator for the Executive Office for United States Attorneys, leading the Elder Justice Coordinators (EJCs) from the 94 U.S. Attorney's offices, and working closely with the attorneys throughout the Department of Justice who share in the leadership of the Elder Justice Initiative. I have had the privilege of working closely with Antoinette Bacon, the Department's Elder Justice Coordinator before she recently was appointed United States Attorney for the Northern District of New York, and was inspired by her tireless commitment and stellar leadership in protecting our elderly from fraud and abuse day after day. I have witnessed the outstanding work of dedicated agents, attorneys, victim advocates and support staff who have investigated and prosecuted the disturbing cases of elder abuse described in this report, who make it their mission to protect the elderly victims of fraud and abuse and to pursue the criminals here and abroad. This report also describes the many, many outreach efforts of our United States Attorneys, the EJCs and other attorneys and agents around the country, designed to educate our elderly about fraud and prevent them from becoming victims. As you read this report, you cannot help but be impressed with the attorneys, agents and others who have built this program and made it a success, and it is a tribute to them that it thrives and grows stronger every day, week, month and year.

This has been a particularly challenging year for our elderly, due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The disease has not only threatened their physical welfare, but the proliferation of fraud triggered by the pandemic also has preyed on the psychological and financial well-being of the elderly. Too many are scared, isolated and vulnerable. Although the pandemic made it more difficult for our agents, attorneys and support staff to pursue the perpetrators and protect the elderly, as you review this report you will see that our elder justice team vaulted right over those obstacles and came up with new and creative ways to achieve our goals of prosecution and protection against elder abuse. In addition to the pandemic-related fraud, this year we saw horrific challenges to residents of nursing homes, and Attorney General Barr responded with a Department of Justice National Nursing Home Task Force to identify and pursue nursing homes that fail to provide adequate care for their elderly residents.

Despite the challenges, we once again had a record-breaking number of enforcement actions, and, as in past years, we could not have done it without the collaboration and cooperation of our incredible federal, state, local, and tribal law enforcement partners. Our valuable private-sector partners also continued to work alongside us through the pandemic in vital ways. Our expanded outreach with our many partners also engaged the community in this effort, and with community engagement and support, we continued to enhance our collective ability to protect America's seniors from fraud and abuse.

Once again, our efforts to bring perpetrators to justice remained at the forefront of our mission, but we still recognize that prosecution alone is not the answer. That is why the Department continues to emphasize education and outreach to a greater degree than ever before. Our team has strived to alert the public to the enhanced threats of fraud and to provide training, resources and tools to our team and our partners to bolster their efforts to combat elder abuse, neglect and financial exploitation. Likewise, by reaching out directly to seniors, community members, and caregivers, the Department and our partners have worked to prevent seniors from ever becoming victims in the first place or, where someone has fallen prey, to end the cycle of victimization. As you read this report, you will see many examples of how our team creatively adapted its efforts at outreach and education in this now largely virtual world.

While prosecuting these crimes and advancing prevention efforts are key to bringing justice to abused older Americans, it remains important to provide the resources necessary to help victims recover and ultimately regain their sense of safety and well-being. This report highlights the Department's continued efforts to support victims, including implementing the new DOJ Elder Justice hotline, which employs trained case managers and refers victims to resources where appropriate.

We realize that, despite our successes, there is much more work to be done. As our population ages and as stories of victimization reach our national headlines with unfortunate frequency, the Department is continuing to expand its resources to ensure we are prepared to meet the rising enforcement demand. The pandemic has highlighted the vulnerability of our elderly population, and we know that we must work twice as hard to protect the elderly in difficult times such as these.

Together, the Elder Justice team and its partners have built a mission with momentum. Law enforcement is becoming more effective, more sophisticated, and better coordinated. Our prosecutors' dedication increases every year. Those who seek to prey upon our elderly should know that the Department of Justice remains committed to bringing perpetrators of elder fraud and abuse to justice and to protecting America's seniors. Our goal is that America's seniors should rest easy, and that those who seek to prey upon our seniors should not.

PROGRAMMATIC HIGHLIGHTS

A. World Elder Abuse Awareness Day 2020: June 15, 2020

i. White House Roundtable on Fighting for America's Seniors

Protecting America's seniors from fraud and abuse has been and remains one of the Administration's top priorities.

On World Elder Abuse Awareness Day (WEAAD), President Trump convened a special meeting with his top advisors, including Vice-President Mike Pence, to discuss challenges facing America's seniors and the landmark steps the Administration is taking in response.

Attorney General William Barr, Secretary of Health and Human Services Alex Azar, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development Ben Carson, Secretary of Veterans Affairs Robert Wilkie, CMS Administrator Seema Verma, Chief Postal Inspector of the U.S. Postal Inspection Service Gary Barksdale, and Counselor to the President KellyAnne Conway discussed how collectively we can identify and combat elder fraud and abuse and provide support to victims and their families.

The President began by discussing his "ironclad commitment to protecting and caring for America's seniors." With regard to combatting elder fraud, the President noted, "My administration is working tirelessly to stop the depraved criminals who seek to defraud American seniors, of which there are many," citing that in only three years, the Department of Justice has charged nearly 1,000 defendants involving over $2.2 billion in fraud against America's seniors. The President also touted the newly launched Elder Fraud Hotline, which in its first three months, fielded approximately 1,800 calls. Equally important is a focus on ending elder abuse in America's nursing homes. The President announced delivery of "$81 million for increased inspections and provided every Medicare-certified nursing home with shipments of personal protective equipment," along with the mandate that nursing homes report coronavirus cases directly to CDC, residents, and family members.

Attorney General Barr thanked the President for his commitment to protecting Americans of all ages, including those in their golden years. He observed, "In recent years, fraud directed against older Americans — especially over the Internet — has grown distressingly common. Seniors lose billions of dollars a year to these frauds, with the average reported individual loss exceeding $34,000. And many of the perpetrators are not fellow Americans, but transnational criminal organizations — ruthless cartels located overseas that steal hard-earned savings from some of our finest and most vulnerable citizens." Attorney General Barr highlighted specific steps the Justice Department is taking to stop it, including the launch of the highly effective Transnational Elder Fraud Strike Force. Earlier this year, Attorney General Barr announced a Nursing Home Initiative, which is focused on some of the worst nursing homes around the country and those owners and operators who have profited at the expense of their residents.

Attorney General Barr rightly noted, “While we have accomplished much, we know there is work to be done.... The Department of Justice will continue to use all tools at our disposal to meet that important goal.”

ii. Office for Victims of Crime Awards $2 Million Dollar Law Enforcement Training Grant to Commemorate WEAAD¹

"The Department is fully committed to helping our law enforcement partners better recognize and combat these reprehensible crimes, bring the perpetrators to justice and begin to repair the damage and restore victims."²

-Katharine T. Sullivan
Principal Deputy Assistant Attorney General for the Office of Justice Programs

Under a new grant from the Office for Victims of Crime (OVC), awarded in time to commemorate WEAAD, the U.S. Department of Justice awarded close to $2 million dollars for the development of training for law enforcement to improve identification of and response to elder fraud victims. This national-scope training and technical assistance grant was awarded to the National White Collar Crime Center to work with the International Association of Chiefs of Police to identify current training, tools, and practices being used to address elder fraud. The project will study current resources available and responses to elder fraud in a rural and an urban jurisdiction in two of the Department's Transnational Elder Fraud Strike Force³ districts and will develop and deliver trainings for law enforcement to improve the response to elder fraud tailored to the particular needs of different types of jurisdictions. The trainings will be tested, evaluated, and revised as needed and then made available to rural and urban law enforcement agencies nationwide. The Transnational Elder Fraud Strike Force brings together the resources and expertise of the Department's Consumer Protection Branch, the United States Attorney's offices for six federal districts, the FBI, the U.S. Postal Inspection Service, and other law enforcement personnel.

iii. Elder Justice Initiative Training Webinar

In celebration of WEAAD, the Department's Civil Fraud section in conjunction with the COPS Office presented a webinar entitled Lifting Up Voices: Law Enforcement WEAAD Celebration (June 18, 2020) to a national audience in appreciation of law enforcement's elder justice work during COVID-19. The webinar featured Officer Steven McGhee of Paradise Valley, Arizona, and the COPS Office each enumerated their elder abuse tools and resources for law enforcement. The COPS Office promoted the webinar through social media on Facebook (with over 9,700 followers) and Twitter (over 16.4K followers).

iv. Around the Country

Multidisciplinary Team WEAAD Webinar Series – Eastern District of Missouri

In honor of WEAAD, the United States Attorney’s Office for the Eastern District of Missouri joined federal and state law enforcement partners, social service agencies and consumer groups for a webinar series designed to educate the elderly and their caretakers about financial exploitation.

Overall, the United States Attorney’s Office for the Eastern District of Missouri reached over 300 people through these webinars.

“Because elderly victims are frequently unwilling to discuss financial matters with their children, or are too embarrassed to report the fraud to law enforcement, the entire community needs to be vigilant and proactive in protecting them. The Elder Justice Initiative provides the resources that help us confront these predators.”

President Trump issued a Presidential Proclamation declaring May 2020 as "Older Americans Month." The Proclamation lauded the Department of Justice's "unprecedented action against transnational fraud schemes that target seniors, the networks of 'money mules' that move stolen funds from Americans' bank accounts to overseas fraudsters, and telephone companies that knowingly facilitate billions of fraudulent robocalls."

The Presidential Proclamation "call[ed] upon all Americans to honor our elders, acknowledge their contributions, care for those in need, and reaffirm our country's commitment to older Americans this month [May] and throughout the year." As this report demonstrates, the Department of

Proclamation on Older Americans Month, 2020

Issued on: April 30, 2020

ALL NEWS

Older Americans are cherished and invaluable members of our society, deserving our utmost respect, gratitude, and admiration. During Older Americans Month, we pause to draw upon the wisdom, spirit, and experience older adults bring to our families, our communities, and our Nation. We also recognize that during this time of crisis caused by the coronavirus pandemic, we can persevere and prevail by emulating the resolve, tenacity, and determination of America's more experienced individuals who have endured and overcome life's most challenging times.

Older Americans have built our economy, defended our freedom, and shaped our Nation's character. They have raised families and dedicated themselves to improving the quality of life for future generations. They sacrificed in times of hardship and took pride in a job well done. Many served honorably in our Armed Forces during some of the darkest times in the history of our Republic. Older Americans have lived lives of service and sacrifice, bound by devotion to the sacred principles of our country. Although no one could begrudge them rest and respite during their retirement years, having worked decades to support and grow their families and nurture their communities, many older Americans spend their time volunteering for those in need, mentoring young people, or learning new skills. They pour love into their extended families, places of worship, and neighborhood centers, and offer profound perspective and insight gleaned from years of life lessons.

Justice continues to work tirelessly, using every available tool to keep seniors safe. We hope this work inspires others around the country to join with us and stand up against elder fraud and abuse.

Elder fraud has been and continues to be a priority for the Department of Justice. Having these landmark initiatives recognized in a Presidential Proclamation is a true honor and is a reflection of the outstanding work by every member of the Department's Elder Justice team.

C. Elder Justice as an Agency Priority Goal

In recognition of the serious threat that transnational elder fraud schemes pose to the financial security of older Americans, the Attorney General has designated Prevent and Disrupt Transnational Elder Fraud as one of the Department's four FY 2020 through FY 2021 Agency Priority Goals (APG) under the President's Management Agenda. Each of the Department's APGs – Prevent and Disrupt Transnational Elder Fraud; Combat Cyber-Enabled Threats and Attacks; Violent Crime Reduction, Specifically Gun Violence; and Combat the Opioid Crisis – represent the highest implementation-focused, performance improvement priorities of DOJ leadership. As required under the Government Performance Results Act Modernization Act and OMB Circular A-11, the APGs represent high priorities for both the Administration and the agency, have high relevance to the public, reflect the achievement of key agency missions, and will produce significant results over a twelve to twenty-four month period. Through the APG process, the Department established two year goals for Prevent and Disrupt Transnational Elder

Fraud, developed an implementation plan that identified strategies to achieve those goals as well as risks that could impact the implementation, along with metrics and milestones to monitor our progress on a quarterly basis in order to ensure that we are making progress and adjust when needed. Since the beginning of FY 2020, DOJ has begun executing its action plan to protect the nation's elder population from fraud. To date, we have exceeded our 2020 quarterly goals. Each of the Department's APG implementation plans and updates are made publicly available on <https://www.performance.gov/justice/>.

D. Transnational Elder Fraud Strike Force

To combat the rise of Transnational Criminal Organizations operating overseas, Attorney General Barr established the Transnational Elder Fraud Strike Force in June 2019. The Transnational Elder Fraud Strike Force is a joint law enforcement effort comprised of the Civil Division's Consumer Protection Branch, the United States Attorney's offices for six federal districts (Central District of California, Middle and Southern Districts of Florida, Northern District of Georgia, Eastern District of New York, Southern District of Texas), the FBI, the U.S. Postal Inspection Service, along with other organizations. The Strike Force focuses on investigating and prosecuting foreign-based fraudsters who disproportionately prey on older Americans through the use of telemarketing, mass-mailing, and tech-support fraud schemes.

In addition to law enforcement and Consumer Protection Branch personnel, the Transnational Elder Fraud Strike Force consists of prosecutors from six U.S. Attorney's offices, highlighted above.

Over the past year, the Civil Division's Consumer Protection Branch worked closely with Department leadership to spearhead the Transnational Elder Fraud Strike Force. Branch personnel served as a resource for Strike Force prosecutors and agents on both civil and criminal matters, providing guidance, resources, and sample pleadings for use on specific matters. Branch analysts combed through voluminous data to find important leads and referred those leads to Strike Force districts for investigation. The Branch also worked closely with industry representatives to identify large-scale transnational criminal organizations victimizing American seniors and ensure that these promising tips reached Strike Force personnel ready to take action.

"The Consumer Protection Branch is proud to advance the Transnational Elder Fraud Strike Force's mission to protect American seniors from foreign fraud threats. Working closely with our partners, we are doing more than ever before to safeguard seniors' savings and peace of mind."

-Gustav Eyley
Director
Consumer Protection Branch

On the enforcement front, the Consumer Protection Branch took decisive action in several Strike Force districts, including cases in the Eastern District of New York designed to halt fraudulent robocalls from foreign countries. In January 2020, the Branch filed civil actions for temporary restraining orders in two landmark cases against five companies and three individuals allegedly responsible for carrying hundreds of millions of fraudulent robocalls to American consumers. The two complaints, filed in the Federal District Court for the Eastern District of New York located in Brooklyn, allege that the companies were warned numerous times that they were carrying fraudulent robocalls — including government- and business-imposter calls — and yet continued to carry those calls and facilitate foreign-based fraud schemes targeting Americans. The calls, most of which originated in India, led to massive financial losses to elderly and vulnerable victims across the nation.

In each case, the Department of Justice sought an order immediately halting the defendants' transmission of unlawful robocall traffic. Both of the Department's cases resulted in favorable permanent injunctions. In one of the cases, the judge handling the case issued a judicial opinion discussing his important findings on the marketplace that facilitates fraudulent robocalls. The court noted that "the telecommunications 'intermediary' industry is set up perfectly to allow fraudulent operators to rotate telephone numbers endlessly and blame other parties for the fraudulent call traffic they carry," that the United States "demonstrat[ed] probable cause to conclude that defendants' business is permeated with fraud," that "multiple individual victims in the United States suffered significant fraud losses," and that "[e]very day that the defendants' actions in this vein continue, the public is at risk of harm in the form of additional high-dollar fraud losses."

As part of its Strike Force efforts, the Consumer Protection Branch also initiated charges against foreign-based perpetrators of transnational elder fraud schemes. In August 2019, prosecutors obtained a 14-count indictment in San Antonio, Texas, charging five individuals with coordinating an identify-theft and fraud scheme targeting service members and veterans. The charged defendants, who were based both in the Philippines and the United States, are alleged to have used the stolen personal identifying information (PII) of thousands of military members to access Department of Defense and Veterans Affairs benefits sites and steal millions of dollars. To date, two defendants have pleaded guilty to charges in the case and one was sentenced in July 2020 to 46 months in prison.

Branch prosecutors also charged major facilitators of transnational elder fraud schemes, including several who must be extradited from foreign countries. In August 2019, four individuals were charged with engaging in a massive fraud scheme in which their company – PacNet Services Ltd. – processed payments from victims of numerous international mass-mail fraud campaigns. The defendants each were charged in the District of Nevada with one count of conspiracy to commit mail and wire fraud, one count of conspiracy to commit money laundering, and multiple counts of mail fraud and wire fraud.

FBI IC3 Recovery Asset Team

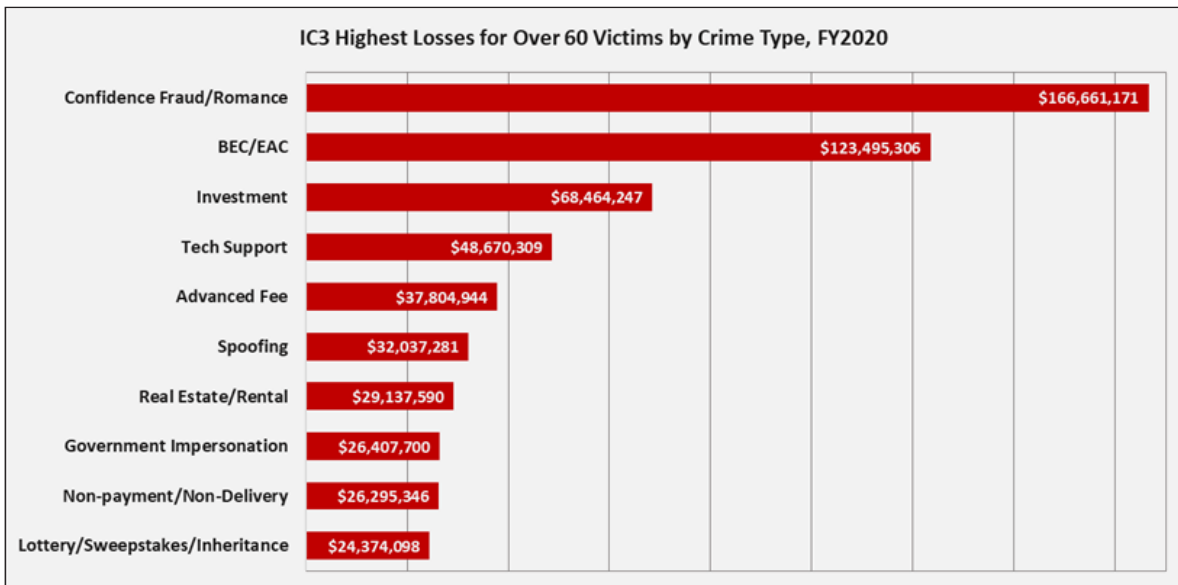

The FBI established the IC3 (Internet Crime Complaint Center) Recovery Asset Team (RAT) in February 2018 to streamline communication with financial institutions and assist FBI field offices with the recovery of funds for victims who made transfers to domestic accounts under fraudulent pretenses. The RAT functions as a liaison between law enforcement and financial institutions as they conduct statistical and investigative analysis.

Between October 2019 and June 2020, IC3 received 304,303 complaints. 72,648 of these complaints involved victims over the age of 60, which was the largest age group reported to IC3. IC3 RAT processed 972 of the reported complaints, with a reported loss of $373,590,962.80 dollars.⁵ RAT recovered $325,434,527.00 dollars from the total reported loss, leading to an 87% success rate. Of the 972 incidents worked by RAT, 58 incidents involved victims over the age of 60 (excluding individuals who are reporting on behalf of a business). The reported loss for these victims totaled $6,990,837.77 and RAT recovered $5,733,814.86, for a success rate of 82%.

⁵ Not all complaints reported to IC3 met the criteria to initiate the Financial Fraud Kill Chain (FFKC). For FY20, 972 incidents met the criteria to initiate the FFKC, which the FBI then pursued.

For the fiscal year 2020, the FBI's IC3 Recovery Asset Team received 72,648 complaints from victims 60 years of age and older with reported losses of $586,088,414. For the complaints received by the FBI IC3, the elderly were the most common victims.

Extortion was the most commonly reported criminal activity, but seniors lost more due to romance scams, approximately $166,661,171.

E. Elder Justice Summit: Keeping Seniors Safe⁶

AG Barr gives remarks in Sun City Center, Florida, at the Department's Elder Justice Summit: Keeping Seniors Safe.

On March 3, 2020, Attorney General William P. Barr, then Presidential Advisor KellyAnne Conway, Florida Attorney General Ashley Moody, the United States Attorneys for all three Districts in Florida, and the Director of the President's Domestic Policy Counsel Joe

Grogan spoke to seniors at a Florida senior community center on combatting elder fraud schemes. Conway introduced Attorney General Barr and other prominent speakers for the "Keeping Seniors Safe Summit," stating, "This is about protecting our seniors from pernicious predatory behavior."⁷

With hundreds of senior citizens in attendance, Attorney General Barr and multiple law enforcement partners announced the largest coordinated sweep of elder fraud cases in history, surpassing last year's nationwide sweep. Attorney General Barr announced that the cases during this sweep involved more than 400 defendants from around the globe, who caused losses of more than $1 billion dollars. Attorney General Barr stated, "It has become clear that a substantial part of the fraud against elders is conducted by transnational criminal organizations. For this reason, we have now expanded our enforcement efforts to have global reach.” In addition to the Department’s unprecedented criminal actions against the perpetrators, the Department also used civil enforcement tools, bringing landmark civil actions against those allegedly responsible for carrying out hundreds of millions of fraudulent robocalls, leading to massive financial losses to elderly across the nation. “In a one-week period, they placed over 13 million fraudulent robocalls in Florida alone,” Attorney General Barr said. He also described the Department’s initiative to halt the flow of money to the foreign perpetrators by going after “money mules” who send the money to the foreign perpetrators, disrupting more than 600 money mules during the two-month initiative. Finally, stressing the need to report fraud on the elderly, Attorney General Barr announced the launch of the Department of Justice National Elder Fraud Hotline, where case managers refer the matters to law enforcement where appropriate and provide services to victims as needed. The number is 1-833-FRAUD-11 (1-833-372-8311).

