Subject: fees unethical

---

I have friends that pay ridiculous fees because of there type of establishment. I asked during a conversation with a BMI rep once what song writers they protect. They could not answer me. I named specific artists, again they could not answer me. How can they charge these fees they claim to give to the writers but not know who they 'work' for? Just blindly pay all 3 organizations for music played that they may not even cover--really??!!
