temporary programs and provided for the expansion of others to address the COVID-19 outbreak.

The Paycheck Protection Program

11. One of the new programs was the SBA Paycheck Protection Program (“PPP”), which was a loan designed to provide a direct incentive for small businesses to keep their workers on the payroll. Under this program, the SBA could forgive all or part of a loan, if employees were kept on the payroll for eight weeks and borrowers submitted documentation confirming that the loan proceeds were used for certain qualifying business expenses (i.e., payroll, rent, mortgage interest, or utilities).

12. The PPP application process required interested applicants to electronically submit a SBA Form 2483 - Borrower Application Form (“SBA Form 2483”). The application contained information as to the purpose of the loan, average monthly payroll, number of employees, and background of the business and its owner. Applicants were also required to make certain good faith certifications, including that economic uncertainties had necessitated their loan requests for continued business operations, and that they intended to use loan proceeds only for the authorized purposes.

13. Further, when submitting the SBA Form 2483, the authorized representative certified his understanding that, should the PPP funds be knowingly used for unauthorized purposes, the United States could hold him legally liable, including for charges of fraud. The applicant was also required to certify the truth and accuracy of any information provided on the SBA Form 2483 and in all supporting documents, to include any documents intended to verify the applicant's payroll expenses. The applicant was required to certify an understanding that knowingly making a false statement to obtain a guaranteed loan from the SBA is punishable under the law and subject to criminal penalties.