F. Elder Fraud Hotline

The Department of Justice launched the National Elder Fraud Hotline on March 3, 2020. The hotline, managed by the Office for Victims of Crime, helps older adults who may be victims of financial fraud. The hotline is staffed with experienced case managers who provide personalized support to assist callers in reporting suspected fraud to the relevant agencies and offer resources and referrals to other appropriate services as needed. If requested, case managers will also complete a complaint form for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Internet Crime Complaint Center for Internet-facilitated crimes, or submit a consumer complaint to the Federal Trade Commission, when applicable.

Case management staff have previous experience as Adult Protective Services social workers/investigators; ombudsmen; victim advocates specializing in elder abuse and financial crimes and exploitation; clinical supervisors; mental health counselors and case managers; housing coordinators; and health and social services case managers. All staff have experience in the human services field and expertise in providing telephonic case management, coordination, and referrals.

From the launch through June 30, 2020, the hotline received 2,320 calls,⁸ 1,893 of which reached hotline staff. The hotline was first announced by Attorney General Barr at the Keeping Seniors Safe - Elder Justice Summit, and since then, it has been highlighted at the White House Fighting for Seniors Roundtable, and the Expert Q&A Webinar⁹ hosted by the Office for Victims of Crime Training and Technical Assistance Center.¹⁰ Public service announcements are forthcoming, and additional marketing and outreach efforts are underway. In addition, as discussed below, the outreach by the United States Attorney's offices often highlighted the hotline.

G. Annual Elder Fraud Sweep¹¹

In March 2020, Attorney General William P. Barr, FBI Director Christopher A. Wray, and Chief Postal Inspector Gary R. Barksdale announced the results of the largest coordinated sweep of elder fraud cases in history. From March 2019 through March 2020, prosecutors charged more than 400 defendants, far surpassing the 260 defendants charged in cases during the prior year's sweep. In each case, offenders allegedly engaged in financial schemes that targeted or largely affected seniors. In total, the charged elder fraud schemes caused alleged losses of over a billion dollars.

¹¹ <https://www.justice.gov/opa/pr/departement-justice-charges-unprecedented-number-elder-fraud-defendants-nationwide-and>

The Transnational Elder Fraud Strike Force prosecuted more than one quarter of the defendants charged as part of the announced sweep. Prosecutors in Strike Force districts brought cases against more than 140 sweep defendants.

The Civil Division's Consumer Protection Branch coordinated the 2020 Elder Fraud Sweep and United States Attorney's offices in every federal district took part in the sweep.¹² Many federal prosecuting offices filed cases against perpetrators and/or facilitators of elder fraud. Others conducted outreach to law enforcement, community groups, seniors, or private industry. Other United States Attorney's offices demonstrated exceptional devotion to the cause of elder justice by both filing cases and conducting outreach.

H. National Nursing Home Initiative¹³

Attorney General William P. Barr announced on March 3, 2020, the launch of the Department of Justice's National Nursing Home Initiative, which coordinates and enhances civil and criminal efforts to pursue nursing homes that provide grossly substandard care to their residents.

This Initiative is focused on some of the worst nursing homes around the country and the Department has, as of the date of this Report, initiated investigations into multiple individual nursing facilities as part of this effort.

The Department considers a number of factors in identifying the most problematic nursing homes. For example, the Department identifies nursing homes that consistently fail to provide adequate nursing staff to care for their residents, fail to adhere to basic protocols of hygiene and infection control, fail to provide their residents with enough food to eat so that they become emaciated and weak, or inappropriately use physical or chemical restraints to restrain or otherwise sedate their residents. These care failures cause residents to suffer in pain and to be exposed to great indignities. Care failures cause residents to develop pressure sores down to the bone, to lie in their own waste for hours, to starve because they cannot reach the food on their trays and to remain unwashed for weeks at a time. Nursing homes that provide grossly substandard care also force vulnerable elderly residents who cannot leave the facilities to live in filthy and dangerous conditions where there are leaks in the roofs, mold is found growing and rodents found living in residents' rooms. These are some of the actions and the inactions that the Department intends to pursue.

“Our Nation’s mothers, fathers, sisters, and brothers come to nursing homes at the time in their lives when they are most vulnerable and in need of care. Nursing homes that provide grossly substandard care that leaves our seniors dehydrated, unbathed, with pressure sores, and starved for dignity will be brought to justice by the dedicated public servants in the department’s National Nursing Home Initiative.”

-Susan C. Lynch
Senior Counsel for Elder Justice
Civil Division

The National Nursing Home Initiative reflects the Department’s larger strategy and commitment to protecting our nation’s seniors, coordinated by the Department’s Elder Justice Initiative in conjunction with the United States Attorney’s offices. The Department has assembled teams of prosecutors and investigators in multiple districts nationwide prepared to take on these cases. In a series of Webinars and Discussion Sessions since March 3, 2020, the Department has trained Health Care Fraud Coordinators and other Assistant U.S. Attorneys nationally on matters related to case development and investigation. The Department has engaged in significant outreach and coordination with our federal partners at HHS-OCIG and CMS and the Regional CMS offices to identify nursing homes that have significant quality issues and should be investigated. The Department also supports the efforts of state and local prosecutors, law enforcement, and other elder justice professionals to combat elder abuse, neglect and financial exploitation, with the development of training, resources, and information. The Department has provided training to and coordinated with the Medicaid Fraud Control Units and other state partners to ensure that we are working together to identify appropriate targets and coordinate investigative efforts.

I. Money Mule Initiative¹⁴

In December 2019, Attorney General William P. Barr and law enforcement partners announced the results of a concentrated effort across the country and around the world to halt money mule activity. Money mules assist fraud schemes by receiving money from victims, many of them elderly, and forwarding proceeds to foreign-based perpetrators. During the two-month initiative in October and November 2019, U.S. law enforcement disrupted mule networks that spanned from Hawaii to Florida and from Alaska to Maine. Actions addressed a variety of elder fraud scheme types, including grandparent scams, romance scams, lottery and sweepstakes scams, IRS and Social Security Administration imposter scams, veteran and social security benefit redirection scams, and technical-support scams. The FBI, the Postal Inspection Service, and the Civil Division's Consumer Protection Branch coordinated this year's money mule initiative, which brought together a broad coalition of additional law enforcement partners, including the U.S. Secret Service, the IRS Criminal Investigation, the Department of Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration, the Social Security Administration Office of Inspector General, and the Office of the Attorneys General for the States of Indiana and Wyoming. The United States' initiative was timed to coincide with the European Money Mule Action (EMMA).

In a two-month period, DOJ took action against 600 money mules. Mules operate in every state.

¹⁴ <https://www.justice.gov/opa/pr/justice-department-announces-landmark-money-mule-initiative>

During the 2019 money mule initiative, actions ranging from search warrants, criminal charges, interviews and warning letters were taken to halt the conduct of over 600 domestic money mules, spanning over 85 federal districts, exceeding the 2018 money mule initiative. Law enforcement conducted interviews with more than 500 individuals who recently served as money mules for fraud schemes, and served warning letters on most of those individuals. The letters warned recipients that they could be prosecuted if they continue aiding and abetting fraud schemes. The Department of Justice also tripled the number of criminal prosecutions brought against money mules as compared to last year's initiative. Ultimately, more than 30 individuals were criminally charged, at least in part for their roles in receiving victim payments and providing the fraud proceeds to accomplices, including the following cases brought by members of the Department's Transnational Elder Fraud Strike Force:

- On November 27, 2019, the United States Attorney's Office for the Northern District of Georgia announced an indictment against Nnamdi MgBodile for his alleged role in a romance scam and business email compromise fraud;

- On November 25, 2019, the United States Attorney's Office for the Southern District of Florida announced an indictment against alleged perpetrators of a veteran and social security benefit redirection scam, which involved extensive use of money mules; and

- On November 14, 2019, the Department's Consumer Protection Branch announced the indictment of six individuals for an alleged mass mailing fraud scheme in which a co-conspirator was charged with knowingly receiving payments from elderly victims and supplying them to scheme leaders.

Additional criminal cases were brought as part of the two-month initiative by the United States Attorney's offices in the Eastern District of Texas, the Eastern District of Kentucky, the District of Alaska, the District of Arizona, the Criminal Division's Fraud Section, the Northern District of Oklahoma, the Southern District of New York, the District of Puerto Rico, the Eastern District of Missouri, the District of Delaware, and the District of Rhode Island.

J. COVID-19 and Elder Justice

Almost immediately with the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic, there was an onslaught of fraud in connection with the pandemic. Fraudsters peddled fake Personal Protective Equipment (PPE), fake tests and fake treatments. With the heightened susceptibility of the elderly to COVID-19, older Americans were understandably frightened and, in light of the shut-down, older Americans became even more isolated. This made them particularly vulnerable to fraudsters who tried to peddle fake PPE, fake tests and fake cures. It made them particularly vulnerable to imposter schemes where fraudsters offered the elderly assistance, for a fee, with obtaining benefits such as social security benefits that allegedly were held up due to the virus. Being isolated and lonely increased the seniors' vulnerability to romance schemes, and given the increased reliance on computers to communicate, seniors became even more vulnerable to tech schemes. Moreover, the virus severely disrupted the ability of family to watch over their elderly relatives and to intervene in any fraud schemes.

As a result of the pandemic, the elderly became even more likely targets of fraud. Yet, at the same time, enforcement and outreach became more difficult. Agents and prosecutors were forced to interview many victims and witnesses, and even targets, virtually. Prosecutors had to present their evidence to grand juries that convened irregularly and rarely, and had to press the cases before courts through virtual means. This Report describes continued, aggressive enforcement against those fraudsters using the pandemic to prey on the elderly. This Report also describes a variety of creative outreach used during the pandemic to try to protect the elderly and prevent elder fraud, showing that despite the difficult circumstances, the Department rose to the challenge and continued our mission to protect the elderly from these fraudsters. The Department of Justice, including the United States Attorneys, the Elder Justice Coordinators (EJCs), their colleagues, and victims' advocates worked with other agencies and organizations to step up outreach at a time when outreach was particularly challenging. The shutdown cancelled most in-person outreach events, but because of our strong partnerships and long-term relationships, the Department was able to work with partners to get the word out without in-person meetings. Our employees learned to reach seniors and spread the word about elder fraud through virtual events, brochures, press releases and articles, public service announcements and other media. As this Report shows, the prosecutors and other Department of Justice employees charged with protecting the elderly did not let up on enforcement or outreach, but instead pivoted to meet the fraudsters head-on.

ELDER JUSTICE CASE HIGHLIGHTS

A. Overview

Yellow districts had 1-5 cases, orange districts had 6-10 cases, bright red districts had 11-15 cases, and dark red districts had 16 or more, up to 24 (Western District of North Carolina).

During the reporting period of July 1, 2019 to June 30, 2020, the Department brought enforcement actions in almost 300 criminal and civil cases that targeted or disproportionately affected seniors in 68 federal judicial districts.¹⁵ See Appendix A. Examples of cases and case types are outlined in the following section.

In addition to the cases detailed in Appendix A, the Department is actively pursuing other matters that we are unable to include in this report due to their procedural status (e.g., they are filed under seal or are in the grand jury stage).

According to the most recent publicly available data from the FBI's National Incident-Based Reporting System (NIBRS), 26% of all victims of crime known to law enforcement are 51 years of age or older.¹⁶ Larceny continues to be the most commonly reported offense against senior victims but other offense types include physical abuse, burglary, financial exploitation, and more.

¹⁵ Although it appears that the number of charged cases went down from 2019 to 2020, a direct comparison is not valid. The Congressional Report filed in 2019 included cases that had activity during the reporting period, whether charging, disposition or sentencing, and thus included cases charged prior to that time. The 2020 Congressional Report includes USAO cases charged only during the reporting period, not cases charged previously, to avoid double-counting cases reported in the 2019 Congressional Report.

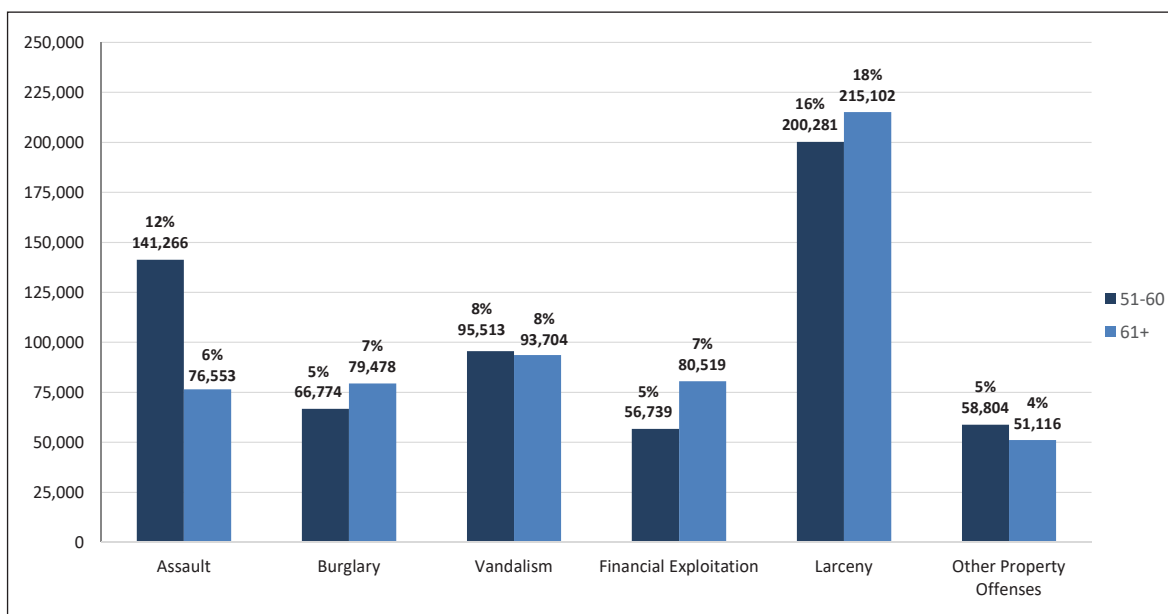

¹⁶ This includes data only for individuals and law enforcement officer victims. It does not include business, financial institution, government, religious organization, or other victim types. Victims are counted once for each offense type to which they are connected.

B. Case Highlights

Fraud Cases

Telemarketing Fraud

U.S. v. Cheedie, et al. (Southern District of New York)¹⁸

In November 2019, ten individuals were charged with conspiracy to commit wire fraud in connection with a telemarketing scheme targeting the elderly. According to the indictment, from at least 2012 until at least November 2019, the defendants carried out a wide-ranging telemarketing scheme that defrauded hundreds of victims (“Victims”) throughout the United States, many of whom were over age 70, by selling the Victims so-called “business services” (the “Business Opportunity Scheme”), and then targeting those same Victims in a “Debt Relief Scheme.” Two of the defendants also are each charged with obstruction of justice resulting from their deletion and attempts to delete data on devices seized by law enforcement in a lawful search.

In order to perpetrate the Business Opportunity Scheme, the defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in a widespread, coordinated effort to traffic in lists of potential victims, or “leads.” Some of the leads came through a website referred to by co-conspirators as the “Money Sucking Website.” The defendants then targeted Victims with the sale of “services” purporting to make the management of Victims’ businesses more efficient or profitable, including tax preparation or website design services, notwithstanding that many Victims were elderly and did not own a computer or have a business. At no point did the Victims actually earn any of the promised return on their intended investment.

In addition, certain defendants told the Victims that the Victims had qualified for a government grant, often in connection with starting a small business, and that the Victims should purchase the business services offered as part of the Business Opportunity Scheme as a way to earn money while waiting for the grant money to be received. In fact, no such government grants existed. When there were no more services to sell as part of the Business Opportunity Scheme and/or a Victim had reached the maximum limit on his or her credit cards, the defendants and their co-conspirators preyed on the Victims with a new scheme, by offering to consolidate or settle the Victims’ debt in exchange for an up-front payment (the “Debt Relief Scheme”). The perpetrators of the Debt Relief Scheme did not settle or consolidate the debt.

Mass-Mailing Fraud

U.S. v. Newman (District of Connecticut)¹⁹

In March 2020, Norman Newman was charged with conspiracy to commit mail and wire fraud and multiple counts of wire fraud, for knowingly providing lists of potential victims to perpetrators of fraudulent mass-mailing schemes that tricked consumers into paying fees for falsely promised cash prizes and purportedly personalized “psychic” services. Newman allegedly furnished consumers’ names and addresses to fraudster clients for more than 11 years, knowing that the clients were mailing hundreds of thousands of deceptive prize notifications that misled victims into believing that they would receive a cash prize or personalized services upon payment of a fee. Many of the victims were elderly and vulnerable. According to the indictment, Newman worked in the offices of a list-brokerage company from 2005 until September 2016, when agents of the United States Postal Inspection Service searched the company’s offices and seized the lists, resulting in the Civil Division’s Consumer Protection Branch obtaining a federal court order enjoining the company from list brokerage usage related to sweepstakes- and astrology-themed notifications.

Government Imposter Scam

U.S. v. Choksi, et al. (Eastern District of Virginia)²⁰

In November 2019, a federal grand jury in the Eastern District of Virginia returned an indictment charging a married couple with conspiracy to commit mail and wire fraud, in connection with their roles in a sophisticated fraud scheme that primarily targeted the elderly. The husband was also charged with aggravated identity theft. According to court documents and allegations in the indictment, the husband and wife were part of a criminal conspiracy who had members that impersonated law enforcement officials to trick and coerce victims into mailing and shipping cash to other conspiracy members. The schemes generally started with “robocalls”, in which the callers typically warned a victim of some type of serious legal problem, and that if the victim did not immediately take a particular action demanded by the caller, then there will be drastic consequences, including the arrest of the victim, significant financial penalties, or cessation of government benefits. The fraudsters almost invariably instructed the victim that, in order to prevent these dire consequences, the victim must pay money, by wire transfer or cash, to some purported government entity.

The conspiracy operated cells in multiple states, including New Jersey, California, Indiana, Texas, Illinois and Minnesota. In one particular alleged scheme, members of the conspiracy impersonated DEA agents and advised one victim that a vehicle located near the southwest border contained cocaine and her bank information. The fraudsters then convinced this victim to surrender half the cash in her bank accounts “in good faith” allegedly until a thorough investigation could be completed to clear her name of any criminal activity.

According to the indictment, the husband used counterfeit driver’s licenses to identify himself when picking up cash shipments from victims, and then made multiple deposits of that cash into bank accounts controlled by conspiracy members. The indictment also alleges that the wife tracked shipments of cash sent by victims through the websites

“The law enforcement agencies on the Strike Force in the Southern District of Texas are cooperating on investigating fraudulent schemes and scams against our elderly citizens throughout the nation, and they are leading to significant Indictments in our District. We anticipate many more investigations and Indictments in the coming months of major cell groups that are defrauding elderly citizens of millions of dollars. Working together, we believe we will make a significant impact in our District in prosecuting these fraudsters and protecting our elderly citizens.”

of FedEx and the U.S. Postal Service, and made multiple deposits of victims’ cash into conspiracy-controlled bank accounts.

U.S. v. Patel, et al. (Southern District of Texas)²¹

In January 2020, an Indian national, Hitesh Patel, entered a guilty plea in the Southern District of Texas to for his role in operating and funding India-based call centers which defrauded thousands of victims out of millions of dollars between 2013 and 2016, targeting mostly South Asian immigrants and the elderly. Specifically, the defendant pleaded guilty to conspiracy to commit wire fraud as well as a general conspiracy to commit identification fraud, impersonating a federal officer or employee, access device fraud, and money laundering.

Patel and his conspirators perpetrated a complex scheme in which employees from call centers in Ahmedabad, India, impersonated officials from the IRS and U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS), Canada Revenue Agency and Australian Tax Office personnel as well as payday loan and U.S. government grant and debt collection agencies. Posing as these officials, Patel’s co-conspirators threatened U.S. victims with arrest, imprisonment, fines or deportation if they did not pay money allegedly owed to the government. Those who fell victim to the scammers were instructed on how to provide payment, including by purchasing general purpose reloadable (GPR) cards or wiring money. Upon payment, the call centers would immediately turn to a network of “runners” based in the United States to liquidate and launder the fraudulently-obtained funds. Patel received monthly income and expense reports to his personal email from the call centers and used his Indian cell phone number to access GPR cards through automated telephone systems on many occasions. Patel admitted in his plea that he was accountable for fraud proceeds in the amount of approximately $25-$65 million.

²¹ <https://www.justice.gov/usao-sdtx/pr/indian-national-convicted-role-call-center-scam-victimized-thousands-us>

Patel was extradited from Singapore in April 2019 to face charges in this large-scale telefraud and money laundering scheme. Singapore authorities apprehended Patel at the request of the United States pursuant to a provisional arrest warrant in September 2018 after Patel flew there from India. Sentencing is pending.

