Appendix A A.1

Alphabetical listing of all primary registrants whose registrations were in active status at any time during the calendar year 1995 as well as the countries in which their foreign principals are located and the foreign principals they represent.

Appendix B B.1

Alphabetical listing of all individuals whose short forms were in active status at any time during the calendar year 1995, as well as the names of the primary registrants with whom the forms were filed.

The principal purpose of Congress in enacting the Foreign Agents Registration Act was to ensure that the Government and the people of the United States would be informed of the identity of persons engaging in political activities for or on behalf of foreign governments, foreign political parties and other foreign principals.

The 1966 amendments to the Foreign Agents Registration Act were designed to strengthen the basic purpose of the original Act -- i.e., to protect the interests of the United States by requiring complete public disclosure by persons acting for or in the interests of foreign principals where such activities are political in nature. The public disclosure required by the Act permits the Government and the people of the United States to be informed as to the identities and activities of such persons and to be better able to appraise them and the purposes for which they act. These amendments arose in connection with hearings held by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in its examination of the interrelationships of nondiplomatic agents with the executive and legislative branches of Government, as well as with our mass media.

Registration under the Act does not imply recognition by the United States Government of the legitimacy of any particular foreign government or political party. Furthermore, registration does not indicate approval by the United States Government of the propaganda material disseminated or of the activities of the registered agent.

Legislative Changes

Congress enacted Public L. 102-395 on October 6, 1992, which authorized the Attorney General to establish fees to recover the cost of administering the Foreign Agents Registration Act. $726,162.00 in filing fees was received during the calendar year 1995.

Congress enacted the Lobbying Disclosure Act of 1995 on December 19, 1995. That law, effective January 1, 1996, focuses the Foreign Agents Registration Act more on those who act as agents of foreign governments or foreign political parties, and requires more frequent reports by this office to the Congress on administration and enforcement of the Act. To strengthen this change in focus, the Department intends to transmit to the Congress a bill to further amend the Act to provide the Attorney General with civil investigative demand (CID) authority and other enhancements needed to insure compliance with the Act. CID's in aid of investigations under the Act were first requested in 1991 as part of a bill designed to implement the recommendations of the U.S. General Accounting Office on strengthening the administration and enforcement of the Act.

Respectfully submitted,

Janet Reno