A total of 24 domestic defendants associated with this transnational criminal scheme had been convicted previously and sentenced to up to 20 years in prison in the Southern District of Texas, District of Arizona and Northern District of Georgia. They also were ordered to pay millions of dollars in victim restitution and money judgments and to forfeit seized assets. Some defendants were removed from the country based on their illegal immigration status, while another defendant had his U.S. citizenship revoked due to a separate conviction for immigration fraud. Charges remain pending for other India-based defendants.

Romance Scams

U.S. v. Iro, et al. (Central District of California)²²

In August 2019, the United States Attorney's Office for the Central District of California announced a 252-count federal grand jury indictment charging 80 defendants, most of whom are Nigerian nationals, with participating in a massive conspiracy to steal millions of dollars through a variety of fraud schemes and launder the funds through a Los Angeles-based money laundering network. The indictment alleges that the 80 defendants and others used various online fraud schemes – including romance scams and other schemes targeting the elderly – to defraud victims out of millions of dollars.

A “romance scam” is a type of online fraud that occurs when an individual user of an internet dating website is targeted for fraud by an imposter posing as a potential paramour. The scammer creates a fake online dating profile that depicts photographs

“The Strike Force in Los Angeles works closely with our state, local, and federal law enforcement partners to find hidden connections among victims and schemes in order to build cases targeting bad actors here and abroad. Our outreach and educational events provide information on active scams to our law enforcement partners, elder justice organizations, and directly to potential victims to help them avoid getting scammed in the first place. All of these law enforcement efforts are designed to defend the hard-earned savings of older Americans against criminal organizations.”

Nicola T. Hanna, U.S. Attorney for the Central District of California

of an attractive man or woman alongside descriptions of the fictitious person. The scammer then uses this fake persona to express romantic interest in the victim in order to trick him or her into sending money to the scammer. The scammer frequently targets vulnerable individuals who possess significant financial assets, such as retired widows or widowers.

The money was sent to a variety of bank accounts controlled by co-conspirators. The indictment and criminal complaint allege that the schemes resulted in the fraudulent transfer of at least $6 million in fraudulently-obtained funds – and the overall conspiracy was responsible for the attempted theft of at least an additional $40 million.

U.S. v. Adebara, et al. (Northern District of Oklahoma)²³

In November 2019, the United States Attorney’s Office for the Northern District of Oklahoma unsealed an indictment charging ten men with conspiring to launder illegal proceeds that were obtained as a result of Nigerian romance scam operations. Seven suspects were apprehended in three states. Three other defendants remain at large.

The indictment alleges the co-conspirators coordinated with unknown individuals overseas who had assumed false identities on online dating websites and social media platforms with the intent to defraud victims. The overseas individuals, who were in Nigeria, contacted victims online, and told the victims they were U.S. residents working abroad. At the early stages of the “romance,” the offenders requested relatively small gifts from the victims, such as iTunes gift cards and cell phones. As the relationships continued, the requests sought increasingly larger sums of money, with the claimed purpose that the funds were needed to complete overseas projects or to return to the United States. The victims were directed by the online romance scammers to send funds to the defendants’ bank accounts, and the defendants funneled the money to other accounts that they operated. These accounts allegedly were opened under various aliases in order to obscure the source of the fraudulently obtained funds. In a further attempt to conceal the source of the money, the co-conspirators also purchased salvaged vehicles and car parts to export overseas, usually to Nigeria, the indictment alleges. The Criminal Division Frauds Section worked on this investigation with the Northern District of Oklahoma.

U.S. v. Agbi (Southern District of Indiana)

In August 2019, a grand jury sitting in the Southern District of Indiana returned an indictment against Edward Agbi for fraud in connection with a romance scheme. The indictment alleges that between February 1, 2018 and March 1, 2019, a group of people targeted an elderly male victim, with one of the offenders posing as a single woman on an internet dating site. After pretending to develop a relationship with the victim, the female asked the victim to send her money on multiple occasions. The defendant acted as a “money mule” by receiving some money at his residence in Indiana, including a package of $20,000 cash, with the intent of forwarding the money to other participants in the scheme.

“The Eastern District of New York has a diverse population that includes a large number of senior citizens who may be vulnerable targets for foreign-based fraud rings utilizing a variety of wire and mail schemes that can result in catastrophic financial losses to the victims. The Transnational Elder Fraud Task Force brings together investigative resources from the local, national, and international law enforcement communities to unwind these schemes and hold accountable the overseas predators and their enablers in the U.S.”

Investment Fraud

U.S. v. Cucinella (Eastern District of New York)²⁴

In August 2019, the United States Attorney’s Office for the Eastern District of New York announced that John Cucinella, the former investment manager of Mackrow Asset Management Group (Mackrow), a purported asset management firm located in Brooklyn, pleaded guilty to securities fraud in a scheme that targeted vulnerable victims, including the elderly. As part of his plea, Cucinella agreed to forfeit $948,530 that he misappropriated from investors.

According to court filings and facts presented at the plea proceeding, between approximately March 2015 and April 2018, Cucinella falsely represented to Mackrow investors, many of whom were elderly, that their funds would be used to invest in pre-initial public offering (pre-IPO) shares of private companies, including a company purportedly that manufactured bug spray. In a brochure that Cucinella provided to clients, Mackrow was described as “providing you all the resources of a true financial concierge.” During the same time period, Cucinella transferred more than $400,000 from the Mackrow account to bank accounts he controlled, and spent approximately $108,000 for credit card payments and $40,000 at a Mercedes-Benz dealership in Brooklyn. More than 80 individuals invested a total of approximately $778,000 with Mackrow, and received only $80,818 in return.

U.S. v. Stow (Middle District of Tennessee)²⁵

In June 2020, the United States Attorney’s Office for the Middle District of Tennessee announced charges against a former investment firm vice president for stealing $933,500 from two elderly clients. A criminal Information charged Fredrick M. Stow, 65, with securities fraud, wire fraud, and aggravated identity theft. According to the charging documents, beginning in 1982, Stow acted as the registered representative for three brokerage accounts owned by a client who was a retired airline pilot and WWII era veteran. Stow changed firms numerous times and the client elected to move his accounts with Stow each time. Over time, Stow inserted himself into the personal and financial affairs of this client and in the later years of the client's life, he frequently visited him at his home, where he lived alone but received full-time nursing care.

In October 2015, Stow began misappropriating funds from this client's IRA account by forging wire transfer letters of authorization to permit transfers from the client's IRA account to a SunTrust Bank account that Stow owned jointly with his wife. Stow also began selling securities in the client's IRA account and transferring the proceeds to Stow's own bank account.

At the time of this client's death at the age of 98 in March 2018, Stow had made 74 unauthorized transfers and had stolen more than $900,000 from him. The charging documents also allege that within weeks of this client's death, Stow stole $32,000 from another elderly brokerage customer, by transferring money from the customer's brokerage account to another bank account that Stow owned.

U.S. v. Cohen, et al. (District of Maryland)

In November 2019, the Criminal Division's Fraud Section unsealed an indictment charging 15 individuals for their roles in a scheme to defraud victims in the United States and abroad by fraudulently marketing approximately $140 million in financial instruments known as "binary options."

The indictment alleges that, beginning in 2014, the defendants and their co-conspirators worked for an Israel-based company named Yukom Communications (Yukom), which they used to sell and market binary options to victims through two websites, known as BinaryBook and BigOption. According to the indictment, the defendants and their co-conspirators misled investors, many of whom were elderly, in a variety of ways, including by falsely claiming to represent their interests when, in fact, the owners of Yukom profited when the victims lost money; by misrepresenting the expected return on investments through BinaryBook and BigOption; by providing victims with false names and qualifications and falsely claiming to be working from London; and by misrepresenting whether and how victims could withdraw funds from their accounts.

Bank Fraud

U.S. v. Gallego (Western District of Texas)²⁶

In September 2019, former Austin Capital One bank employee, Paola Gallego, was sentenced to five years in federal prison for stealing over $1 million from an elderly bank customer. Court records and testimony show that beginning in April 2014, Gallego began servicing the accounts of an elderly couple. Gallego told one of her victims that if the spouse should die, another family member could take control of the money in their bank account—approximately $4.4 million. In September 2016, Gallego assisted the victim in putting $400,000 into a new account at a second bank. Over the next two weeks, Gallego spent $94,779.13 of the victim's money on Gallego's own personal and family expenditures including a $50,000 wire transfer to a bank account at a third bank controlled by Gallego, and also used $20,586.81 to make an online credit card payment to an account in the name of her mother.

Gallego and her victim subsequently opened another joint checking account, this time at J.P. Morgan Chase (Chase Bank), where she falsely told a Chase Bank employee that she was her victim's caretaker and a stay-at-home mother. Between October 14, 2016 and April 20, 2017, Gallego's victim withdrew $1.2 million from the joint Capital One account via cashier's checks with the understanding that Gallego would deposit those funds into their joint account at Chase Bank for investment purposes. Instead, Gallego deposited those checks into her own Chase Bank account and used the money for personal expenses, including purchasing a Range Rover Sport HSE, shopping for personal items, a Hawaiian vacation, making home improvements including a pool, making mortgage payments, paying off a family member's credit card balances, and purchasing a Volkswagen Passat for her parents.

At sentencing, the court imposed a five-year prison term and ordered Gallego to pay a monetary judgment forfeiture in the amount of $1.2 Million; pay $1,403,979.13 in restitution to Capital One Bank (which had reimbursed the victims for their losses); and be placed on supervised release for a period of four years after completing her prison term.

Home Repair Fraud

U.S. v. Garcia and Smith-Flores (Middle District of North Carolina)²⁷

In April 2020, the United States Attorney's Office for the Middle District of North Carolina charged two individuals in a criminal complaint with conspiracy to commit wire fraud in connection with a home repair scheme. The complaint alleges that from on or about September 2015 to and including April 2020, Jorge Alberto Garcia and Helen Smith-Flores, both of Chapel Hill, North Carolina, approached elderly, retired individuals at their private residences in Durham, Orange, and Chatham Counties, offering home improvement services. Garcia—who never had a state general contractor’s license—offered to perform home improvement projects and these elderly individuals would, in turn, pay him prior to the completion of any construction work via personal checks, credit cards, or withdrawals from investment accounts.

²⁷ <https://www.justice.gov/usao-mdnc/pr/chapel-hill-couple-federally-charged-elder-fraud-home-repair-scheme>

Garcia developed personal relationships with these elderly victims, calling them “Momma” and “Poppa,” and encouraged them to solicit their neighbors to engage his services in home improvement projects for their residences, as well. However, Garcia would not complete the contracted home improvement projects. Garcia also solicited loans from some of the elderly individuals for whom he had already contracted to perform home improvement projects, separate and apart from those projects, but he would not repay any loans in full. When the contracting victim, a concerned relative of that person, or a local law enforcement officer confronted Garcia about the payments, Garcia and Smith-Flores would respond in the following ways: a) Garcia would promise to send workers to complete the project but never fully completed the project; b) Garcia or Smith-Flores would return a small percentage of the monies paid for the project; and/or c) Garcia or Smith-Flores would write a personal check to the contracting individual that would be returned by the issuing bank as lacking sufficient funds.

Review of records from bank accounts known to be controlled by Garcia and/or Smith-Flores for the time period spanning February 2016 through November 2019 indicates that, as a result of the above-described scheme to defraud, Garcia and Smith-Flores obtained a total of approximately $2,200,000 from more than fifty victims.

Tech Support Fraud

U.S. v. Bagdon (Middle District of Florida)²⁸

In December 2019, the United States Attorney’s Office for the Middle District of Florida announced the indictment of Linda Bagdon charging money laundering arising out of a variety of fraud schemes targeting the elderly, including a Tech Support scheme. The indictment alleges that the scheme’s perpetrators misled victims into believing that they had a computer virus through false and fraudulent and at times threatening misrepresentations, and led the victims into believing that they had to pay to have it fixed. According to the indictment, Bagdon retrieved and received fraud proceeds of victims made to money service businesses, deposited the fraud proceeds into third-party bank accounts and passed cash proceeds to co-conspirators.

Grandparent Scam

U.S. v. Taylor (Northern District of Ohio)²⁹

In March 2020, the United States Attorney’s Office for the Northern District of Ohio announced wire fraud charges against Oreatio Cecil Taylor, in connection with defrauding an 86-year-old woman out of $7,000. The complaint states that Taylor called the victim and told her that her granddaughter was being arrested and required $7,000 for bond. Taylor put a female on the phone who began to cry, convincing the victim it was her granddaughter. Taylor then went to the victim’s home to pick up the money.

Taylor later called the victim again, stating that her granddaughter was facing more serious charges resulting in a higher bond, and needed more money. Relatives of the victim contacted law enforcement, who were waiting in the victim’s home for Taylor, and arrested him there.

Veteran Scam

U.S. v. Brown (Western District of Texas)³⁰

The United States Attorney’s Office for the Western District of Texas and the Department of Justice Civil Division Consumer Protection Branch jointly worked on an investigation that led to the charges and pleas against multiple defendants who stole personal information of thousands of U.S. military personnel and veterans, mostly elderly and disabled veterans. On October 29, 2019, Fredrick Brown, a former civilian medical records administrator for the U.S. Army at the 65th Medical Brigade, Yongsan Garrison, South Korea, pled guilty in the Western District of Texas to one count of conspiracy to commit wire fraud and one count of conspiracy to launder monetary instruments in connection with his role in the identity-theft and fraud scheme. Brown admitted in his plea that from July 2014 to September 2015, he stole personal identifying information (PII) of thousands of military members, including names, social security numbers, DOD ID numbers, dates of birth, and contact information. Brown admitted to capturing the PII by taking digital photographs of his computer screen while he was logged into the Armed Forces Health Longitudinal Technology Application. Brown further admitted that he subsequently provided that stolen data to co-defendants, who exploited the information in various ways to access Department of Defense and Veterans Affairs benefits sites and steal millions of dollars. Sentencing is pending for Brown.

On December 5, 2019, another defendant, Trorice Crawford, pleaded guilty to one count of conspiracy to launder monetary instruments in connection with the scheme, for his role in recruiting individuals to accept the deposit of stolen funds into their bank accounts and then send the funds through international wire remittance services to the defendants and others. On July 9, 2020, the court imposed a sentence of 46 months on Crawford, followed by three years supervised release and also ordered Crawford to pay restitution of $103,700. The remaining defendants – Robert Wayne Boling, Jr (a U.S. citizen), Allan Albert Kerr (Australian citizen) and Jongmin Seok (South Korean citizen), are all in custody abroad on varying charges, and it is anticipated that the United States will seek extradition.

Sweepstakes Scam

U.S. v. Brown (District of Maryland)³¹

In March 2020, the United States Attorney’s Office for the District of Maryland announced that a federal jury convicted Keno Romario Brown on federal charges of conspiracy to commit mail and wire fraud, wire fraud, and mail fraud, in connection with a scheme to defraud more than 100 elderly victims through an advance fee scheme. Specifically, Brown falsely represented that the victims

“We are working to combat the financial exploitation of older and vulnerable adults by bringing impactful cases and through targeted outreach with our community and law enforcement partners. We see this as our duty and our responsibility to protect our greatest generation and provide them with the tools necessary to stop these nefarious crooks in their tracks.”

Robert K. Hur, U.S. Attorney for the District of Maryland

³¹ <https://www.justice.gov/usao-md/pr/fraudster-convicted-after-federal-trial-scamming-more-100-elderly-victims-through-lottery>

had won a lottery or sweepstakes and demanded taxes or other fees before the victims could receive the prize.

According to the evidence presented at trial, Brown and two co-conspirators contacted victims and falsely stated that they were representatives of Company 1 or Company 2, which sponsored a lottery or sweepstakes. Brown and his co-conspirators misrepresented to victims that they had won a prize sponsored by Company 1 or Company 2, but in order to collect the prize, the victims had to pay advance fees and taxes to Brown or his co-conspirators. The conspirators directed the victims to send the advance fees and taxes electronically, or through an interstate mail carrier to “runners” who received the fraudulent proceeds and provided them to Brown and his co-conspirators. Evidence was presented that Brown used physical abuse to control at least one of the runners.

The trial evidence proved that to launder the fraud proceeds, Brown and a co-conspirator obtained debit cards using the personal information of elderly individuals without their knowledge or consent, and deposited the fraud proceeds onto those debit cards.

Lottery Scam

U.S. v. Luton (District of Colorado)³²

The United States Attorney’s Office for the District of Colorado announced on February 21, 2020, that a Jamaican national living in Brooklyn, New York had been convicted at trial for his role in a lottery scheme that targeted an elderly woman. After a four-day jury trial in federal court in Denver, Leonard Luton, age 43, was convicted of one count of conspiracy to commit mail fraud and eight counts of aiding and abetting mail fraud. Luton is scheduled for sentencing on October 15, 2020.

According to court documents and facts presented at trial, Luton and another Jamaican national conspired to convince an elderly victim that she had won a $2.8 million dollar lottery and a Mercedes Benz. They told the victim that in order to receive her winnings, the victim needed to pay thousands of dollars in “fees.” Throughout 2018, one of Luton’s co-conspirators directed the victim to mail multiple packages containing cash and cashier’s checks to addresses that, unbeknownst to the victim, belonged to Luton’s friends. The victim also was directed to purchase and mail six iPhones as part of the scheme.

The evidence admitted at trial established that in October of 2018, one of Luton’s co-conspirators went to the victim’s door at 1:30 a.m., identified himself as an FBI agent, showed her a fake FBI badge, and directed her to hand over a package containing $65,000 in cash. In January of 2019, Luton was arrested at the victim’s residence when he arrived to pick up more cash. Upon his arrest, Luton was in possession of one of the iPhones purchased by the victim. Financial records from the victim and Luton also established Luton’s involvement in the scheme. In total, the victim lost more than $700,000.

Tax Fraud

U.S. v. Kellem (District of Massachusetts)³³

In September 2019, the United States Attorney's Office for the District of Massachusetts announced that Jeffrey Kellem, 49, pleaded guilty to four counts of wire fraud and one count of filing a false tax return in connection with embezzling $1.6 million from elderly clients and failing to pay taxes on the embezzled funds. Kellem used his position as an accountant for an elderly client, and the estate of a deceased client, to steal more than approximately $1.6 million for his own use. Kellem transferred his clients' funds, without their authorization, to bank accounts he opened and controlled. He also failed to report more than $500,000 in income from the funds he took on his tax returns. As a result, in 2017, Kellem avoided paying taxes totaling more than $150,000.

On December 4, 2019, a federal court in Boston sentenced Kellem to 42 months in prison, three years of supervised release, and ordered him to pay restitution in the amount of $1,289,002 and a fine of $250,000.

Money Mule Cases

U.S. v. Hannan and Jennings (Eastern District of Texas)³⁴

In October 2019, a federal grand jury sitting in the Eastern District of Texas returned an indictment against Pamela Sue Hannan, 66, of Sherman, Texas, and Pamela Sue Jennings, 68, of Houston, Texas, charging both defendants with conspiracy to commit money laundering. On August 6, 2020, both defendants pled guilty to conspiring with foreign co-conspirators to operate an unlicensed money transmitting business. Each defendant faces a maximum of 5 years in federal prison.

According to the indictment, Hannan and Jennings laundered funds received from victims of romance scams and other fraudulent schemes on behalf of their co-conspirators, who were based outside of the United States. The main victim, and other victims, were elderly. In order to facilitate the scheme, Hannan and Jennings opened bank accounts in the names of businesses which purported to provide legitimate services. In reality, these businesses were used to facilitate the money laundering scheme. Together, Hannan and Jennings received more than $880,000 from victims of the schemes. The majority of the funds they received were subsequently transferred overseas to their co-conspirators.

U.S. v. Odiahi (Western District of Wisconsin)³⁵

On January 15, 2020, Emmanuel Odiah, a citizen of Nigeria residing in Dallas, Texas, pled guilty to an indictment returned in the Western District of Wisconsin for money laundering in connection with a wire-fraud scheme that targeted the elderly.

³³ <https://www.justice.gov/usao-ma/pr/newton-accountant-sentenced-wire-fraud-and-filing-false-tax-return>

³⁴ <https://www.justice.gov/usao-edtx/pr/two-texas-women-indicted-money-laundering-scheme>

³⁵ <https://www.justice.gov/usao-wdwi/pr/nigerian-national-sentenced-fraud-scheme>

While in the United States on a visa, Odiah laundered money for a network of individuals in Nigeria and Ghana perpetrating computer-based fraud schemes, including romance schemes, against elderly victims throughout the United States. Odiah's role was to help collect, conceal, and redirect the proceeds using bank accounts he maintained under two fake identities in the United States. He was able to keep a percentage of the fraud proceeds as a fee for his assistance. As part of the scheme, Odiah opened and maintained seven U.S. bank accounts to launder fraud proceeds. He opened these accounts using fraudulent passports in the names "James Princeton" and "Ryan Greg Mornson." Between 2017 and 2019, more than $600,000 in fraud proceeds were deposited into these accounts. Once money was deposited, Odiah, posing as Princeton and Mornson, used a series of smaller, less conspicuous financial transactions to distribute fraud proceeds to those perpetrating the fraud schemes overseas.

On May 20, 2020, the court sentenced Odiah to 54 months in federal prison. In announcing the sentence, the Court found that although Odiah's role in the charged scheme was limited to money laundering, Odiah was aware that the money being deposited into his bank accounts was fraud proceeds from vulnerable victims. The Court also considered the tremendous psychological and financial devastation to victims caused by romance fraud and other computer-based fraud schemes.

Guardianship Fraud

U.S. v. Derby (Northern District of Iowa)³⁶

In September 2019, a married couple, H. David Derby and Patti Derby, each pled guilty in the federal district court for the Northern District of Iowa to one count of wire fraud. In their plea agreements and at their sentencing hearings, the evidence showed that the Derbys stole over $200,000 from H. David Derby's mother between September 2013 and September 2017. The victim was an elderly widow and former school teacher who resided in an assisted living facility in Dubuque. She suffered from mental and physical disabilities and was unable to manage her own financial affairs or care for herself.

The Derbys used various legal forms, including two powers of attorney, to gain access to the victim's bank account and carry out their fraud scheme. After transferring more than $200,000 out of the victim's account on the false pretense that the Derbys would use the funds for her benefit, the Derbys used those funds for their own purposes, including tickets to a rock concert. Within a short time, the Derbys had spent all of the victim's funds and she was no longer able to afford her assisted living facility and was forced to move into the Derbys' home. Over the next three months, the victim lost over 23 pounds, broke her wrist, and was hospitalized. The victim later died in March 2020.

³⁶ <https://www.justice.gov/usao-ndia/pr/dubuque-couple-sentenced-federal-prison-after-stealing-hundreds-thousands-dollars-man-s>

On July 6, 2020, the United States District Court sentenced H. David Derby to 26 months' imprisonment. Patti Derby was sentenced to 24 months' imprisonment. They were ordered to pay approximately $211,620 in restitution. Each defendant must also serve a three-year term of supervised release after the prison term.

U.S. v. Ayudando (District of New Mexico)³⁷

After discovering in 2017 that one of New Mexico's largest guardianship/fiduciary companies had systematically stolen money from almost all their clients, the United States Attorney's Office for the District of New Mexico coordinated with the Complex Assets Unit of the U.S. Marshals Service (USMS) to obtain a restraining order conveying operation of the business to the USMS. In July 2017, the principals (CEO and CFO) were arrested and USMS stepped in to manage the business long enough to shepherd the clients into the hands of substitute providers. Ultimately, restitution was calculated at about $11 million.

Superseding indictments added the CEO's husband and son. All four pled guilty in 2019. On March 2, 2020, the CEO and her husband fled rather than appear for sentencing. USMS re-arrested them in April and they await sentencing. On March 2, 2020, the CFO was sentenced to 20 years in prison. On June 11, 2020, the CEO's son was sentenced to 6 years in prison for his role.

Business Email Compromise

U.S. v. Okang, et al. (Northern District of Georgia)³⁸

In March 2020, the United States Attorney's Office for the Northern District of Georgia announced charges against twenty-four individuals for their involvement in a large-scale fraud and money laundering operation that targeted individuals, including the elderly, as well as corporations and financial institutions throughout the United States. Using business email compromise schemes, romance fraud scams, and retirement account scams, the defendants duped numerous victims into losing more than $30 million. According to the United States Attorney, “Some of these schemes target the elderly and often deplete the victims’ entire life savings. These arrests affirm the Department of Justice’s commitment to prosecuting those who prey on our most vulnerable citizens.”

“Each year, millions of older Americans fall victim to financial fraud that originates overseas and makes its way into homes by phone, internet, and mail. With the Transnational Elder Fraud Strike Force, our district engages in coordinated efforts to protect older adults . . . resulting in dozens of prosecutions against individuals who conspired to steal and launder millions of dollars from older Americans. We have also worked to educate Seniors in our community about financial fraud to empower them to act as our first line of defense against these scams.”

According to the indictment and other information presented in court, the defendants served as money launderers for the business email compromise schemes, romance scams, and retirement account scams. A “business email compromise” (BEC) is a type of computer intrusion that occurs when an employee of a company is tricked into moving money to a bank account controlled by the fraudsters, pursuant to an email instruction that appears to be, but is not, legitimate.

A “retirement account scam” is a type of online fraud that occurs when a third party administrator (TPA) for retirement investment accounts is tricked into authorizing a money distribution to an imposter posing as the true accountholder, and then changes the bank account information to an account controlled by the imposter or the imposter’s conspirators. Fraudsters usually drain the entire retirement account scam, stealing the entire retirement savings of the victims.

The defendants and co-conspirators facilitated BEC schemes, romance scams, and retirement account scams by receiving and distributing fraudulent funds throughout the United States and the world. The defendants created multiple sham companies that did not have physical premises, earn legitimate income, or pay wages to employees. In turn, the defendants opened business bank accounts at multiple financial institutions to facilitate receipt of the fraudulent money. The defendants also opened personal bank accounts to receive fraudulent funds, often using false identities and victims’ identities. After funds were deposited into the defendants’ bank accounts, the money was quickly withdrawn from the accounts and circulated among the defendants.

Telemarketing Fraud Targeting Minorities

U.S. v. Guerra, Hidalgo, Hermoza, et al. (Southern District of Florida)³⁹

On December 20, 2019, the Department of Justice announced that three Peruvian men were extradited to the United States, where they stand charged by indictment in Miami, Florida, with operating a large fraud and extortion scheme. Johnny Enso Hidalgo Marchan, 40, of Lima, Peru; Francesco Flabio Guerra Perez, 24, of Lima, Peru; and Rodolfo Hermoza Vega, 45, of Cajamarca, Peru, were arrested on July 28, 2016, by Peruvian authorities based on the U.S.

“As the top law enforcement officer for the Southern District of Florida, I know all too well that nefarious fraud schemes operate both inside and outside the U.S. to target our precious seniors. I can say unequivocally that the Transnational Elder Fraud Strike Force is one of our strongest tools in combatting fraud against the elderly. No longer can criminals set up their fraud operations outside American borders, hoping to escape American justice. Through the Strike Force, we can reach across nations to locate, investigate, and bring to justice criminals abroad who prey on our elderly neighbors, friends and loved ones. My law enforcement partners and I are committed to keeping our seniors safe from crime, wherever that crime originates.”

Ariana Fajardo Orshan, U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of Florida

indictment for fraud. All three have been incarcerated in Peru since that time.

A 37-count federal indictment was previously filed against the defendants in the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Florida, charging Hidalgo, Guerra, and Hermoza with conspiracy, mail fraud, and wire fraud. Hidalgo and Guerra also face attempted extortion charges.

Hidalgo, Guerra, and Hermoza allegedly managed and operated Peruvian call centers called Everglades, which were based in Lima and Cajamarca, Peru, and which worked in partnership with Angeluz Florida Corporation in Miami. According to the indictment, Hidalgo, Guerra, and Hermoza, and their employees in Peru used Internet-based telephone calls to lie to and threaten Spanish-speaking victims in the United States. The callers falsely accused the victims of having failed to accept delivery of certain products and claimed that the victims owed thousands of dollars in fines and that court proceedings would be brought against them. In reality, the victims — many of whom were elderly — had never ordered these products and nothing had been delivered. The indictment alleges that the defendants and their call center employees claimed that the consumers could resolve the supposed debts and fines if they immediately paid a “settlement fee.” Consumers who contested these settlement fees were told that failure to pay could lead to harmed credit, arrest, deportation, or seizure of property.

Failure of Care Cases

Caregiver Fraud

U.S. v. Harrison and Williams (Western District of North Carolina)⁴⁰

On May 20, 2020, the United States Attorney’s Office for the Western District of North Carolina announced that Gerald

⁴⁰ <https://www.justice.gov/usao-wdnc/pr/two-mint-hill-residents-plead-guilty-federal-charges-stealing-more-400000-elderly>

Maxwell Harrison and Elizabeth Robin Williams, have pleaded guilty to federal charges for wire fraud conspiracy, interstate transportation of stolen property, and money laundering, arising out of their conspiracy with each other and other individuals to steal more than $400,000 from an elderly victim who suffered from dementia.

Harrison, Williams, and their co-conspirator, Donna Graves, engaged in a scheme to defraud an elderly widow who lived alone and suffered from dementia and other physical and mental challenges. Graves and Williams provided housekeeping services for the victim through a business owned and operated by Graves. The defendants isolated the victim from her friends and family and induced the victim to give them power and control over her financial and personal affairs. Once they gained access and control, Williams, Harrison, and Graves engaged in numerous illegal and unauthorized financial transactions that substantially depleted the victim's money and property. They emptied the victim's bank accounts and used the money to pay for personal expenses, they fraudulently "maxed out" at least one credit card in the victim's name, they fraudulently transferred or attempted to transfer the victim's assets to themselves, and they stole the victim's federal benefits. The defendants also pawned the victim's jewelry.

Additionally, Williams unlawfully used the victim's money to set up other businesses in her name, including a business selling handbags online and a business selling weight loss-related services.

Nursing Home Cases

U.S. ex rel. Krauss v. Guardian Elder Care Holdings, Inc., et al. (Eastern and Western Districts of Pennsylvania and the Civil Division)⁴¹

On February 19, 2020, Guardian Elder Care Holdings Inc., and related companies Guardian LTC Management Inc., Guardian Elder Care Management Inc., Guardian Elder Care Management I Inc., and Guardian Rehabilitation Services Inc., (Guardian) agreed to pay $15,466,278 to resolve False Claims Act allegations that they knowingly overbilled Medicare and the Federal Employees Health Benefits Program for medically unnecessary rehabilitation therapy services. Guardian operates more than 50 nursing facilities throughout Pennsylvania, as well as in Ohio and West Virginia.

The settlement resolved claims by the United States that from Jan. 1, 2011, through Dec. 31, 2017, Guardian caused certain facilities in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Ohio to bill for patients at the highest level of Medicare reimbursement, when services at that level were not medically necessary and were influenced by financial considerations rather than resident needs.

Contemporaneous with the civil settlement, Guardian agreed to enter into a chain-wide Corporate Integrity Agreement with the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Office of Inspector General. Such agreements promote compliance and protect vulnerable nursing home residents.

C. Reporting Period Case Statistics

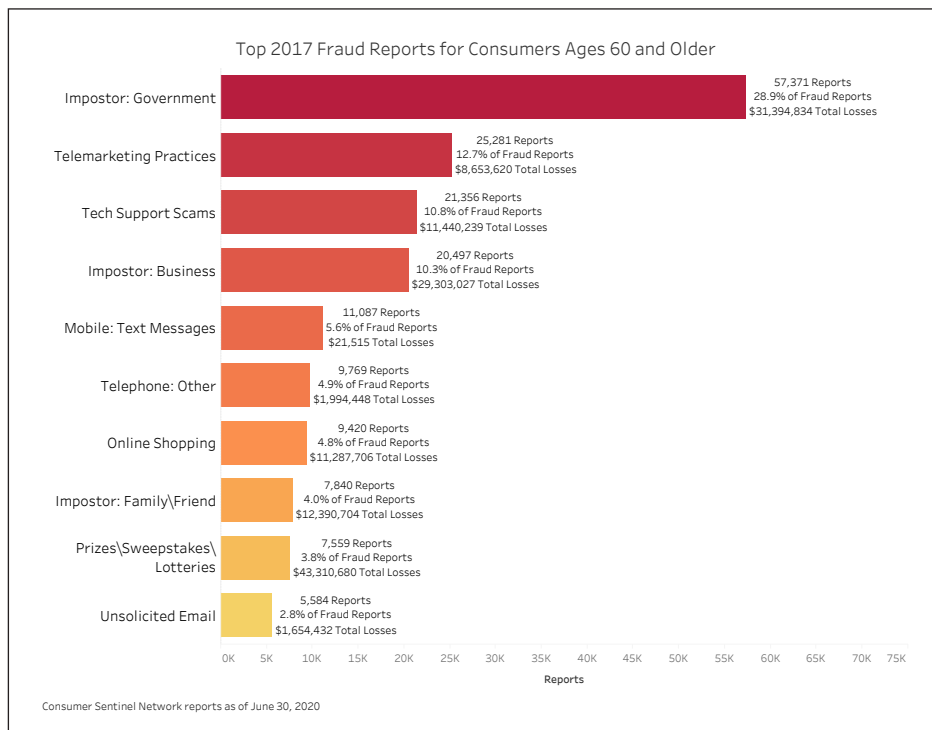

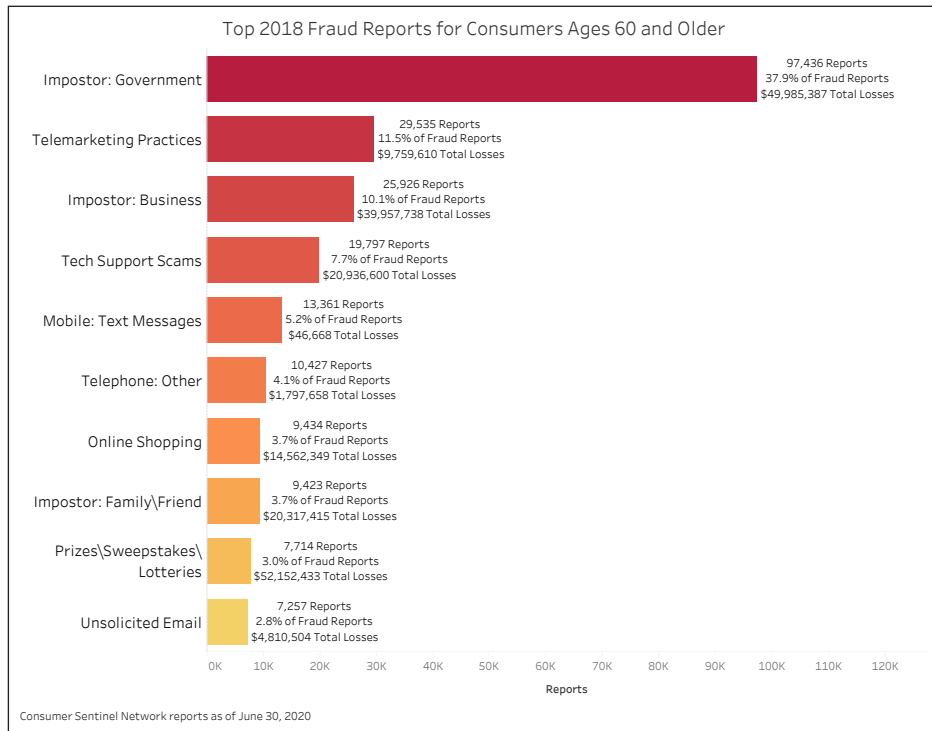

Consumer Sentinel Data 2019

The Department of Justice works closely with colleagues at the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) and other agencies to identify consumer protection problems and frauds affecting senior citizens. Data from the FTC's Consumer Sentinel Network indicates that, in 2019, seniors reported the highest aggregate losses from government imposter scams ($60.9 million), followed by telemarketing fraud schemes ($26.5 million) and business imposter scams ($34.3 million). Other types of internet and tech fraud also affected seniors, especially mobile text messaging scams and technical support scams.

Since calendar year 2017, seniors continue to report higher aggregate losses from government imposter scams and telemarketing fraud. Total losses reported to the Sentinel Network for government imposter scams have almost doubled from $31 million in 2017 to $60.9 million in 2019. Losses due to telemarketing fraud schemes have also increased dramatically from $8.6 million reported in 2017 to $26.5 million reported in 2019. The Department has taken note of this conduct and is committed to identifying perpetrators of these schemes, disrupting their activities, and bringing offenders to justice.

The bar graph reports exclude data that did not report consumer age. Percentages are based on the total number of complaints received into the Consumer Sentinel Network in which a consumer reported an age 60 or older. In 2019, that figure was 322,159.

The bar graph reports exclude data that did not report consumer age. Percentages are based on the total number of complaints received into the Consumer Sentinel Network in which a consumer reported an age 60 or older. In 2017, that figure was 254,774, and in 2018, that figure was 306,108.

Types of Elder Justice Cases in the Reporting Period (July 1, 2019 - June 30, 2020)

Source: Appendix A

D. Americans with Disabilities Act

The Civil Rights Division (CRT) contributes to the advancement of elder justice through its enforcement of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA). According to the U.S. Census Bureau's American Community Survey, 24.4% of people between the ages of 65 and 75, and 47.5% of people age 75 and older, reported having some type of disability in 2018. CRT works to protect the rights of older Americans with disabilities by, for example, ensuring that counties, cities, towns, and villages comply with the ADA and eliminate physical and communication barriers that prevent people with disabilities from participating fully in community life. CRT's Project Civic Access has ensured the accessibility of a broad range of public facilities, from libraries and parks to courthouses and polling places, in localities in all 50 states, as well as Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia. CRT also works to ensure that people with disabilities, including older Americans, are not unnecessarily institutionalized, in accordance with the ADA's requirement that public entities administer their services, programs, and activities in the most integrated settings appropriate to the needs of individuals with disabilities.

During the reporting period, the Department entered into 57 ADA settlement agreements and an additional 16 informal ADA resolutions. For example, in February 2020, the Department entered into a settlement agreement with Tufts Medical Center in Boston, Massachusetts. Among other things, the agreement will increase the availability of patient rooms, accessible bathrooms, and accessible medical equipment. Additionally, as part of the agreement, Tufts will strengthen the hospital's policies and procedures for ensuring that patients and family members or other companions who are deaf or have hearing loss can effectively communicate with hospital staff. This provision will help ensure that individuals with disabilities receive auxiliary aids and services—from written notes to qualified sign language interpreters—when needed to communicate effectively. If auxiliary aids and services are not provided, people with disabilities may not be able to understand, or share critical information with health care providers.

RESOURCES AND TRAINING FOR ELDER JUSTICE PROFESSIONALS

A. Overview

The Elder Abuse Prevention and Prosecution Act identifies the need for training and resources for a variety of elder justice professionals, including those at the state and local level. The Department provides and/or supports the development of training, resources, and tools to maximize the ability of federal, state, and local elder justice professionals to respond vigorously and effectively to elder abuse, neglect, and financial exploitation and fraud committed against older Americans.

B. Elder Justice Website

The Elder Justice Website is the Department's central hub for elder justice training, resources and information on elder abuse and financial fraud, with over a half million page views between July 2019 and June 2020. The EJI website supports the Department's enforcement and programmatic efforts to combat elder abuse, neglect and financial fraud and scams that target our nation's seniors. The website's primary audience includes elder justice professionals such as prosecutors, law enforcement officers, victim specialists, and multidisciplinary teams.

The Department also seeks to use its website to provide information directly to older Americans. Therefore, the website provides information and resources for older adults and their caretakers in four sections of the website: About Elder Abuse⁴² provides warning signs and scenarios for different types of abuse; the Neighborhood Map⁴³ provides access to different types of help in every state; Report abuse⁴⁴ connects older adults with reporting agencies in each state; and finally, a series of informative elder abuse pamphlets is available in English and Spanish.⁴⁵ The Elder Justice Initiative website provides education and resources to address elder abuse and fraud.⁴⁶

C. The Judiciary

The Judiciary play a critical role in various components of the court system including civil, family, criminal, and probate. Through a grant to Futures Without Violence, the Department's Office for Victims of Crime funded the development of STAGES (Strategies and Training to Advance Greater Elder Safety). The STAGES curriculum educates teams of judicial, justice and community professionals about financial exploitation and elder abuse (released June 2020).⁴⁷

D. Prosecutors

State and local prosecutors decide whether to bring criminal charges and represent the state during a prosecution. The Department is actively engaged in ensuring federal, state and local prosecutors are trained in pursuing elder abuse, neglect, and forms of financial exploitation. The Department provides training and develops resources that give prosecutors the skills to vigorously pursue these cases that are oftentimes challenging. In January 2020, the Department provided a training to the Michigan Attorney General's Office on SAFTA (described below). SAFTA transforms financial records data into tables and graphs that depict aberrant financial patterns. Available on the Elder Justice Website is the Prosecutor Video Series,⁴⁸ comprised of 25 relatively short videos that cover many of the critical elements of investigating and prosecuting cases of elder abuse or neglect. The website also hosts the Prosecutor Samples Directory,⁴⁹ replete with sample federal and state pleadings and documents related to elder abuse to ease the initial drafting of documents. Finally, the Prosecutor-Investigator Community⁵⁰ is an online forum that connects prosecutors and investigators across the country to learn from one another and to collaborate on issues involving elder abuse prosecution.

Elder Justice Coordinators

Each of the 94 U.S. Attorney's offices has appointed an Assistant U.S. Attorney to be its Elder Justice Coordinator, coordinating prosecution of Elder Justice cases and outreach on Elder Justice matters.

Elder Justice Coordinator Training at the National Advocacy Center

On November 13-15, 2019, the Department of Justice held an Elder Justice Coordinators Conference at the National Advocacy Center in Columbia, South Carolina, where EJsCs from around the country gathered for two and a half days of intense learning through classroom instruction, collaboration and small-group discussion on elder justice issues. The topics included Money Mules, Mass Mailing cases, International Call Center cases, Cyber Fraud, Working with Elderly Victims, Nursing Home cases, Outreach, Working with State & Local Partners, Elder Justice Strike Forces and Ethics. Department attorneys from a variety of United States Attorney's offices and Main Justice Components taught the classes and shared their knowledge and experience. The EJsCs left with additional knowledge, new ideas, and a strong continuing commitment to Elder Justice.

FINRA Webinar: Exposed to Scams: What Separates Victims from Non-Victims

On May 21, 2020, Executive Office for the United States Attorneys (EOUSA) hosted a webinar for the Elder Justice Coordinators, "Exposed to Scams: What Separates Victims from Non-Victims," featuring Christine Kieffer and Rob Mascio of FINRA Investor Education Foundation. Established in 2003 by

⁴⁸ <https://www.justice.gov/elderjustice/prosecutor-training-resources>

⁴⁹ <https://www.justice.gov/elderjustice/prosecutors/samples>

⁵⁰ <https://www.justice.gov/elderjustice/national-elder-dependent-adult-abuse-community>

the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, the FINRA Investor Education Foundation empowers underserved Americans with the knowledge, skills and tools to make sound financial decisions throughout life. The Foundation accomplishes this mission through educational programs and research that help consumers achieve their financial goals and that protect them in a complex and dynamic world.

FINRA Investor Education Foundation has conducted significant research on elder victims of financial fraud, very relevant to the EJC roles in interviewing victims and witnesses, arguing at sentencings and conducting education and outreach. The webinar presented research on the significance of senior outreach and education, and on understanding the victims in elder fraud cases.

Victimization by scams and fraud depends, in part, on two-way engagement between the target of the scam and the fraudster. Some individuals simply do not engage with a scammer; others engage but at some point recognize the deception and cease engagement. Still others engage with the fraud and lose money (sometimes a lot of money). This webinar discussed the factors that differentiate these three groups, and described the new research and the resulting implications for protecting seniors from scams and fraud.

Elder Justice Group Chats

For the two-week period beginning on April 13, 2020, during the pandemic shutdown, the EJCs engaged in a series of small group virtual chats, designed to facilitate connecting the EJCs to share ideas, brainstorm on new ideas, and touch base to continue the strong sense of community among EJCs from around the country. The EJCs were broken into 16 groups of about 8 prosecutors each, with a cross-section from around the country. Each small group had a group leader assigned. The group leader facilitated a virtual EJC group chat, through Skype or another medium, for 45 minutes to an hour, where the EJCs shared ideas, connected, and renewed their sense of community and commitment to the Elder Justice Initiative. After, each group sent an email to the leadership, summarizing the EJC group chat, including any ideas discussed for Elder Justice. The responses were overwhelmingly positive, demonstrating a renewed energy in these challenging times.

E. Law Enforcement Officers

Law enforcement officers are first responders and serve as gatekeepers to the criminal justice system. Therefore, EJI has focused on ensuring federal, state and local law enforcement officers are trained in recognizing and responding to these cases, and developing the knowledge, tools and resources to facilitate their investigations.

Resources

SAFTA

SAFTA (Senior Abuse Financial Tracking and Accounting Tool) was developed to provide law enforcement with a simplified tool for investigating suspicious financial patterns and prosecuting cases of elder financial exploitation. The toolkit includes the SAFTA tool⁵¹ (an Excel macro-enabled worksheet), a training guide, and subpoena template.

⁵¹ The SAFTA toolkit is available at <https://www.justice.gov/elderjustice/safta-senior-abuse-financial-tracking-and-accounting-tool-toolkit>.

SAFTA

(Senior Abuse Financial Tracking and Accounting) Toolkit

Guided by the adage “A picture is worth a 1000 words”, the Senior Abuse Financial Tracking and Accounting (SAFTA) tool provides law enforcement with a simplified forensic instrument for illuminating suspicious financial patterns and facilitating the prosecution of suspected elder financial exploitation.

Developed by a forensic accountant, the SAFTA tool is an Excel macro-enabled worksheet into which financial records are entered and pivot tables and graphs are automatically created to provide a visual depiction of financial data. The tool is downloaded onto the user’s computer to ensure a secure working environment.

SAFTA is not intended to turn law enforcement officers into forensic accountants. Rather, it is designed to enable law enforcement officers to gather financial records and convert those records into forensically relevant visual depictions of the financial records. SAFTA works best on cases of low to moderate complexity.

The SAFTA toolkit includes:

- the SAFTA tool, a downloadable Excel workbook with a user-friendly overlay for entering financial records within a secure environment
- the SAFTA guide, providing tips on investigating elder financial exploitation, step-by-step instructions for using the tool, and how to access help from forensic accountants and other experts for more complex cases
- an 18 minute digital (Vimeo) tutorial, demonstrating how to use the SAFTA tool
- two subpoena templates, facilitating access to and acquiring financial records
- free technical assistance, ensuring SAFTA users have a positive experience

Download the no-cost SAFTA toolkit at: <https://www.theiacp.org/elder-abuse>

SAFTA was produced by the International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP), with assistance from Webber CPA, PLLC and the National White Collar Crime Center (NW3C), and supported by the Elder Justice Initiative, U.S. Department of Justice. The opinions, findings, and conclusions or recommendations expressed in SAFTA are those of the contributors and do not necessarily represent the official position or policies of the U.S. Department of Justice.

The SAFTA Flyer, describing the toolkit, is available at <https://www.justice.gov/file/1286746/download>.

EAGLE⁵²

The Department continues to build out the EAGLE (Elder Abuse Guide for Law Enforcement). The EAGLE is a national web module designed to support officers in identifying, intervening, and resolving cases of elder abuse. The EAGLE contains checklists, state statutes, zip-code-based community resources locator, tips, educational materials, and much more.

Tribal Access Program for National Crime Information (TAP)

The Department of Justice Tribal Access Program for National Crime Information (TAP) has been deployed at over 90 Tribal sites and provides critical criminal justice information to authorized Tribal government agencies for use in protecting elderly Native Americans and other purposes.

The Office of Tribal Justice (OTJ) provides staff and policy support for TAP. TAP provides a means for tribal law enforcement agencies to access critical national criminal justice information maintained by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) Criminal Justice Information Services Division (CJIS). One of the systems housed at FBI CJIS is the National Data Exchange (N-DEX) which is a national investigative information sharing system which allows criminal investigators to share information such as police reports across jurisdictional lines. For example, an actual case involved a vulnerable elderly adult living in Indian country who had disappeared. Investigative leads led the tribal police department to the name of a person of interest. The location of the person of interest was not known, however, it was believed that the person lived outside of the tribe's jurisdiction. A tribal police officer utilized software provided by TAP to access the FBI CJIS N-DEX system. The tribal police officer ran a search based on the name of the person of interest. The N-DEX search produced a police report from a nearby jurisdiction which included the name and possible address of the person of interest. Law enforcement officers were sent to the address listed and rescued the vulnerable tribal elder.

OTJ also assisted in several ways with the Rural and Tribal Elder Justice Summit in 2018 and follow-up work. We developed a list of tribal contacts who do elder justice work for the Civil Division's Elder Justice Initiative (CIV EJI). The list was a primary source of tribal invitees and participants in the conference. OTJ also joined a panel presentation there entitled, "Harnessing the Power of Technology to Respond to Elder Abuse in Rural and Tribal Communities." Our presentation focused on the Tribal Access Program (TAP, described above). At the summit, OTJ also participated in a session entitled, "Tribal Talking Circle: Health Care Challenges and Solutions in Tribal Communities." OTJ continues to consult with CIV EJI and others as needed on these issues.

⁵² The EAGLE Dashboard is accessible online at <http://eagle.usc.edu/>.

The COPS Office Law Enforcement Webpages

Components within the Department host elder justice law enforcement resources on their websites. The COPS Office has created a single place that brings together a summary of Elder Justice Resources⁵³ on the COPS Office Training Portal, with links to the EJI resources, the relevant COPS Office The Beat podcasts,⁵⁴ Community Policing Dispatch articles,⁵⁵ and current and older COPS Office elder justice publications. The Elder Justice Website hosts a Law Enforcement page,⁵⁶ featuring their law enforcement resources some of which are described above.

The COPS Office's monthly electronic newsletter, the Community Policing Dispatch, was successfully delivered to over 8,000 subscribers from local law enforcement and community partners. Dispatch articles about resources and the trends to improve the safety of older vulnerable community members included the following:

- World Elder Abuse Awareness Day (WEAAD) (June 2020 | Volume 13 | Issue 6)⁵⁷
- Serving the Needs of the Older Adult Community: Ways to Handle Elder Abuse Calls (May 2020 | Volume 13 | Issue 5)⁵⁸

- Elder Justice Resources (June 2019 | Volume 12 | Issue 5)⁵⁹
- Teaming Up to Fight Financial Abuse of Older Adults (November 2017 | Volume 10 | Issue 11)⁶⁰
- Exploitation of Seniors: A Training Opportunity for Law Enforcement on Financial Crimes Against the Elderly (June 2017 | Volume 10 | Issue 6)⁶¹

The COPS Office also developed, printed, and have available in hard copy an Elder Justice Initiative Resources brochure⁶² designed to share information on Department Elder Justice tools and resources with law enforcement. The COPS Office distributed the EJI Resource brochure at the COPS Office booth at the International Association of Chiefs of Police's Annual Conference and Training held on October 26-29, 2019. The COPS Office also distributes hard copies of the brochure to the field or events through its Resource Center.⁶³ In April 2020, the COPS Office contributed to and distributed the COVID-19 Law Enforcement Appreciation and Elder Justice COVID resources flyer.⁶⁴ The COPS Office continues to support other Department outreach efforts to law enforcement regarding available Elder Justice resources by distributing EJI Resource Brochures upon request.

Raising Awareness of Law Enforcement Resources – National Dissemination of the Law Enforcement Flyer

To ensure the field is aware of the Department's elder justice resources for law enforcement, in January 2020, the Department blanketed the country with a Law Enforcement Flyer featuring a summary of elder justice resources for law enforcement. The Flyer was disseminated both through our national law enforcement organization partners as well as at least one law enforcement training entity in each state. These resources were also summarized and disseminated in a letter⁶⁵ authored by the COPS Office Director, Phil Keith.

The Law Enforcement Flyer is available for download at <https://www.justice.gov/file/1174026/download/eagle.usc.edu/>.

Office for Victims of Crime Elder Justice Resources

The Office for Victims of Crime (OVC) develops publications and multimedia products on emerging issues, promising practices, policy developments, and training and technical assistance and skills-building tools to help improve responses to victims of crime. The products from an array of OVC's national scope training and technical assistance discretionary grants, awarded under OVC's FY 2017 Field-Generated Innovations in Addressing Elder Abuse and Financial Exploitation grants were recently made available on the Elder Justice Initiative website at <https://www.justice.gov/elderjustice/mdt-resources>.

In addition to national-scope training and technical assistance grants, OVC has transferred discretionary funding to federal agencies to ensure allied professionals are skilled in addressing the needs and rights of crime victims, including older victims of abuse and exploitation. In 2018 and 2019, OVC provided EJI an additional $1.6 million to—

- produce an investigative protocol for elder abuse in partnership with the National Sheriffs' Association;
- develop information addressing guardianship in partnership with the American Bar Association's Committee in Law and Aging; and
- convene a meeting of state and local judges to focus on

guardianships, conservatorships, and power of attorneys.

OVC discretionary funding is also being used to—

- identify gaps in services for older victims of abuse, neglect, and financial exploitation/fraud;
- conduct listening sessions and/or stakeholder meetings with representatives of state and local government entities, community-based victim service providers, other allied professionals, and federal partners; convene five victim-specific listening sessions with older victims at geographically diverse locations throughout the country; and
- deliver (to OVC) a gap analysis comparing existing services to those identified by older adults and professionals and a set of recommendations that, if adopted, would result in a comprehensive set of responses designed to optimize outcomes for older victims.

The resources are expected to be completed by 2022.

Office on Violence Against Women Elder Justice Resources

The Office on Violence Against Women (OVW) develops curricula, publications, and multimedia products on identifying, prosecuting, adjudicating, and addressing elder abuse, neglect, exploitation and training and technical assistance to help improve the response to victims of abuse in later life, including domestic violence, sexual assault, dating violence and stalking. Through OVW's Training and Technical Assistance Initiative, OVW partnered with the National Clearinghouse on Abuse in Later Life, Futures Without Violence, and the National Council of Juvenile and Family Court Judges to develop or update the following to enhance victim safety and offender accountability:

- National Institute on Prosecuting Elder Abuse;
- information for judges and magistrates addressing guardianship;
- on-line training modules for front line officers, detectives, and investigators to enhance their ability to respond to and investigate abuse in later life;
- webinars on creating and enhancing abuse in later life coordinated community response teams; and
- cross-training for victim service providers, agencies of states or units of local government, and other professionals that provide direct services to older individuals to assist them in better serving victims of abuse in later life.

These resources are expected to be completed by the end of 2021.

OVW also awards discretionary funding through the Enhanced Training and Services to End Abuse in Later Life Program (Abuse in Later Life) to states; units of local government;

tribal governments or tribal organizations; population specific organizations; victim service providers; and domestic violence or sexual assault coalitions to support a comprehensive approach to addressing abuse in later life, including domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, stalking, neglect, and exploitation committed against victims who are 50 years of age or older.

Training

FBI Elder Justice Investigation Training

Over the past year, the Department has been vigorously engaged in training FBI agents and other criminal justice system professionals on investigating elder financial fraud and abuse. The first phase of the training discussed elder abuse and financial exploitation and how to address some of the issues in developing those cases. The second phase also covers those topics, but focuses more intentionally on how to work with older victims and their witnesses, including interviewing techniques and health and aging considerations. Well over 1,000 federal, state and local law enforcement professionals have received this instruction across seven trainings. For example:

U.S. Attorney's Offices Law Enforcement Training

Most of the districts met more than once during the year with law enforcement to collaborate about Elder Justice, often through established Working Groups dedicated to Elder Abuse. Many United States Attorney's offices also conducted training, sometimes multiple trainings, for federal, state and local law enforcement on elder abuse issues, including:

The United States Attorney's Office for the District of Maine hosted representatives of federal, state and local law enforcement and government, social service agencies and consumer groups, both at the Elder Abuse Prevention Meeting on September 19, 2019 and the York County Elder Abuse Task Force Annual Conference on October 18, 2019.

The United States Attorney's Office for the Southern District of Iowa also held several trainings for law enforcement on elder justice issues, including Elder Abuse Training for Law Enforcement on September 11, 2019 and a full day course on White Collar/Elder Financial Exploitation on January 21, 2020.

FBI Training	Date & Location	Participants
Law Enforcement Training	February 2020, Tampa, Florida	Tampa FBI and other federal, state, and local law enforcement agencies and prosecutors
CPA Recertification Conference	August 2019, Miami, Florida	450 Agents
Economic Crime Conference	July 2019, Austin, Texas	325 Agents and financial analysts

Other United States Attorney's offices also conducted law enforcement training including the District of Colorado; the Central District of California; the Middle District of Florida; the District of Utah; District of Delaware; and the Western District of Pennsylvania. As a result, hundreds of law enforcement officers were trained on elder justice issues.

The National Institute on the Prosecution of Elder Abuse (NIPEA)

On November 6-8, 2019, the Department of Justice in partnership with the National Clearinghouse on Abuse in Later Life held the National Institute on the Prosecution of Elder Abuse (NIPEA) in San Antonio, Texas. NIPEA is a three-day course designed to challenge prosecutors to reevaluate their approach to prosecuting elder abuse cases. Participants receive training on the dynamics of elder abuse as well as practical skills to successfully prosecute these cases, balancing offender accountability with the impact of criminal prosecution on victims. Using a case method where participants work two actual cases – one neglect and one financial exploitation – NIPEA explores the complex issues faced by prosecutors. Beyond just case evaluation and litigation skills, the curriculum examines the benefits of developing a coordinated, victim-centered community response; explains common injuries and relevant medical evidence, providing guidance on the use of medical experts; explores ethical issues confronted by prosecutors; and offers prosecutors the ability to redefine outcomes and the very nature of justice in elder abuse cases.

Consumer Protection Branch Webinars

The Civil Division's Consumer Protection Branch presented three webinars to those in the financial industry, to law enforcement and other elder justice professionals, aimed at teaching these professionals to recognize elder fraud and protect the elderly from such fraudsters. These three webinars reached more than 5,000 attendees:

On July 25, 2019, the CPB presented a webinar entitled "Building Collaboration between Financial Institutions and Law Enforcement to Prevent and Address Elder Financial Abuse," to 4,195 attendees including federal, state, and local law enforcement and bank personnel, and BSA officers.

On October 2, 2019, the CPB presented a webinar "DOJ Elder Justice Efforts" to approximately 200 attendees, including financial regulators, financial industry employees, researchers, and nonprofit representatives.

On June 23, 2020, CPB presented a webinar entitled, "Suspicious Activity Reports – Taking your Elder Financial Abuse Investigations to the Next Level." Approximately 1,130 registrants included representatives from social services, law enforcement, and victim assistance.

EAGLE-Based Training

Based on the EAGLE, the National Center on Elder Abuse hosted a one-day in-person AZ-POST-certified training for 80 law enforcement and other elder justice professionals in Arizona (November, 2019). The evaluations confirmed that law enforcement found the training a valuable experience. The intent is to replicate this training elsewhere in the future.

“Nine out of 10 officers who attended the training and responded to our evaluation found the entire EAGLE training to be a valuable resource.”

F. Multidisciplinary Team Technical Assistance Center (MDT TAC)

Elder Abuse Case Review Multidisciplinary Teams (MDTs) function to address the inherent complexity of elder abuse cases. Composed of three or more professions collaborating on an array of elder justice issues, MDTs primarily work together to improve the investigation and prosecution of elder abuse and to improve victim outcomes through coordinated service delivery, education and prevention activities.

To facilitate a multidisciplinary response to elder abuse, EJI launched the MDT TAC⁶⁶ providing consultations, training and resources for elder justice MDTs. The MDT

TAC serves as a resource for existing MDTs, as well as persons or organizations interested in establishing or strengthening their own MDTs. The MDT TAC is engaged in multiple activities that generally fall into one of three categories: MDT consultations, building an elder abuse MDT community and fostering collaboration, and developing MDT educational materials. Each is described in detail below.

MDT Consultations

Holding an average of five per month (via phone, email or video conferencing), MDT consultations generally cover information regarding the planning and implementation of an elder abuse case review MDT such as:

- Understanding your community needs
- How to develop an MDT
- Problem solving and discussing common challenges and barriers
- Referral to other professionals or teams
- Connecting teams to resources and education
- Other issue as needed

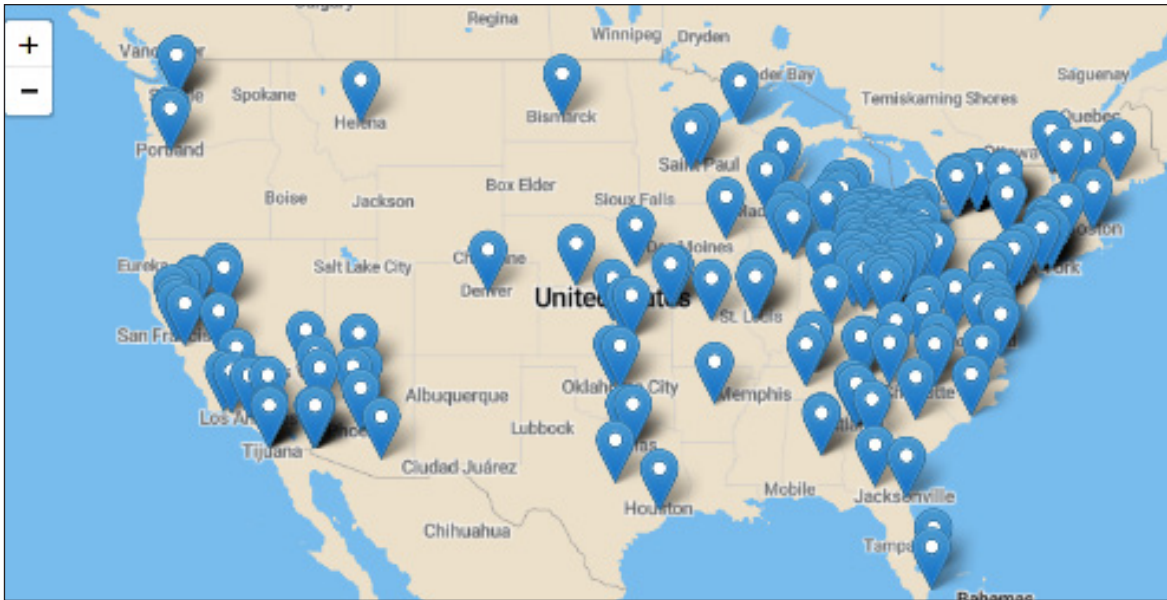

Building an Elder Abuse MDT Community and Fostering Collaboration

The MDT TAC promotes the development of MDTs and other collaborations through several initiatives, including:

National Elder Abuse MDT Peer Support Community (June 2020)

This web-based community allows for peer learning and information sharing among elder abuse MDTs nationally. Membership is free.

The MDT Networks Locator Map is available at <https://www.justice.gov/elderjustice/elder-justice-network-locator-map>.

Networks Locator Map (November 2019)

The Networks Locator Map is designed to enable elder justice professionals to locate and collaborate with elder justice networks/teams across the nation by displaying their location and contact information on the map.

Highlighted Networks

Highlighted Networks is a component of the MDT website that showcases promising and novel elder justice networks, while connecting and educating professionals in the field. Available at <https://www.justice.gov/elderjustice/highlighted-networks>.

Developing MDT Educational Materials

The MDT TAC has created a series of educational materials to facilitate the development of MDTs and to enhance their functioning. For example:

Elder Abuse MDT Quick Start Guide

The MDT Quick Start Guide highlights the most important steps needed to start an MDT and provides links to the corresponding subject matter in the MDT Guide and Toolkit.

MDT Statutes Update

The state MDT statutory review was updated in January 2020 to provide the field with the most current information regarding their elder abuse MDT laws. Available at <https://www.justice.gov/elderjustice/file/960791/download>.

Updating the MDT Guide and Toolkit

The MDT TAC continues to promote and update the MDT Guide and Toolkit, a web-based toolkit for starting and enhancing an elder abuse MDT. Available at <https://www.justice.gov/elderjustice/mdt-toolkit>.

MDT-Related Webinars⁶⁷

In the past year, the MDT TAC has hosted three webinars that include:

- Mapping Elder Justice Networks (January 21, 2020)
- Introducing the National Elder Abuse MDT Peer Support Listserv Community (June 22, 2020)
- Adapting Your MDT to a Virtual Environment (June 15, 2020)

COMMUNITY EDUCATION, OUTREACH, AND PREVENTION

A. Overview

Yellow districts hosted 1-5 events, orange districts hosted 6-10 events, bright red districts had 11-15 events, and dark red districts had 16 or more, up to 31 (Eastern District of North Carolina and Southern District of Indiana).

The Department of Justice is committed to preventing as well as prosecuting elder fraud, and the first front in preventing such fraud is outreach to educate the elderly, their caretakers and others who come in contact with them on ways to recognize and avoid fraud schemes. Throughout the year, United States Attorneys and their prosecutors, the Department's Civil Division, law enforcement agents, victim advocates, and other Department employees conduct outreach on elder fraud and abuse on a regular basis. On any given day, Department representatives are speakers and panelists at programs addressing elder fraud; conduct training on elder fraud; attend conferences, fairs, Task Forces addressing elder fraud; interact with and forge strong partnerships with federal law enforcement and other federal agencies including Adult Protective Services and the FTC, and with state and local partners, business groups, Chambers of Commerce and Rotary Clubs, social service agencies, banking and other financial groups.

Our United States Attorneys and their prosecutors visit senior centers, retirement homes and nursing homes in their districts to educate seniors about fraud and abuse. The United States Attorneys regularly get out the word warning about these malicious schemes through press releases, media interviews, and social media such as Twitter.

This year, the Department hosted or participated in over 575 outreach or training events, reaching over 165,500 participants. See Appendix B. Additionally, the Department continued to expand its media outreach through increased collaboration with national and local media outlets to reach over one million Americans through television appearances and radio interviews. Highlighted below are just a sampling of the training and outreach events hosted by the Department during the reporting period.

B. Public Outreach

Oak Ridge Boys Public Service Announcement⁶⁸

On October 4, 2019, the Department unveiled a public service announcement (PSA) created in collaboration with AARP and the Oak Ridge Boys. The PSA educates the public on elder fraud, and urges people to report such fraud.

The Oak Ridge Boys PSA can be viewed at https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Ssh-pdCs2y4&feature=emb_title.

“The Oak Ridge Boys are honored to bring awareness to elder fraud and abuse. For too long people have taken advantage of our senior citizens, and we are teaming up with the Department of Justice and the AARP Fraud Watch Network to help you and your loved ones stay safe from scammers,” said Duane Allen of the Oak Ridge Boys.

“So happy to see the Department of Justice and AARP stepping up to address this problem of elder fraud abuse. We are honored to be stepping up with you. Everyone is susceptible via phone or online, but the elderly are often the targets and victims of identity thieves and scammers. The Oak Ridge Boys are honored to lend our name and image to this worthy cause,” said Joe Bonsall of the Oak Ridge Boys.

Bayshore Pointe Nursing and Rehab Center in Tampa

On Monday, March 2, 2020, the Department’s Civil Fraud section held an outreach and training event at the Bayshore Pointe Nursing and Rehab Center in Tampa, Florida to educate residents, caregivers, and families about how to avoid and where to report financial scams. The Department was joined by our partners in elder justice work, including the Department of Health and Human Services, National Consumer Voice, the West Central District Florida Ombudsman, and volunteer ombudsman.

Susan Lynch, Senior Counsel for Elder Justice, discusses fraud schemes and how to report them with Bayshore Pointe Nursing and Rehab Center residents in Tampa, FL.

District of Puerto Rico U.S. Attorney’s Office & Elder Justice Task Force Launch Nursing Home Testing Initiative⁶⁹

On April 20, 2020, the United States Attorney’s Office for the District of Puerto Rico and the Puerto Rico Elder Justice Task Force announced the launch of an island-wide COVID-19 testing initiative for all residents and employees in Puerto Rico’s long term care facilities. This multi-agency, multi-sectoral initiative planned to cover more than 1,000 facilities, 28,000 residents and 9,000 employees and caregivers. The EJTF, led by a member of the Puerto Rico United States Attorney’s Office, spent weeks developing protocols and guidelines to prevent and contain the spread of COVID-19 in Puerto Rico’s long term care facilities.

“The well-being of our senior citizens during this pandemic is one of our top priorities. I commend the efforts of the Puerto Rico Elder Justice Task Force and those who have joined our mission during this emergency. Victims of Crime Act Formula Grant Program

The Office for Victims of Crime (OVC) Victims of Crime Act (VOCA) Formula grant program provides funding for crime victim compensation and victim assistance, which is awarded through subgrants to state and local agencies and local service providers. VOCA also supports direct services to crime victims in every state, territory, and the District of Columbia. More than 5,540 VOCA-funded organizations provided services—ranging from individual advocacy, crisis intervention, and therapy to civil legal assistance, transportation, and emergency shelter—to over 357,500 victims aged 60 and older in fiscal year (FY) 2019. In FY 2019, VOCA-funded programs reached more than 7.2 million victims and VOCA awards to the states totaled more than $2.3 billion. Through these programs, OVC hopes to improve case outcomes while minimizing additional trauma and restoring safety and security to older adult victims of crime and holding more offenders accountable.

Additional highlights:

- The number of victims aged 60 and older served by VOCA-funded victim service providers in FY 2019 increased 17 percent from the number served in FY 2018.

- In each quarter of FY 2019, an average of 27,958 victims sought services for elder abuse or neglect. This represents an increase of 40 percent from FY 2018.
- In FY 2019, elder abuse or neglect; identity theft, fraud, or financial crimes; and domestic or family violence were the most common victimization types of victims aged 60 and older.
- There were 13,361 individuals aged 60 and older who applied for compensation benefits in FY 2019.
- In FY 2019, VOCA-funded organizations paid 1,430 compensation claims related to elder abuse or neglect, an 11-percent increase from FY 2018.

C. Grants – Office for Victims of Crime

In May 2020, the Office for Victims of Crime (OVC) released a new funding opportunity focused on combating elder fraud and preventing further harm to vulnerable victims. OVC will award up to $6 million dollars to up to 12 grantees around the country (primarily from rural or impoverished zones), to support communities providing direct services to older victims of abuse and exploitation, using trauma-informed approaches that protect the safety and confidentiality of victims.

Additionally, the Transforming America's Response to Elder Abuse: Mobilizing Attorneys for Older Victims of Abuse &

Financial Exploitation program provides increased legal services for older victims of crime, particularly in rural areas, to educate attorneys and allied professionals about the needs of older victims, and to increase coordinated multidisciplinary responses in supporting older victims of crime.

Under OVC's FY 2018 Field-Generated Innovations in Addressing Elder Financial Exploitation program (and in close collaboration with DOJ's Elder Justice Initiative), OVC funded six national organizations totaling $3 million dollars to help propel progress in identifying and remedying elder financial exploitation through innovative collaborations between the financial industry and other entities to better detect and respond to victims. These efforts will help build the capacity of victim service providers and financial industry representatives to enhance fraud detection and provide trauma-informed, age-appropriate services and resources for older victims of financial exploitation. These three-year programs are listed below:

1. Metropolitan Family Services/Legal Aid Society – Field Generated Innovations in Addressing Elder Financial Exploitation, IL (2018-V3-GX-K046)

A program to develop a multi-system prevention and intervention model that includes geriatric-specific assessment, case management, legal, financial, and police responses across social services, adult protective services, and financial industries. MFS will develop an elder financial abuse specialist team that will support a comprehensive victim response model comprised of multidisciplinary insights directed towards elder victim advocacy, community education with a financial exploitation detection and prevention focus, and fraud protection efforts among the senior population.

2. Elder Law of Michigan, Inc. – Coordinated Community Response to Elder Abuse, MI (2018-V3-GX-K026)

A program to enhance the capacity of a three-county region in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan to address elder financial exploitation through innovative collaboration with the local financial institutions, law enforcement, aging services, and other community service providers.

3. Center for Elder Law & Justice Inc. – Senior Financial Safety Tool, NY (2018-V3-GX-K024)

A program to design, develop, and test the Senior Financial Safety Tool (SFST), using branch logic and risk detecting technology, to allow bank staff to complete quick assessments with older customers and generate a direct referral to CELJ and local enhanced MDT's where appropriate. The project is a collaboration between Pro Bono Net, Lake Shore Savings Bank, and Erie County Adult Protective Services.

4. Research Foundation CUNY on behalf of Hunter College CUNY – Single Platform Reporting of Financial Exploitation, NY (2018-V3-GX-K025)

A program to increase reporting of financial exploitation, and the speed and quality of victim response, by streamlining reporting and information sharing between financial and investigating agencies. The project will pilot a Financial Exploitation (FE)-focused unified reporting platform, which will allow the entering of web-based reports by financial institutions and automatic routing to appropriate investigating agencies (e.g., APS, financial regulators).

5. National Center for State Courts – Using Technology & Analytics to Protect Assets and Modernize Court Processes, VA (2018-V3-GX-K023)

A program to change how courts receive and monitor financial accountings from conservators. This project will develop a Rapid Response Team (RRT) and judicial and response protocols to launch a targeted and appropriately-tailored court response. The project will partner with a financial monitoring service, use the RRT in courts to research, investigate, and respond to monitoring service alerts; implement the judicial response protocol to protect and recuperate assets; evaluate; and disseminate a replication guide that can encourage the development of Rapid Response Systems nationwide.

6. National White Collar Crime Center (NWC3) – Victim-Centered Training Series, VA (2018-V3-GX-K021)

A program to develop a web-based and in-person training series to increase the capacity of responders to better serve and support victims of elder financial exploitation. Each of 10 interactive web-based modules will center on the unique experience of an individual older American, addressing promising practices that professionals can use to better detect, respond to, and support victims of various types of elder financial exploitation using trauma-informed approaches.

In FY 2019, and in coordination with the Elder Justice Initiative, OVC funded 13 local programs under OVC’s FY 2019 Transforming America’s Response to Elder Abuse: Enhanced Multidisciplinary Teams (E-MDTs) for Older Victims of Abuse and Financial Exploitation program, totaling $4.9 million. The programs focus on the development or enhancement of a multidisciplinary team to better identify and respond to cases of abuse and more comprehensively serve and support victims of elder abuse and financial exploitation. In addition, OVC added an additional $2 million to support the development of the National Elder Abuse Training and Technical Assistance (TTA) Center—to help strengthen the capacity of these E-MDTs to better identify and respond to cases of abuse and more comprehensively serve and support victims of elder abuse and financial exploitation. These three-year MDT programs and the National E-MDT TTA Center are described below.

1. City and County of Denver – Enhance Denver’s Forensic Collaborative for At-Risk Adults (DFC), CO (2019-V3-GX-0015)

A multidisciplinary team of experts will examine high-risk cases of elders being physically abused, neglected, or financially exploited in Denver, CO. The project will improve support for the investigation and prosecution of elder abuse cases by bringing in experts including forensic accounting services in complex financial exploitation cases, neuropsychologists who can evaluate victims when necessary, and geriatricians who can provide case consultations prior to filing charges. The District Attorney will work with those experts to create a sound structure in cases destined for trial. In addition, the project will make services available to individuals identified as requiring assistance but not living in circumstances that warrant criminal justice intervention and will provide after-hours emergency housing for victims (when offenders have been arrested). The project will also support a victim advocate to work with elders identified as needing more support and to develop an emergency housing program; neuropsychological evaluations; forensic accounting evaluations; and analysis and consultation from a geriatrician.

2. Coleman Professional Services – Enhancing Stark County APS Interdisciplinary Team (APS I-Team), OH (2019-V3-GX-0020)

Stark County’s aging population, growing opiate and other substance abuse issue stressing families, and increasing social isolation and resource strain (with younger adults moving away to live and work) all compound the problem of protecting older adults. The project will support a dedicated E-MDT Coordinator to facilitate the expansion and improvement of the current APS I-Team, more fully engage community partners, and better support the investigation and prosecution of elder financial exploitation and abuse cases. The project will conduct a needs assessment, develop formal processes, train members, and recruit forensic accountant and neuropsychologist services to enhance the team. The goal of the project is to help Stark County adjudicate cases and increase the number of cases moving through the court system.

3. Elder Law of Michigan – An Enhanced Multidisciplinary Team in a Rural Community (Luce, Mackinac, and Chippewa Counties), MI (2019-V3-GX-0012)

The project will enhance the capacity of rural communities to address elder abuse and financial exploitation through the creation and support of an enhanced multidisciplinary team (E-MDT). The project will augment the creation of a coordinated community response coalition and victim referral services. The project will review best practices, support victim services referrals and case management for older adults who have been abused, hire an E-MDT Coordinator, develop the community plan, establish the processes for gathering and reporting data, design the MDT (enhancing it with the inclusion of needed specialists), conduct case reviews for needed referrals, provide in-depth assistance to victims and prosecute perpetrators of elder abuse, provide training and resources to the E-MDT members, and create a short implementation guide on establishing an enhanced multidisciplinary team, facilitated by technology, in a rural community.

4. Lummi Indian Business Council – Transforming Lummi Nation’s Response to Elder Abuse, WA (2019-VO-GX-0018)

The project will create a strategic plan to prevent and eliminate Elder Abuse, incorporating all of the program services functions and activities of the Lummi Nation. Lummi Nation will work with internal and external partners to insure that a comprehensive set of services are available to Lummi Nation Elders. The Lummi Nation has 975 Elders aged 55 and older that reside on the Lummi Reservation. During 2018, 570 elders have identified themselves as victims of elder abuse. This is a rate of nearly 60 percent of Tribal elders. Lummi Nation will develop specific Elder Abuse Prevention and Elimination Services to support tribal elders. The MDT team will consist of an Elder Mentor, Mental Health Counselor, Clinical Social Worker, Lummi Police Officer, Elder Advocate, Lummi Housing member and two new tribal liaisons. An Elder Wellness Coordinator will collaborate services with housing, health clinic, Elders program, and Behavioral Health. Tribal Liaisons will visit at-risk elders at the beginning of each month to prevent financial exploitation and identify housing issues that need to be addressed, such as repairs or lack of electricity.

5. Milwaukee County Department on Aging – Enhanced Multi-Disciplinary Team for Older Victims of Abuse and Financial Exploitation, WI (2019-V3-GX-0014)

The project will create an Enhanced Multidisciplinary Team (E-MDT) to provide coordination and case review with the goal of developing and strengthening the capacity of victim services. The goal of this project is the development of an MDT that is proficient in case review, continuously improving victim services, advocates and reduces the impact of elder abuse and financial exploitation by early detection and intervention. Prosecutors will be proactive and prosecute cases regardless of the involved dollar amount. Providing more coordination and case review to better identify at-risk elders, offering ongoing support and early detection is crucial to avoiding significant financial loss, abuse, or neglect. Using an evidenced-based model, the E-MDT will include law enforcement, Mental Health Services, Adult Protective Services, Hospital Staff, banking professionals, a forensic accountant, and a psychologist/neuropsychologist to provide case consultation and review. Additional representatives from the Social Security Administration, Long-Term Care agencies, medical examiner, Veterans Affairs fiduciary, public health officials, and victim services representatives, will be consulted to develop protocols and processes for case reviews. The creation of this team, led by a full-time project coordinator, is intended to help create a clearer intake/presentation process, and provide ongoing support and services to the victims of abuse and exploitation.

6. Minnesota Elder Justice Center – Development and Coordination of Enhanced Multidisciplinary Teams in four Minnesota Communities: Becker County, Clay County, Olmsted County and White Earth Nation, MN (2019-V3-GX-0018)

This project will enhance responses to victims by supporting four community MDTs through direct coordination, developing current practices and elevating these practices. The Minnesota Elder Justice Center will work collaboratively with four different communities in greater Minnesota: White Earth Nation – to create a new E-MDT; Becker County – to build E-MDT capacity within a young MDT; Olmsted County – to continue building the MDT into an E-MDT with additional stakeholder involvement and more formalized processes; and Cass/Clay Counties – to offer an opportunity to demonstrate the positive outcomes of enhanced data gathering, analysis, and evaluation in a transborder program of Minnesota and North Dakota. These communities are diverse, both rural to urban, and each offers an opportunity to address victims’ needs. In addition, the project will evaluate what support is required to enhance the work of elder abuse multidisciplinary teams at various stages of existence, from ‘new’ to ‘established.’ Finally, the project will develop best-practice recommendations for structural and substantive inclusions in the work of enhanced multidisciplinary teams in Minnesota.

7. Northridge Hospital Foundation – Local Elder Abuse Prevention E-MDT (LEAP E-MDT), CA (2019-V3-GX-0009)

This project will create a case review enhanced multidisciplinary team (E-MDT) to provide a focused and unified set of services to vulnerable older adults who are victims of elder abuse and financial exploitation coupled with awareness and educational outreach to professionals and community residents. The Northridge Hospital Foundation’s Center for Healthier Communities (CHC) will lead the Local Elder Abuse Prevention Enhanced Multidisciplinary Team (LEAP E-MDT), composed of core members from the Center for Assault Treatment Services (CA’T-S), Valley Care Community Consortium, the Alzheimer’s Association, ONEgeneration, and a member each from the neuropsychology, law enforcement, and forensic accountancy professions. A community needs assessment conducted in the first two quarters of the project will provide a better understanding of the needs, resources, and service area gaps as it relates to elder abuse and financial exploitation. The LEAP E-MDT will address not only instances of elder abuse as they are detected by Northridge Hospital Medical Center and its partnering community organizations, but also take a preventative approach through an evidence-based educational model targeting caregivers, family members, and the community at-large.

8. Rockdale County – Rockdale County Georgia PEARL Program, Elder Abuse Enhanced Multidisciplinary Team Project, GA (2019-V3-GX-0019)

The project will enhance current MDT efforts to improve the case review process and associated systems coordination, and to better understand victims’ priorities and needs (to determine effective responses to financial exploitation and opioid abuse). The goal is to enhance the development of the Rockdale County MDT for elder abuse to better identify and respond to victims experiencing abuse and financial exploitation. The project’s objectives include the following. 1) Utilizing technical assistance offered from OVC’s National Elder Abuse MDT TTA Center to improve/enhance the E-MDT. 2) Expanding E-MDT membership to include forensic accountants, neuropsychologists and other professionals so there is holistic approach to the needs of older victims. 3) Hiring a dedicated E-MDT Coordinator to coordinate E-MDT activities. 4) Conducting a needs assessment to identify the gaps in service, assets in the community, and facilitate trainings to aid in the development of enhanced procedures. 5) Identifying service activities to support a holistic response to victims' needs. 6) Participation in various training opportunities to develop a deeper understanding of elder abuse victim's priorities and how to work as an effective E-MDT.

9. City of Richmond – Expansion to the City of Richmond's Elder Abuse Multidisciplinary Team, VA (2019-V3-GX-0017)

The project has had a functioning Elder Abuse MDT for over 10 years. Currently, there are representatives from, among others, the Commonwealth's Attorney's Office, Adult Protective Services, Law Enforcement, and a Guardian ad Litem who regularly attend and review cases that have been brought to the team by various channels, including reports to APS and law enforcement. Under this project, the team will continue to work together to add participants from the local YWCA, Virginia Commonwealth University's Forensic Nursing Program, EMS, and local banking institutions to the MDT. Additionally, the team will increase the professional resources available to it to support the investigation and prosecution of elder abuse cases. To that end, the City of Richmond MDT will add a geriatrician, a forensic accountant, and a neuropsychologist. Finally, the City of Richmond's E-MDT will recruit a skilled civil-side Elder Law lawyer to offer advice as to the appropriate use of guardianships and powers-of-attorney. The E-MDT will also work to expand the education and skill of law enforcement officers in conducting effective and victim-centered victim interviews. The E-MDT will also train EMTs, 911 dispatchers, and employees of assisted living and skilled nursing facilities so that all of those frontline professionals will be better prepared to help law enforcement identify victims of elder abuse in its earliest phases.

10. liveSAFE Resources, Inc. – Enhancing the Cobb County Justice for Elderly and Disabled Individuals (JEDI) Multidisciplinary Team, GA (2019-V3-GX-0011)

This project, in collaboration with the Cobb County District Attorney and with support of the Cobb County Justice for Elderly and Disabled Individuals Multidisciplinary Team (JEDI MDT), will expand and enhance the capabilities of the JEDI MDT, which serves elderly and disabled victims of abuse, neglect, and financial exploitation (ANE) in Cobb County, Georgia, a large suburban county on the northwest border of the City of Atlanta. The JEDI MDT will engage a forensic accounting firm to assist in investigations of cases involving financial exploitation, and with a neuropsychologist to work with cases involving victims with cognitive impairment. In addition, the project will create a full-time E-MDT Coordinator position to investigate ANE cases, organize the JEDI MDT and bring cases to the members, coordinate services, and monitor outcomes. The project will increase the number of cases reviewed by the JEDI MDT on an annual basis over current levels, and will greatly increase the ability of the JEDI MDT to bring financial exploitation cases through the process to prosecution.

11. The Sac and Fox Nation – Establishing Enhanced Multidisciplinary Teams to establish systems of communication, referrals, intervention and avocation on behalf of Sac and Fox Tribal elders, OK (2018-VO-GX-0171)

The project will create an MDT/Adult Protective Services Office to begin establishing Enhanced Multidisciplinary Teams to form systems of communication, referrals, intervention, and advocacy on behalf of Sac and Fox Tribal elders. The challenge is that there is little knowledge within the tribal community about what elder abuse is. Because of the lack of knowledge of elder abuse, it's often overlooked or tolerated, and when it is identified, there is very little communication between agencies to see that the abuse is reported, stopped, and prosecuted. Although there are laws to govern the treatment of elders, there is little enforcement of those laws and no prosecution unless the abuse results in death. The MDT/Adult Protective Services Office will coordinate communication with all tribal departments, specifically law enforcement, tribal court, human services, and health care to assure the abuse is identified, stopped, and abusers are held accountable. Additionally, tribal employees and tribal citizens will be trained to identify elder abuse in effort to build an intolerance for maltreatment to tribal elders.

12. Sinai Hospital of Baltimore, Inc. – Multidisciplinary Approach to Elder Abuse, MD (2019-V3-GX-0010)

The Elder Justice Program, a collaboration of LifeBridge Health entities including Sinai Hospital, Levindale Hebrew Geriatric Center and Hospital, and Baltimore Child Abuse Center, will develop an Elder Abuse Multidisciplinary Response led by an Elder Justice Manager and an Elder Abuse MDT Coordinator. The Elder Abuse Multidisciplinary Response will exist as a collaboration housed within the LifeBridge Health System, which will incorporate geropsychology, long-term care, neuropsychology, victim services, geriatricians, and a Child Advocacy Center that specializes in Multidisciplinary Team (MDT) Responses. The MDT response will bridge the hospital and Child Advocacy Center expertise with local law enforcement, prosecutors, first responders, and aging services to establish a team that comprehensively addresses the complexities of elder justice. The MDT will be created with representation from local police, Adult Protective Services, Maryland State's Attorney's Office, and partners in the medical, mental health, geriatric, and victim services professions. The MDT will meet to review cases, coordinate care for victims, and continuously improve upon processes of interagency collaboration. The main goal of the MDT will be to improve the comprehensive response to elder abuse through regular MDT meetings, MDT partner feedback, and attendance and engagement at relationship strengthening activities and professional development sessions.

13. Joan & Sanford Weill I. Medical College of Cornell University – National Elder Abuse MDT Training and Technical Assistance Center, NY (2019-MU-GX-K037)

The National Elder MDT Center will provide TTA for OVC-funded E-MDTs, to focus on identifying and promoting best practices and innovative strategies and to foster effective collaborative responses through the use of E-MDTs for cases of elder abuse and/or financial exploitation. Grantee partners include Lifespan of Greater Rochester, Red Wind Consulting, USC's Leonard Davis School of Gerontology and the Keck School of Medicine's National Center on Elder Abuse, and the National Clearinghouse on Abuse in Later Life. Together with its partners (and in close collaboration with OVC and the Elder Justice Initiative), the grantee will establish the National E-MDT Center. The project will provide case consultations, training and technical assistance to OVC-funded tribal and non-tribal teams throughout the country; innovative strategies and materials for each team's daily operations; technical assistance for team support and case consultations; training for professionals serving teams; guidance on integrating specialty services into the work of the teams; strategies to ensure responsiveness to each community; guidance on trauma-informed and trauma-responsive approaches; and advice on sustainability and long-range funding strategies. Through collaboration with Red Wind Consulting, the Center will place special emphasis on culturally competent implementation of E-MDTs in Native American communities. The Center will also assess the impact of the TTA provided and share with professionals across the country.

In 2019, OVC also funded a three-year program addressing elder abuse and financial exploitation under its OVC FY 2019 Field Generated Tribal and Non-Tribal Program to Improve Services for Victims of Crime Program: Purpose Area 2 - Innovations in Telehealth. OVC competitively funded the New York City Department for the Aging (DFTA) (2019-V3-GX-K039) – in partnership with Weill Cornell Institute of Geriatric Psychiatry – to deliver an internationally recognized evidence-based mental health intervention to elder abuse victims and victims of crimes committed by strangers, who screen positive for depression. The Tele-PROTECT (Providing Options To Elderly Clients Together) program offers a psychotherapy treatment program remotely and efficiently, using a secure internet platform to communicate with senior victims.

Under its OVC FY 2019 Building State Technology Capacity and Elder Abuse Hotlines program, OVC funded three three-year projects focused on elder abuse and statewide hotlines ($1.58 million total).

1. Pennsylvania Commission on Crime and Delinquency – Building Pennsylvania's State Technology Capacity to Serve Elder Victims of Crime, PA (2019-V3-GX-K043)

The Pennsylvania Commission on Crime and Delinquency plans to enhance and support Pennsylvania's Department of Aging (PDA) by creating an internet-based elder abuse reporting system and a real-time dashboard alert and reporting system that allows PDA to exercise improved oversight of the timeliness of elder abuse investigations initiated by Pennsylvania's 52 Area Agencies on Aging.

2. State of Missouri Department of Health Senior Services – OVC FY 2019 Building State Technology Capacity and Elder Abuse Hotlines, MO (2019-V3-GX-K042)

Missouri is committed to ensuring that every eligible adult in need of protective services will receive timely and effective adult protective services. To meet this commitment, Missouri must expand access to the adult protective service pathway by instituting an online 24-hour Abuse, Neglect, and Exploitation reporting system that seamlessly integrates into the client information management system.

3. Wisconsin Department of Justice – State of Wisconsin OVC FY 2019 Building State Technology Capacity and Elder Abuse Hotlines, WI (2019-V3-GX-K037)

The Wisconsin Department of Justice, the State Administering Agency for the VOCA formula assistance and compensation program grants, plans to establish a statewide elder abuse victim service hotline. The project will be accomplished with a formal partnership between the Wisconsin Department of Justice, the Wisconsin Department of Health Services’ Bureau of Aging and Disability Resources, and the Greater Wisconsin Agency on Aging Resources, Inc. This partnership will help leverage existing resources and relationships with victim services providers, adult protective services, aging network professionals, and criminal justice partners.

D. Grants – Office on Violence Against Women

In December 2019, the Office on Violence Against Women (OVW) released the FY 2020 Enhanced Training and Services to End Abuse in Later Life Program (Abuse in Later Life) Solicitation. OVW awarded over $3.8 million dollars to ten grantees to support efforts to increase victim safety and offender accountability. These two and three year projects will focus on victims who are 50 years of age or older. Each project will address four mandatory program purpose areas: 1) increase and strengthen training for police, prosecutors, the judiciary, units of local government, victim service providers, relevant officers in federal, tribal, state, territorial, and local courts and other government agencies in recognizing, investigating, and prosecuting instances of elder abuse, neglect, and exploitation including domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, and stalking against older individuals; 2) provide or enhance services for older victims; 3) create or support multidisciplinary collaborative community responses to older victims; and 4) conduct cross-training for governmental agencies, courts, law enforcement, and victim service providers serving older victims. The FY 2020 Abuse in Later Life Program grantees are listed below:

- Montana Department of Corrections DBA Montana Board of Crime Control (2016-EW-AX-K001)

DATA COLLECTION BEST PRACTICES

A. Overview

The Attorney General understands that combatting elder abuse requires law enforcement to have the information necessary to develop effective prevention and intervention strategies and directed the Department to establish best practices for elder abuse data collection for state, tribal, and local law enforcement agencies. These best practices, which can be found on the EJI's website,⁸⁰ were detailed in the 2018 Elder Justice Report to Congress. Implementing these best practices will ensure that law enforcement—the first line of support in the criminal justice system for elder abuse victims—has the comprehensive and detailed information they need to investigate cases and hold elder abuse perpetrators accountable.

B. Enhancing the Nation's Knowledge about Elder Abuse

The best practices promulgated in the 2018 report included a set of data elements that, when collected and recorded by law enforcement agencies, will provide significant insight into elder abuse occurring in local communities across the nation. To understand the nature and characteristics of elder abuse, the Department's data collection best practices included the recording of information about known incidents involving an elderly victim, specifically capturing data on the type of offense or abuse; characteristics of the victim; characteristics of the alleged perpetrator; and outcomes associated with the incident, such as case clearance, referral to services for the victim or the perpetrator, and referral of the case for prosecution.

C. Building on Established Law Enforcement Agency Practice

The FBI's Uniform Crime Reporting program maintains the National Incident-Based Reporting System (NIBRS), a system designed to collect detailed data about crime incidents known to law enforcement. NIBRS data can be used to describe the nature of criminal events brought to the attention of police and how the attributes of these events relate to police response and incident outcomes. NIBRS data can also be used to describe criminal victimization in local communities and support law enforcement efforts to implement evidence-based strategies to prevent crime and improve public safety. Reporting to NIBRS is voluntary and approximately 7,283 law enforcement agencies—44% of all agencies—reported crime data to the FBI in 2018.⁸¹

Building off this already existent data collection practice, law enforcement agencies can use NIBRS as the method to report their additional information on elder abuse cases. The NIBRS data standard requires that participating agencies report data on a wide range of different offense types, the demographic characteristics of victims and alleged offenders, and clearance and arrest outcomes of incidents, among other data elements in the system. While not all of the elder abuse data collection best practices are included in NIBRS, the system offers agencies the data infrastructure to collect more timely and accurate data that is consistent over time and from place to place.

⁸¹ <https://ucr.fbi.gov/nibrs/2018/resource-pages/methodology-2018.pdf>; <https://ucr.fbi.gov/nibrs/2018/tables/data-tables>

The FBI has NIBRS resources devoted to helping tribal and local police departments and sheriff's offices make the conversion to NIBRS reporting. In addition, the Department's Bureau of Justice Statistics (BJS), in partnership with the FBI, is implementing the National Crime Statistics Exchange (NCS-X) Initiative to increase the number of agencies reporting to NIBRS and to use the NIBRS data to develop national estimates of reported crime at the national level. Over the past year, the Department, through the NCS-X partnership between BJS and the FBI, has supported tribal and local law enforcement agencies in their transition to NIBRS reporting through grant funding, technical assistance, and training. In addition, the FBI has established the goal of transitioning all law enforcement agencies to NIBRS reporting by January 1, 2021, at which time, the national will have detailed and more comprehensive information about elder victimization occurring throughout the United States.

LOOKING FORWARD

A. Legislative Proposals

In addition to the historic achievements this year, the Department urged Congress to enact legislation that would strengthen our response to fraud and other crimes that have increased during the COVID-19 pandemic, and have disproportionately impacted seniors more. The proposals would, for example, improve the government’s ability to pursue money laundering investigations and prosecutions. The proposals would also enhance the Department’s ability to “follow the money” and pursue money laundering charges against the fraudsters who launder proceeds. They would close money laundering enforcement gaps and assist in crossborder enforcement, critical to prosecuting those taking advantage of the pandemic. The proposals would also enhance forfeiture authorities for aggravated identity theft and computer crimes, to assist the Department in taking the profit out of crime and returning forfeited assets to victims. Please see Appendix D for copies of the legislative proposals.

B. Upcoming Resources

*Increasing Access to Healing Services and Just Outcomes for Older African American Crime Survivors Toolkit*⁸²

Through the efforts of the OVC-funded National Resource Center for Reaching Victims (NRCRV), additional materials have been developed to help expand the capacity of victim service programs to identify and reach victims – including victims of elder abuse, fraud and financial exploitation. In 2020, NRCRV (in partnership with the National Clearinghouse on Abuse in Later Life), released the Increasing Access to Healing Services and Just Outcomes for Older African American Crime Survivors Toolkit. The Toolkit centers the voices and lived experiences of older African American crime victims and offers practical ways for stakeholders and victims service providers to effectively address systemic barriers older African American victims face in their healing and recovery processes. The Toolkit includes video clips of older survivors sharing their stories and an expert panel providing insight into the crime victim experience and best practices to increase older African American victims’ access to healing supports and just outcomes.

C. United States Attorneys: “What is your vision for Elder Justice in 2021?”

“Frauds victimizing our senior citizens are particularly egregious. At a time when older Americans should be enjoying the fruits of their lives’ work, many are losing their savings and security to cold-blooded and cold-hearted fraudsters. And they are victimized at a time in life when they have little chance of recovering from the financial loss. So, our commitment to investigating and prosecuting these criminals must be firm and it must carry a sense of urgency.”

Robert J. Higdon, U.S. Attorney for the Eastern District of North Carolina

“At a time when many of our seniors feel increasingly vulnerable, financial schemes designed to exploit the elderly have increased significantly. In 2021, the Delaware USAO commits to redoubling our efforts to educate seniors on the indicia of fraud and to vigorously prosecute those who use the pandemic to prey on our elder population.”

David C. Weiss, U.S. Attorney for the District of Delaware

“In the coming year, I will be focused on outreach to older Americans, too many of whom have suffered from COVID-19—from the disease, from the isolation it has brought, and from fraud schemes intended to prey on the vulnerable. May 2021 be a year when we see and hear from our elders.”

Marc Krickbaum, U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of Iowa

“Combating all forms of elder abuse and preventing the financial exploitation of seniors is a key priority for the DOJ and my Office. In 2021, we will continue to investigate and prosecute bad actors who maliciously target older adults, and increase our efforts to educate the elderly, their families, and their caretakers about detecting fraud schemes and avoiding victimization. Our goal is to protect the elderly, deliver justice and bring peace of mind to seniors in North Carolina and across the nation.”

Andrew R. Murray, U.S. Attorney for the Western District of North Carolina

“Physical abuse, financial exploitation, and caregiver neglect and abandonment rob older citizens of their dignity, and can cost them their lives. The Elder Justice Initiative and Attorney General Barr’s National Nursing Home Initiative have put the spotlight on serious crimes against seniors, and led to the Department of Justice prosecuting an unprecedented number of criminals preying on the elderly. We expect to do even more in 2021.”

Nicholas A. Trutanich, U.S. Attorney for the District of Nevada

CONCLUSION

As detailed in this Annual Report to Congress, the Department of Justice continues to devote substantial resources to, and has made significant progress in, protecting the elderly from abuse and financial exploitation, preventing such fraud and abuse, and prosecuting the perpetrators. Particularly in this time of the pandemic, when the elderly are even more vulnerable to fraud and abuse, the Department has stepped up its efforts to protect the elderly. We have more to do, and intend to do it. The Department remains committed to protecting seniors from fraud and abuse through the pandemic and beyond.

On 7/27/2020, Timothy Allcott pleaded guilty to one count of conspiracy to commit wire fraud. Allcott and Renison provided investors with promissory notes issued by AOR containing three to five year terms and interest rates between 8% and 12% per year. Allcott and Renison raised the funds through materially false and misleading statements and misappropriated large portions of the investments. Investors lost more than $4 million.	N/A

KENTUCKY/WESTERN	U.S. v. Donna Bradshaw	3:19-cr-161	Criminal	Defendant Tammy Gilbert plead guilty on 6/25/20.	Donna Bradshaw is L.P.'s sister-in-law. Bradshaw convinced L.P. to pay for numerous alleged expenses, including medical care for a child, mortgage payments to avoid foreclosure, and taxes on an estate inheritance. As part of the fraud involving the mortgage payments, Bradshaw sent L.P. numerous emails, purportedly sent by OSHA employees, which claimed that the US government would repay monies L.P. had paid on Bradshaw's behalf. As part of the fraud involving taxes on the estate inheritance, L.P. received telephone calls, allegedly from employees of an actual law firm in Louisville. In these telephone calls, L.P. understood that he was talking to an L.T., and L.P. was told that the firm was handling the estate of T.H., and that Bradshaw was to receive over $1 million from the estate. L.P. also received letters on the firm's letterhead, purportedly signed by S.T., an actual partner in the firm, which reflected that the firm was handling the T.H. estate and that Bradshaw was a significant beneficiary. Bradshaw subsequently contacted the firm and learned that although the firm did handle the T.H. estate, the firm was unfamiliar with Bradshaw, and all the letters were forgeries. Bradshaw also learned that the T.H. estate was valued at approximately $14,000. Finally, the firm had never heard of L.T.	Gilbert, Tammy

VIRGINIA/EASTERN	U.S. v. Alberto Cortes Gomez	1:19-cr-189	Criminal	Gomez, Alberto: 87 months' imprisonment, $0 fine, $1,913,044.44 restitution.	From at least April 2011 through June 2018, Alberto Cortes Gomez ("Cortes") was the leader of a conspiracy to steal credit cards and other identifying information from customers at retail stores across the country, then use that information to purchase electronics and other items that were then shipped for subsequent resale. Cortes, a Colombian citizen who resided primarily in Florida during the conspiracy, would travel in rental vehicles to locations with high volumes of retail activity, often in interstate corridors such as I-95 through North Carolina and Virginia. The conspirators would then distract shoppers, mostly elderly women, steal their wallets, and then alter means of identification to then pose as those shoppers when purchasing electronics and other expensive items for shipment and resale. Cortes's undoing was using a variety of Best Buy rewards accounts that law enforcement linked back to him, enabling HSI and the FBI to determine the scope of the conduct. In total, Cortes and his conspirators stole financial information from at least 360 individuals and fraudulently purchased more than $1.9 million in goods as a result of those thefts, including more than $240,000 from Virginia residents. William Onyebuchi Ogbonna	2:19-cr-84	Criminal	Ogbonna, William Onyebuchi: 109 months imprisonment, $0 fine, $1,619,917.27 restitution	Between October 2016 and March 2019, defendant participated in a conspiracy to defraud between 80 and 100 US victims, the majority of whom were 60 years of age and older. To facilitate this scheme, conspirators contacted victims and falsely claimed that the victims were due a large inheritance or had won a foreign lottery. Conspirators told victims they would receive large sums in return for up-front payments of the associated taxes and fees. Conspirators also perpetrated business email compromise scams by compromising business emails and then contacting business clients and employees and requesting a transfer of funds. In all cases, conspirators directed victims to wire money to various bank accounts, including accounts opened by Ogbonna. After receiving these proceeds, Ogbonna transferred a portion of those proceeds via cashier's checks and wires to conspirators in China and Nigeria. To conceal his fraud, Ogbonna filed multiple false tax returns omitting his criminally derived income. https://www.justice.gov/usao-edva/pr/man-sentenced-39-million-international-fraud-conspiracy	N/A

WEST VIRGINIA/ NORTHERN	U.S. v. Randall Smail	2:20CR2	Criminal	Pending	The defendant persuaded Victim, a person over the age of 60, to invest in an auto body shop in Washington, PA, for $700,000. The defendant told Victim his money was tied up in Bitcoin and he couldn't withdraw it without tax consequences. The defendant created fictitious bank statements indicating he had 10M in a Clearview Federal Credit Union account and 640M in Bitcoin. The defendant showed the account statements to Pendleton Community Bank when applying for the loan with the Victim. The defendant guaranteed the loan would be repaid within 6 months because he would withdraw 200K at a time from Bitcoin. He stated he would transfer this money into his Merrill Lynch account, and then he would apply it towards the loan. The bank relied on the misrepresentations to grant the loan to Victim and the defendant for $552,553.90. Victim then took out an additional 150K from his line of credit for the investment. The defendant represented to Pendleton Bank and Victim that his assets would also pay back the 150K line of credit from Victim. The loan is an arrears, and Victim sold land he held for collateral to apply towards the loan. GJ subpoenas reveal that the defendant never had a Merrill Lynch account, had $0 in his Bitcoin account, and never had 10M at Clearview Federal Credit Union. In a proffer, the defendant admitted to creating the fake account statements.	N/A

These defendants collected money sent by victims at the direction of other, unknown scheme participants to the tune of approximately $220,000 over a two month period before they were arrested. NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF JUSTICE	Financial Exploitation Intervention Team Evaluability Assessment	2019-V3-GX-0005	The Board of Trustees of the University of Illinois	The study aims to evaluate a current OVC demonstration project designed to combat elder financial exploitation. The Metropolitan Family Service (MFS) Legal Aid Society (LAS) Innovations in Addressing Elder Financial Exploitation Project funded by the Office of Victims of Crime has developed the Financial Exploitations Intervention Team (FEIT) program. This program is a closed-loop referral system, which is incorporated into the workflow of adult protective services (APS), banks, law enforcement, and legal services. This referral system aims to establish a continuity of services between MFS and community-based resources to fight financial exploitation (FE) and fraud. Closed loop refers to the ability to identify FE and fraud and measure their severity, designing services based on that information, and subsequently assessing outcomes of those services and reporting them to service providers. The ultimate FEIT will be a system that includes a team of representatives from all providers to inform decisions about system development and functioning. This grant involves two projects: (1) To conduct an evaluability assessment of the FEIT program that would include a detailed, accurate logic model, practice-based measures, and a FEIT program manual; and (2) To pilot-test the FEIT system using the new measures and FEIT protocol in a six-month, small-sample evaluation of the proof of concept. The evaluability assessment will be conducted through participant observation, focus groups, and interviews. The ultimate goal of this initial assessment will be a subsequent full-scale evaluation study. Ultimately, a full evaluation of the FEIT will serve as the first rigorous, comprehensive, empirical test of an integrated, multidisciplinary team including APS, banks, law enforcement, and legal aid. Deliverables of note include (1) A suite of measurement instruments, (2) A description of a coordinated training and service system, (3) An outcome assessment to provide feedback on effectiveness and accountability; and (4) An evaluability assessment report. Findings from this phase will provide a tested system for the field to use or adapt, as well as a foundation on which researchers can build.
NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF JUSTICE	Prevention of Financial Abuse Among Elders Affected by Cognitive Decline: A Randomized Controlled Trial In Three Rural Communities	2019-MU-CX-0094	Michigan State University	This project employs randomized controlled trial (RCT) research design to test the efficacy, effectiveness and cost benefit of a financial abuse prevention model for elders living in rural Michigan (MI) who experience cognitive declines. The intervention targets elders, their caregivers, and service professionals providing psychosocial education, case management, and local Financial Abuse Specialist Teams (FAST) to raise awareness, build competence, and provide coaching and consultation to safeguard against and intervene in financial abuse. The researchers have partnered with local aging service agencies in Battle Creek, Manistee, and Marquette. The agencies serve 11 rural counties in the surrounding areas. A total of 106 older adults, 78 family caregivers and 70 service professionals will be enrolled and randomly assigned to intervention groups or control groups across the three sites. Qualitative data collected from community financial abuse prevention caseworkers and participants in the intervention groups will be analyzed to determine program efficacy. The effectiveness of this program will be evaluated collecting outcome data over a 15-month period using validated instruments and scales. Short and long-term outcomes include elders with higher awareness of, lower risk for, and fewer incidents of financial abuse; family caregivers with higher awareness of financial abuse, increased competence in dementia care, fewer abuse behaviors, and fewer financial abuse incidents; and service professionals with higher awareness of dementia and financial abuse, increased competence in identifying and reporting financial abuse, and more reported cases of financial abuse to APS or referrals to supportive services. The cost-benefit analysis will compare the cost-benefit ratio between intervention groups and control groups.

⁸⁵ The total number of grants in Appendic C is 35.

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF JUSTICE	Mass Marketing Elder Fraud Intervention	2019-R2-CX-0053	Research Triangle Institute	This study will be conducted in collaboration with the U.S. Postal Inspection Service (USPIS), the law enforcement arm of the U.S. Postal Service. The project will involve secondary analysis of USPIS investigatory data; a randomized controlled trial (RCT) to test the efficacy of several variations on a USPIS-mailed intervention for preventing the revictimization of older adults; and a follow-up survey to a subsample of RCT participants. Using 20 years of USPIS investigative data collected from US fraud victims, the researchers will link addresses across three data files, each containing more than 1 million victim records, to gather information about the incidence, frequency, and patterns of repeat victimization. The researchers will also test the use of a mailed intervention in preventing mass marketing fraud revictimization. Using return address data collected from individuals who have mailed payments to an identified fraudster, victims (n>10,000) will be randomly assigned to one of three treatment groups or a control group. Treatment groups will receive either (1) an official letter from the USPIS informing them that they may have been a victim of mass marketing fraud that they should be on the lookout for subsequent fraudulent solicitations; (2) the letter described above and a fraud prevention brochure with tailored messaging that provides a call to action to prevent future fraud; or (3) the letter and brochure as described above repeated monthly throughout the five-month intervention period. For up to one year, the researchers will continue to collect return addresses from victims' mail and will identify participants who were revictimized. Their examinations will also include a return on investment analysis. Finally, the researchers will administer a mail survey to a random subsample of addresses from each of the three treatment groups (n=7,500) to capture reactions to the intervention; basic demographic information, including age; and experiences with other types of fraud. The demographic characteristics collected will be linked to data from the intervention experiment to provide a better understanding of the impact of the intervention on victims aged 65 or older, and the relative effectiveness of the intervention by age. Additionally, they will ask victims about

OFFICE FOR VICTIMS OF CRIME	Using Technology & Analytics to Protect Assets and Modernize Court Processes, VA	2018-V3-GX-K023	National Center for State Courts	A program to change how courts receive and monitor financial accountings from conservators. This project will develop a Rapid Response Team (RRT) and judicial and response protocols to launch a targeted and appropriately-tailored court response. The project will partner with a financial monitoring service, use the RRT in courts to research, investigate, and respond to monitoring service alerts; implement the judicial response protocol to protect and recuperate assets; evaluate; and disseminate a replication guide that can encourage the development of Rapid Response Systems nationwide.
OFFICE FOR VICTIMS OF CRIME	Victim-Centered Training Series, VA	2018-V3-GX-K021	National White Collar Crime Center (NWC3)	A program to develop a web-based and in-person training series to increase the capacity of responders to better serve and support victims of elder financial exploitation. Each of 10 interactive web-based modules will center on the unique experience of an individual older American, addressing promising practices that professionals can use to better detect, respond to, and support victims of various types of elder financial exploitation using trauma-informed approaches.
OFFICE FOR VICTIMS OF CRIME	Enhance Denver's Forensic Collaborative for At Risk Adults (DFC)	2019-V3-GX-0015	City and County of Denver, CO	A multidisciplinary team of experts will examine high-risk cases of elders being physically abused, neglected, or financially exploited in Denver, CO. The project will improve support for the investigation and prosecution of elder abuse cases by bringing in experts including forensic accounting services in complex financial exploitation cases, neuropsychologists who can evaluate victims when necessary, and geriatricians who can provide case consultations prior to filing charges. The District Attorney will work with those experts to create a sound structure in cases destined for trial. In addition, the project will make services available to individuals identified as requiring assistance but not living in circumstances that warrant criminal justice intervention and will provide after-hours emergency housing for victims (when offenders have been arrested). The project will also support a victim advocate to work with elders identified as needing more support and to develop an emergency housing program; neuropsychological evaluations; forensic accounting evaluations; and analysis and consultation from a geriatrician.
OFFICE FOR VICTIMS OF CRIME	Enhancing Stark County APS Interdisciplinary Team (APS I-Team), OH	2019-V3-GX-0020	Coleman Professional Services	Stark County's aging population, growing opiate and other substance abuse issue stressing families, and increasing social isolation and resource strain (with younger adults moving away to live and work) all compound the problem of protecting older adults. The project will support a dedicated E-MDT Coordinator to facilitate the expansion and improvement of the current APS I-Team, more fully engage community partners, and better support the investigation and prosecution of elder financial exploitation and abuse cases. The project will conduct a needs assessment, develop formal processes, train members, and recruit forensic accountant and neuropsychologist services to enhance the team. The goal of the project is to help Stark County adjudicate cases and increase the number of cases moving through the court system.
OFFICE FOR VICTIMS OF CRIME	An Enhanced Multidisciplinary Team in a Rural Community (Luce, Mackinac, and Chippewa Counties), MI	2019-V3-GX-0012	Elder Law of Michigan	The project will enhance the capacity of rural communities to address elder abuse and financial exploitation through the creation and support of an enhanced multidisciplinary team (E-MDT). The project will augment the creation of a coordinated community response coalition and victim referral services. The project will review best practices, support victim services referrals and case management for older adults who have been abused, hire an E-MDT Coordinator, develop the community plan, establish the processes for gathering and reporting data, design the MDT (enhancing it with the inclusion of needed specialists), conduct case reviews for needed referrals, provide in-depth assistance to victims and prosecute perpetrators of elder abuse, provide training and resources to the E-MDT members, and create a short implementation guide on establishing an enhanced multidisciplinary team, facilitated by technology, in a rural community.

OFFICE FOR VICTIMS OF CRIME	Transforming Lummi Nation's Response to Elder Abuse, WA	2019-VO-GX-0018	Lummi Indian Business Council	The project will create a strategic plan to prevent and eliminate Elder Abuse, incorporating all of the program services functions and activities of the Lummi Nation. Lummi Nation will work with internal and external partners to insure that a comprehensive set of services are available to Lummi Nation Elders. The Lummi Nation has 975 Elders aged 55 and older that reside on the Lummi Reservation. During 2018, 570 elders have identified themselves as victims of elder abuse. This is a rate of nearly 60 percent of Tribal elders. Lummi Nation will develop specific Elder Abuse Prevention and Elimination Services to support tribal elders. The MDT team will consist of an Elder Mentor, Mental Health Counselor, Clinical Social Worker, Lummi Police Officer, Elder Advocate, Lummi Housing member and two new tribal liaisons. An Elder Wellness Coordinator will collaborate services with housing, health clinic, Elders program, and Behavioral Health. Tribal Liaisons will visit at-risk elders at the beginning of each month to prevent financial exploitation and identify housing issues that need to be addressed, such as repairs or lack of electricity.
OFFICE FOR VICTIMS OF CRIME	Enhanced Multi-Disciplinary Team for Older Victims of Abuse and Financial Exploitation	2019-V3-GX-0014	Milwaukee County, WI Department on Aging	The project will create an Enhanced Multidisciplinary Team (E-MDT) to provide coordination and case review with the goal of developing and strengthening the capacity of victim services. The goal of this project is the development of an MDT that is proficient in case review, continuously improving victim services, advocates and reduces the impact of elder abuse and financial exploitation by early detection and intervention. Prosecutors will be proactive and prosecute cases regardless of the involved dollar amount. Using an evidenced-based model, the E-MDT will include law enforcement, Mental Health Services, Adult Protective Services, Hospital Staff, banking professionals, a forensic accountant, and a psychologist/neuropsychologist to provide case consultation and review. Additional representatives from the Social Security Administration, Long-Term Care agencies, medical examiner, Veterans Affairs fiduciary, public health officials, and victim services representatives, will be consulted to develop protocols and processes for case reviews. The creation of this team, led by a full-time project coordinator, is intended to help create a clearer intake/presentation process, and provide ongoing support and services to the victims of abuse and exploitation.
OFFICE FOR VICTIMS OF CRIME	Development and Coordination of Enhanced Multidisciplinary Teams in four Minnesota Communities: Becker County, Clay County, Olmsted County and White Earth Nation, MN	2019-V3-GX-0018	Minnesota Elder Justice Center	This project will enhance responses to victims by supporting four community MDTs through direct coordination, developing current practices and elevating these practices. The Minnesota Elder Justice Center will work collaboratively with four different communities in greater Minnesota: White Earth Nation – to create a new E-MDT; Becker County – to build E-MDT capacity within a young MDT; Olmsted County – to continue building the MDT into an E-MDT with additional stakeholder involvement and more formalized processes; and Cass/Clay Counties – to offer an opportunity to demonstrate the positive outcomes of enhanced data gathering, analysis, and evaluation in a transborder program of Minnesota and North Dakota. These communities are diverse, both rural to urban, and each offers an opportunity to address victims’ needs. OFFICE FOR VICTIMS OF CRIME	Local Elder Abuse Prevention E-MDT (LEAP E-MDT)	2019-V3-GX-0009	Northridge Hospital Foundation, CA	This project will create a case review enhanced multidisciplinary team (E-MDT) to provide a focused and unified set of services to vulnerable older adults who are victims of elder abuse and financial exploitation coupled with awareness and educational outreach to professionals and community residents. The Northridge Hospital Foundation's Center for Healthier Communities (CHC) will lead the Local Elder Abuse Prevention Enhanced Multidisciplinary Team (LEAP E-MDT), composed of core members from the Center for Assault Treatment Services (C'A'T-S), Valley Care Community Consortium, the Alzheimer's Association, ONEgeneration, and a member each from the neuropsychology, law enforcement, and forensic accountancy professions. A community needs assessment conducted in the first two quarters of the project will provide a better understanding of the needs, resources, and service area gaps as it relates to elder abuse and financial exploitation. The LEAP E-MDT will address not only instances of elder abuse as they are detected by Northridge Hospital Medical Center and its partnering community organizations, but also take a preventative approach through an evidence-based educational model targeting caregivers, family members, and the community at-large.

OFFICE FOR VICTIMS OF CRIME	Expansion to the City of Richmond's Elder Abuse Multi-Disciplinary Team, VA	2019-V3-GX-0017	City of Richmond, VA	The project has had a functioning Elder Abuse MDT for over 10 years. Currently, there are representatives from, among others, the Commonwealth's Attorney's Office, Adult Protective Services, Law Enforcement, and a Guardian ad Litem who regularly attend and review cases that have been brought to the team by various channels, including reports to APS and law enforcement. Under this project, the team will continue to work together to add participants from the local YWCA, Virginia Commonwealth University's Forensic Nursing Program, EMS, and local banking institutions to the MDT. Additionally, the team will increase the professional resources available to it to support the investigation and prosecution of elder abuse cases. To that end, the City of Richmond MDT will add a geriatrician, a forensic accountant, and a neuropsychologist. Finally, the City of Richmond's E-MDT will recruit a skilled civil-side Elder Law lawyer to offer advice as to the appropriate use of guardianships and powers-of-attorney. The E-MDT will also work to expand the education and skill of law enforcement officers in conducting effective and victim-centered victim interviews. The E-MDT will also train EMTs, 911 dispatchers, and employees of assisted living and skilled nursing facilities so that all of those frontline professionals will be better prepared to help law enforcement identify victims of elder abuse in its earliest phases.

OFFICE FOR VICTIMS OF CRIME	Enhancing the Cobb County Justice for Elderly and Disabled Individuals (JEDI) Multidisciplinary Team, GA	2019-V3-GX-0011	liveSAFE Resources, Inc.	This project, in collaboration with the Cobb County District Attorney and with support of the Cobb County Justice for Elderly and Disabled Individuals Multidisciplinary Team (JEDI MDT), will expand and enhance the capabilities of the JEDI MDT, which serves elderly and disabled victims of abuse, neglect, and financial exploitation (ANE) in Cobb County, Georgia, a large suburban county on the northwest border of the City of Atlanta. The JEDI MDT will engage a forensic accounting firm to assist in investigations of cases involving financial exploitation, and with a neuropsychologist to work with cases involving victims with cognitive impairment. In addition, the project will create a full-time E-MDT Coordinator position to investigate ANE cases, organize the JEDI MDT and bring cases to the members, coordinate services, and monitor outcomes. The project will increase the number of cases reviewed by the JEDI MDT on an annual basis over current levels, and will greatly increase the ability of the JEDI MDT to bring financial exploitation cases through the process to prosecution.
OFFICE FOR VICTIMS OF CRIME	Establishing Enhanced Multidisciplinary Teams to establish systems of communication, referrals, intervention and avocation on behalf of Sac and Fox Tribal elders, OK	2018-VO-GX-0171	The Sac and Fox Nation	The project will create an MDT/Adult Protective Services Office to begin establishing Enhanced Multidisciplinary Teams to form systems of communication, referrals, intervention, and advocacy on behalf of Sac and Fox Tribal elders. The challenge is that there is little knowledge within the tribal community about what elder abuse is. Because of the lack of knowledge of elder abuse, it's often overlooked or tolerated, and when it is identified, there is very little communication between agencies to see that the abuse is reported, stopped, and prosecuted. Although there are laws to govern the treatment of elders, there is little enforcement of those laws and no prosecution unless the abuse results in death. The MDT/Adult Protective Services Office will coordinate communication with all tribal departments, specifically law enforcement, tribal court, human services, and health care to assure the abuse is identified, stopped, and abusers are held accountable. Additionally, tribal employees and tribal citizens will be trained to identify elder abuse in effort to build an intolerance for maltreatment to tribal elders.
OFFICE FOR VICTIMS OF CRIME	Multidisciplinary Approach to Elder Abuse, MD	2019-V3-GX-0010	Sinai Hospital of Baltimore, Inc.	The Elder Justice Program, a collaboration of LifeBridge Health entities including Sinai Hospital, Levindale Hebrew Geriatric Center and Hospital, and Baltimore Child Abuse Center, will develop an Elder Abuse Multidisciplinary Response led by an Elder Justice Manager and an Elder Abuse MDT Coordinator. The Elder Abuse Multidisciplinary Response will exist as a collaboration housed within the LifeBridge Health System, which will incorporate geropsychology, long-term care, neuropsychology, victim services, geriatricians, and a Child Advocacy Center that specializes in Multidisciplinary Team (MDT) Responses. The MDT response will bridge the hospital and Child Advocacy Center expertise with local law enforcement, prosecutors, first responders, and aging services to establish a team that comprehensively addresses the complexities of elder justice. The MDT will be created with representation from local police, Adult Protective Services, Maryland State's Attorney's Office, and partners in the medical, mental health, geriatric, and victim services professions. The MDT will meet to review cases, coordinate care for victims, and continuously improve upon processes of interagency collaboration. The main goal of the MDT will be to improve the comprehensive response to elder abuse through regular MDT meetings, MDT partner feedback, and attendance and engagement at relationship strengthening activities and professional development sessions.

Any motion for the return of property seized under this section shall be filed in the district court in which the seizure warrant was issued or in the district court for the district in which the property was seized.

(C) A restraining order may be issued under subparagraph (A) if a person is arrested or charged with any offense for which forfeiture is authorized under—

(i) this title;

(ii) title 31; or

(iii) the Controlled Substances Act (21 U.S.C. 801 et seq.).

(D) For purposes of this paragraph—

III. Section-by-Section Analysis

SEC. 1. BULK CASH SMUGGLING

This provision would increase the maximum penalty for bulk cash smuggling under 31 U.S.C. § 5332(b)(1) to ten years' imprisonment (from five years'). It would also add a new subsection 5332(b)(2) providing for fines under Title 18 and for enhanced fines in cases in which the defendant violates the bulk cash smuggling statute while also violating another federal law (other than the CMIR statute and 31 U.S.C. § 5324(c)) or as part of a pattern of any unlawful activity.

Bulk cash smuggling is one of the major methods of money laundering used by international drug cartels, and the penalty is currently too low to achieve appropriate punishment and deterrence.

SEC. 2. SECTION 1957 VIOLATIONS COMMINGLED & AGGREGATED TRANSACTIONS.

This provision would amend 18 U.S.C. § 1957, the money laundering statute applicable to monetary transactions of more than $10,000 in criminally derived property, to clarify that the government can satisfy the $10,000 threshold by showing the following: (1) that the monetary transaction involved the withdrawal of more than $10,000 from an account in which more than $10,000 in proceeds of specified unlawful activity was commingled with other funds, or (2) that the defendant conducted a series of closely related sub-$10,000 transactions.

Courts have diverged on the issue of commingled accounts; this provision would ensure that money launderers cannot evade a section 1957 charge by commingling dirty money with clean funds or by engaging in a series of low-dollar transactions.

SEC. 3. CONCEALMENT MONEY LAUNDERING

This proposal addresses an enforcement gap resulting from the Supreme Court ruling in Cuellar v. United States, 553 U.S. 550, 128 S. Ct. 1994 (2008). That decision required the government to prove not only that a cross-border transportation of criminal proceeds would have the effect of concealing or disguising one of the five statutory attributes of criminal proceeds (nature, location, source, ownership, or control), but also that the transportation had been specifically "designed" to achieve this effect. This section of the bill would replace "designed in whole or in part to conceal or disguise" in 18 U.S.C. §1956(a)(2)(B) with "conceals or disguises, or is intended to conceal or disguise." Identical language in section 1956(a)(1)(B) would be similarly amended.

The Cuellar decision removed prosecutors' most effective statutory weapon against persons who knowingly and willingly play an intermediary role in a multi-step money laundering operation while typically remaining ignorant of the overall money laundering design. This is true not only of couriers hired to transport currency across the nation's borders, such as the defendant in Cuellar, but also of persons who accept cash from relative strangers and agree to engage in transactions or transportation as directed.

Additionally, this provision would clarify a discrepancy between section 1956(c)(1) and section 1956(a)(1)(B)(i). Section 1956(c)(1) provides that a person must know that the property involved in a money laundering transaction is the proceeds of some form of unlawful activity, but the person need not know which form. Section 1956(a)(1)(B)(i), however, requires the government to prove that the defendant knew that the purpose of the transaction was to conceal or disguise the proceeds of "specified unlawful activity." This provision would address this difference by replacing the term "specified unlawful activity" with "some form of unlawful activity" in section 1956(a)(1)(B)(i). It would make an identical change in section 1956(a)(2)(B)(i).

The inconsistency between section 1956(c)(1) and section 1956(a)(1)(B)(i) has led to a split in the courts over whether section 1956(c)(1) controls or not. The bill's proposed change would thus provide prosecutors with greater consistency in how this law is interpreted, allowing the government to prosecute money launderers who know that their transactions conceal proceeds of crime, without a further requirement that they know which specific crime.

SEC. 4. FREEZING BANK ACCOUNTS OF PERSONS ARRESTED FOR OFFENSES INVOLVING MOVEMENT OF FUNDS ACROSS INTERNATIONAL BORDERS

This provision would enable the government to apply for an ex parte order under 18 U.S.C. § 981(b) to freeze any accounts held by a person arrested or charged under Title 18 or Title 31, United States Code, or the Controlled Substances Act, involving the movement of funds into or out of the United States for no more than 30 days. (This 30-day period could be extended for good cause as shown at a hearing.) The provision would also stipulate that accounts held by a person arrested or charged for these offenses include accounts that the person effectively controls "as a signatory or otherwise."

SEC. 5. FORFEITURE AUTHORITY FOR AGGRAVATED IDENTITY THEFT

The civil and criminal forfeiture statutes include forfeiture authority for violations of many federal statutes, including 18 U.S.C. § 1028, Fraud and related activity in connection with identification documents, authentication features, and information – an identity theft statute that criminalizes, for example, producing false identification documents and knowingly transferring, possessing, or using a means of identification to commit or aid or abet other unlawful activity. A later-enacted statute added the criminal offense of 18 U.S.C. § 1028A, Aggravated identity theft. This statute applies to knowingly transferring, possessing, or using a means of identification during or in relation to enumerated felonies such as benefit fraud; mail, bank, and wire fraud; and nationality and citizenship-related violations. Enhanced penalties apply if the offense is in relation to terrorism. The criminal and civil forfeiture statutes do not include forfeiture authority for violations of this aggravated identity theft statute, 18 U.S.C. § 1028A. To rectify this, 18 U.S.C. § 1028A should be included in the forfeiture statutes' enumeration of offenses for which forfeiture is authorized.

The Attorney General has authority to use forfeited funds to compensate victims of crime. Authorizing forfeiture in aggravated identity theft would allow the Department to recover assets that could be used to compensate victims.

This change would require minimal amendments of 18 U.S.C. §§ 981 and 982.

SEC. 6. FORFEITURE FOR CYBER CRIMES.

This proposal will enhance the Department's capacity to dismantle, disrupt, and deter cyber threats by targeting the instruments of, and profits from, cybercrime. Civil forfeiture authorities can be used to seize valuable assets such as computer servers and domain names used to operate botnets, as well as profits derived from illegal activity. These actions can be particularly effective in cases where it is not yet possible to arrest the offenders if, for example, they are located overseas. This proposal will expand forfeiture authority that can be used for offenses in the Computer Fraud and Abuse Act, by replacing outdated, limited forfeiture authorities with language more consistent with forfeiture authorities for other crimes.
